Newton Man To Lead Big Parade

Civil War Veteran Chosen For Tercentenary Affairs

Joseph Rossiter of 5 Copley street, Newton, was elected to officiate as Chief Marshal of the big tercentenary parade at East Boston on September 13. Mr. Rossiter, 87 years of age, is the last survivor of Joe Hooker Post, G. A. R. of East Boston. Mr. Rossiter, who is an old East Boston boy, and who left that district in 1861 to fight with the Union Army in the Civil War, is extremely popular in that section. In recent years he has made his home in this city with his daughter, Mrs. Thompson Stone.

A bitter controversy has been waged in East Boston over the selection of a chief marshal for the parade. The man chosen by the parade committee, Daniel J. O'Connell, is not a veteran of any war. So, members of the Spanish War Veterans, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars asserted that they would not participate in the parade. The dispute was amicably settled with the appointment of Mr. Rossiter.

High School Football Begins

Over Ninety Report For First Practice Session

The football prospects at the Newton high school are brighter this fall than for several seasons past. Wednesday morning nearly seventy hopefuls were equipped with suits and pads in preparation for the opening practice scheduled for yesterday morning. Another group were outfitted yesterday morning so that when Coach Sullivan began the practice session at ten o'clock there were more than ninety candidates on hand. It is expected that next week the opening of school will bring a large addition to the squad.

The Newton team has seven letter men of last year's eleven as a nucleus upon which to build the 1930 team. This includes five backfield players, Captain Harold Stromborg, Perry Elrod, Philip Layton, Bernard Litchfield and "Buck" Shorten. The veteran linemen on hand are Charles Butler and James Colligan tackles. Robert Blackler, who showed considerable promise last year as a sophomore until marked, will try to win a place in the orange and black backfield. There are a number of other substitutes on last year's squad who will undoubtedly make regular berths on this year's team. Of these the outstanding now on hand are Bob Jones, 180 lbs., Hodgkins, 180, Giles, 185, George Gullian, 170, Kraber, 171, Irwin, 175, Richards, 180, and Paul Andres and Bob Peterson. Promising backfield players are Warren Huston, Robert Bell, Walter Quinlan, and Norman Appleyard. There is expected to be considerable competition for the end positions, both of which were left vacant by graduation and ineligibility under the three-year rule. Among the candidates with some experience are Bartley, Greene, Perkins, Hildreth, Mitchell and Pescosolido.

With but three short weeks in which to select a team to oppose Malden High in the opening encounter Coach Sullivan and his assistant, "Jed" Jones, have considerable work to do in weeding out the material. Conditioning work will occupy their attention for several days with some practice in formations and handling punts and passes.

SECOND CHURCH TO BE HOST OF WEST NEWTON BAPTISTS

Because of a considerable increase in the improvement program of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, the opening day has been postponed until September 14th. In the meantime the pastor, the Rev. John Shade Franklin, has accepted the kindly invitation of the Rev. Boynton Merrill, D.D., minister of the Second Church, and will come with his congregation to that church this Sunday.

An outstanding element in the remodeling of West Newton Baptist Church has been the constant encouragement and assistance of the sister churches in this community. At the time union services were supposed to have been held in the Lincoln Park Church this August the Unitarian Society offered the use of its auditorium. A group of five persons prominent in the church and community life of West Newton are sending out an appeal to many of their fellow-members urging that financial assistance be added to these other evidences of good-will. This committee is known as the West Newton Community Friendship Committee and is composed of the following: Benjamin J. Bowen, Chairman, Mrs. J. Cheever at Perry Beach, Mrs. William F. Chase, Roland F. Gammons, and Charles E. Hatfield.

The lack of work in many families has caused great need among worthy deserving people. Help the hospital and help the self-respecting to help themselves.

Accuses City Of "Spite" Fence

John J. Sheehan Gets Restraining Order

John J. Sheehan of 25 White avenue, Newton Centre, through his attorney, Judge P. Sarsfield Cunliff, filed a bill in equity before the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge on August 28th in which he alleges that George E. Stuart, Street Commissioner of Newton has "exposed him and his land to ridicule and is now in the process of erecting a six foot fence to shut off his view of Bow road," as well as to interfere with his right to light and air. Sheehan's bill states that for over 60 years he has resided on White avenue and that on September 23, 1929, the Newton aldermen, with the approval of the Mayor took by right of eminent domain a certain highway called Bow road which passed through the rear of his property cutting off part of two buildings owned by him. The bill charges that city employees trespassed on his land in erecting the fence; that the fence was not erected in good faith, but is capricious and in the interests of certain private persons operating a real estate business. He alleges that these persons endeavored to purchase his property, which he refused to sell. He asks that the Street Commissioner be enjoined from doing further work on the fence until a hearing will have been held, and that the portion of the fence already erected be ordered removed.

In accordance with the petition of Sheehan, a restraining order was issued by the Superior Court stopping further work on the fence. A hearing on the matter is being held today at East Cambridge before Judge Qua of the Superior Court. As Judge Sheehan had to preside over the Waltham Court, Sheehan is being represented by Attorney John Daley. City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett is appearing for the City of Newton.

Mr. Sheehan was born 67 years ago in the house where he now resides. Last year a real estate firm developed property along Cypress street and laid out a new street adjoining Sheehan's property. This street was called Bow road. When the city took this street as a public highway it seized a strip of land at the rear of Sheehan's little home. This strip of land was 175 feet long and varied in width from 5 feet to a few inches. It contained 874 square feet of land and Sheehan was awarded $32 damages for the taking. The award was based on the assessed value at that time of all of the land on Sheehan's property. Sheehan was also assessed for the betterment to his property, because of the construction of the street, $1870. Recently this betterment assessment was cut in half.

When the small strip of land on Sheehan's property was taken it caused the cutting off of part of two buildings owned by Sheehan. One of these buildings was a hen coop. The other was a small structure of a type now obsolete in this city. Sheehan was ordered to tear down these buildings after they had been partially destroyed by the city. He refused to comply with this order until a settlement would have been made between the city and him on the financial matters involved in the taking of his land and buildings and the assessment levied upon him for the construction of Bow road.

As the erection of such a fence by the city is an unusual municipal activity, the result of the hearing before Judge Qua today will be awaited with interest. The fence is over 6 feet high and 50 feet long. It forms an effective, but not attractive screen between Sheehan's buildings and Bow road.

BUILDING OPERATIONS

Commissioner Chadwick reports that 78 permits were issued in August for buildings valued at $274,935, of which 19 were for single houses, valued at $235,000. This totals 722 permits valued at $3,491,998 for the year to date as compared with 999 permits valued at $5,221,481 for a similar period in 1929.

LODGES

There will be a public installation of the new officers of Dalhousie lodge of Masons at the Masonic temple, on September 17th.

At the meeting of Lady Mary Spear's D. O. S., 163 of Newton in Bay State Hall last Monday it was decided to have a whist party on Monday, Sept. 8 in Bay State Hall. Please come and bring friends.

The closing banquet which was held last night before the camp broke up, was a brilliant affair and the crowning event of the season. After the banquet meal was served tribute was paid to Mr. Timmins, the Chef, and Mr. Martel, the Baker, and each was presented with a purse of gold. Dr. Freeman, the Camp Physician, Mr. Farley, the Junior Head Counselor, and Mr. Johnson, the Senior Head Counselor, spoke from the Director's standpoint. The camp elections were read and following that was the award of the individual and team winners of the different leagues. In the Junior Camp, the highest score was the Red Sox with Mr. Anderson and Mr. Brooks as advisors. The winners of the Treasure Hunt in the Juniors were Alan Smith and John Holland, and for the Senior Cup to Richard Johnson.

The final awards for the season were made and in Tennis, Joseph Golden won the Senior Tennis Cup with Winslow Collier winners up. Thomas McCutcheon won the Junior Tennis Cup with Loring Nye as winners up. The Senior Boys' Cup was awarded to Henry Champion and the Junior Cup to Richard Johnson. The Senior Camp Cup which is the highest award Camp Day can give was awarded to Winslow Collier and the Junior Cup to Robert Stevenson.

On the last Sunday evening, the boys held their Candle Light Service and in the light of the candles the final meeting in the outdoor chapel was held. After a resume each boy came forward and lit his candle from a central light and they wandered off into the woods with their candles. They had only candle light to go to bed with at night.

The season closed without a serious mishap of any kind and in only one case was the hospital used and that was with a slight fever of one night.

Over one hundred and sixty boys attended camp and with the clearing away of the new land and property, the boys had a better opportunity for real camping in the woods than in former years.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

BIG DAY TOMORROW FOR "BILL" CRONIN

Newton will honor "Bill" Cronin, West Newton youth with the Boston Braves, at Braves Field tomorrow when several thousand local fans will attend the "Cronin" Day there. Plans have been under way for several weeks to make this a memorable day for the local athlete, the third to make the major league grade. Special busses will transport many of the fans to the park where an entire section has been reserved for them along the third base line. The Braves management has announced that Cronin will take the field with his mates in the doubleheader with the New York Giants who are in Boston for their final series of the year. The games mark the wind-up of a six-game series in four days with the Braves having a two to one edge at present.

In the intermission between the two games Cronin will be presented with a purse and several other gifts in honor of his approaching marriage to a Newton girl this coming fall.

Cronin has been hitting at better than a 500 clip the past week and has boosted his batting average considerably. Last Sunday in the second game of a doubleheader with the Giants at the Polo Grounds he made three singles in five times up. He scored once himself and batted in one of the Braves' runs. The Braves won out 14 to 10 in this game with a three-run rally in the seventh and another in the eighth clinching the game. In the seventh with the bases loaded singles by Welsh and Cronin did the trick.

In the second game of Monday's doubleheader with Brooklyn at Ebbetts Field in which the Braves were on the short end of a 4 to 2 score Cronin's double in the second inning, followed by another two-base blow by Maguire, who by the way is a resident of Newton Centre, produced one of the Boston club's two runs. This was Cronin's only hit in three times up.

In the second game of the doubleheader at Braves Field on Wednesday which the Braves won, 11 to 7, through an eight-run eighth inning rally Cronin not only did some nice stickwork but caught his usual fine game. The local youth made a double and a single in three times up and also a sacrifice hit. Although neither of his sacrifices counted in the scoring his sacrifice played a part in the eighth inning spurge. With runners on first and second Cronin laid a bunt down the first base foul-line to move them up and Maguire singled to bring in the tying and winning runs. The Braves went into the last of the eighth on the short end of a six to three count.

Everything is all ready for a big day at Braves field tomorrow and the way Cronin has been hitting the past few days it looks as though the local fans will have an opportunity of watching Bill "hit 'em where they ain't."

SPORT NOTES

B. U. Begins

Boston University football practice opened yesterday afternoon at Nickerson Field, Riverside. Although no local youths were in the reporting squad it is expected that a number will be out within a few days and that Newton will be well represented on the Terriers varsity squad this fall. Carleton McCullough, former Newton high football and baseball star, is slated to hold down the left end berth, being a letter man and two-year veteran. Arthur Chamberlain, freshman centre a year ago, has an excellent chance to win the pivot position left vacant by the graduation of last year's regular, Daniel Harrington, guard and tackle on the Newton high team a few years ago who was made into a fullback on the B. U. freshman team a year ago will make a bid for a varsity backfield berth.

Souther Bowdoin Leader

George H. Souther of Waban is captain of the Bowdoin eleven this fall. He is an end with two years varsity experience. Creighton Gatchell, former Newton High and Bowdoin freshman star centre who was forced out of the game last season with a broken collar-bone, is in shape to play and should land the varsity pivot berth. Harris M. Plaisted of West Newton is another local youth on the Bowdoin squad which began practice this week.

Newton Well Represented

Newton will also be well represented at Dartmouth again this year. In addition to Captain Harold Andres, there are four other local youths with prospects of making the varsity squad. This quartet includes Len Clark, varsity interfering back last year who broke a rib in the Harvard game, and Henry Johnson, sub-fullback last year, who came along fast towards the end of the season. Both Clark and Johnson are letter men. Fisher and Kent, who were among the substitutes on the Big Green squad last year will attempt to win regular positions.

Yale Gets Gilligan

Joe Gilligan, youngest of the trio of Newton brothers who have made football history for Newton high, is headed for Yale this month. Tom and Francis his older brothers are Harvard varsity squad members.

Duane at Holy Cross

Francis Duane, Newton high back two years ago, has enrolled at Holy Cross where he should be a welcome addition to the freshman football squad.

Jones Triple Wins

"Jeff" Jones' triple with the bases loaded in the eighth inning of a Cape Cod league game last Saturday was the deciding factor in the 7 to 5 victory of Harwich over Hyannis. Two were out and Harwich was two runs behind when Jones delivered the hit to score the tying and winning tallies. Spencer deMille, Harwich first baseman, former local athlete, led the Harwich attack with three hits. Monday Harwich won its final game of the season beating Orleans, 5 to 4 and ending in sixth place.

HUB TWI-LEAGUE PLAY-OFF BEGINS

Last night the opening game in the playoff series for the championship of the Hub Twilight League was staged at Allston with the Hopedale Club nursing out Newton Upper Falls, 3 to 2. Upper Falls captured the first half season race and the Allston team the second half title. In winning the first game Mike Hollis of Hopedale hit a home run in the fifth inning for the deciding counter. Allston had taken the lead in the second inning with two runs and Hollis' circuit clout set the count at three. In the sixth inning Upper Falls made a valiant bid to knot the score, scoring its only two tallies in this frame. A sensational catch in the final inning by Ryder, Allston centrefielder, saved Whalen, the Allston pitcher, a lot of trouble and stopped a threatened rally on the locals' part. Graham was on the mound for Newton and allowed Hopedale but four hits, one a home run and another a triple. Upper Falls out-hit the winners, getting six safeties but Whalen kept them scattered so little damage resulted.

The teams will meet in the second game of the series tonight on the Upper Falls playground. The third game is scheduled for Smith Field, Allston, on Sunday afternoon and the fourth game on Tuesday at Upper Falls again. Both Saturday and Monday will be off days. The fifth title will be at Allston on Thursday, the sixth at Newton on Friday and the seventh, if necessary, also at Newton. Upper Falls will be allowed to use one of four pitchers in not more than two games. The four hurlers the local club can pick from are Wadsworth of South Boston, Corrigan of Hyde Park, and Dave Walsh or McDonough of Revere. The Hopedale Club will have Bill Rose available for box duty throughout the series.

Upper Falls wound up the second half in third place, right on the heels of Revere in second and but a half game behind the second-half winners. Last Friday night Upper Falls went into the lead by turning back Somerville, 10 to 7, while Revere knocked Allston off the peak by winning 6 to 3. In beating Somerville the local nine scored in every inning but the third in the seven-inning game. Brinn connected for the circuit and Keliher for a triple to feature the contest. Bridget was on the mound for Upper Falls and although hit freely managed to pull out the victory with the help of his mates' stickwork. Somerville counted six of its runs in the opening frame.

Saturday afternoon Newton's chances of taking the second half title were greatly diminished when Revere won both ends of the doubleheader played at the Revere Park. The scores of the games were Revere 5, Newton 3, and Revere 7, Newton 4. Allston climbed back into first place again by defeating Somerville, 5 to 2, and putting the latter out of the title hunt altogether. Although Upper Falls out-hit Revere, 9 to 7, in the first game the winners bunched their hits off Crowley to score four runs in the first inning, largely through a triple by Simpson with the bases loaded. In the second game Russell was touched up for fifteen hits with Simpson getting a home run, triple and a single in three times up.

Sunday's games were the deciding contests in the second half race. Newton turned back the Hopedale Club on the local playground, 7 to 4 and Hyde Park ruined Revere's hopes of getting into the playoff by nosing the latter out 3 to 2. In this game a running catch by George Doyle of Rizzo's line drive in the seventh inning robbed the batter of a home run and saved the game for Hyde Park. In beating Allston the Upper Falls team scored three times in the fourth, three times in the sixth and once in the eighth while Higgins was holding off the visitors. Kerrivan's two base hit with two on base in the sixth clinched the verdict.

The second half standing:

Robert Butman, 17, of 11 Hale street, Newton Upper Falls and Guido Andrew of 1124 Chestnut street, Upper Falls were in the Newton court yesterday charged with stealing a tire from a car owned by Konstanty Siwik of Circuit avenue, Newton Highlands. Butman received a suspended sentence to the Shirley Reform School. Andrew was given a six months suspended sentence to the House of Correction.

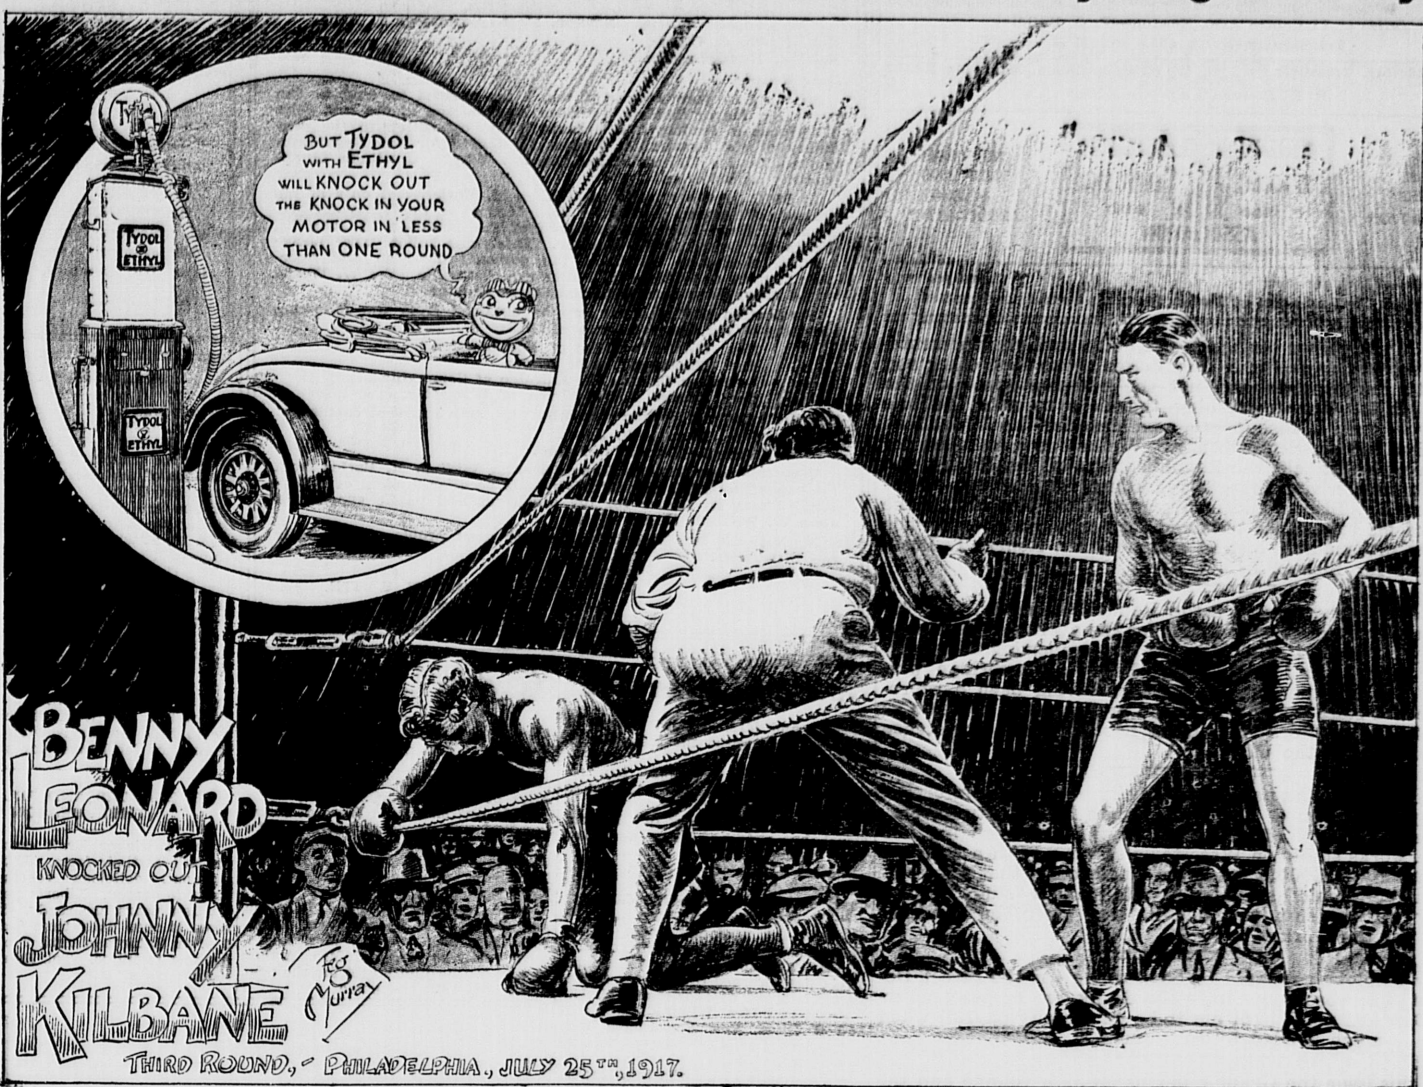

In the Newton court on Wednesday a platoon of witnesses lined up to take oath when called upon by the prosecution to testify against Joseph Cannon of Cannon place, Newton Highlands. Lieut. McLeod of the Metropolitan Police was determined to prove Cannon's guilt on a number of charges and had 12 witnesses ready to testify. Included in this number were Metropolitan police, Newton police, Needham's Chief of Police, Inspector Leary of the Registry of Motor Vehicles office and a doctor from the Newton Hospital.

According to the testimony on Sunday morning, August 17, a large car operated by Cannon came around a curve on Quineboquin road, Lower Falls on the wrong side of the street, went off the roadway, travelled 77 feet on the loam and hit a tree, then travelled 50 feet and hit another tree, continued over 40 feet more and then toppled over completely wrecked. It just missed crashing into a car coming from the opposite direction. With Cannon in the car were three companions, all of whom were injured, one of them still being in the Newton Hospital in a serious condition. Cannon endeavored to assert during his trial that one of his companions, rather than himself was driving the car at the time of the accident. Patrolman Smith testified to finding a pint of liquor in the car after the accident. Dr. Higgins of the Newton Hospital testified that Cannon showed evidences of alcoholism at the hospital for a couple of days after the accident.

Cannon was convicted of drunken driving in 1924 and his license revoked. He was again convicted on a like charge in 1925. Judge Bacon fined him $100 for driving so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public, sentenced him to three months in the House of Correction for driving while under the influence of liquor, one month in the House of Correction for driving after his license had been revoked. On the charge of drunkenness Cannon was sentenced to the State Farm at Bridgewater and a suspended sentence on a former charge was imposed upon him.

While Cannon's trial was in progress, Frank Generazio of Newton Upper Falls was brought into the court room. He had been arrested by Officer Hammill charged with using profanity. Hammill testified that Generazio butted in after the policeman had stopped a truck driver for speeding and that during an argument over the rate of speed the Upper Falls man had called him a G—d—liar. Generazio testified that Hammill had first called him a liar. Judge Bacon gave the defendant a suspended fine of $5.

Joseph Felloni of 38 California street, Watertown, was caught by Motorcycle Officer O'Donnell on Wednesday after a chase which started near Victory Field in Nonantum and continued along Pleasant street to Waltham and thence along River street in that city. According to O'Donnell the speedometer on his motorcycle registered 92 miles in his efforts to catch Felloni. The latter will appear in the Newton court on September 12.

In the Newton court yesterday Peter McDonald of Cushing street, Waltham, was fined $15 for driving without number plates and $10 for driving without a license. In court yesterday 15 men were fined $5 each for not STOPPING before entering Washington street. Two women autoists were also fined $5 each for like offences. The two ladies, Dr. Deborah Fawcett of 430 Centre street, Newton, and Mary Denurjan of 67 Elgin street, Newton Centre, asserted that they had not been treated fairly by the police.

Patrolman George Mullen was elected president of the Newton Branch of the Massachusetts Police Relief Association at the meeting held yesterday at police headquarters. Charles Walker was elected vice-president and John H. Shaughnessy secretary-treasurer. Acting Chief Michael Hughes deserves commendation for having started a campaign against owners of automobiles who have made a habit of leaving their cars parked without lights at nights on public streets. Many persons in this city have, for years, used the highways as garages and have regularly parked their cars all night long on streets without parking lights. Such cars, on dark streets are menaces to traffic.

The old saying that history repeats itself was exemplified last week Saturday when J. D. E. Hill and his son, Malcolm T. of Waban in a final round match, as a year ago, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1.

There is altogether too much prejudice and misrepresentation in present day politics. Candidates abuse each other and appeal to the passions and not the common sense of the people. It is rather refreshing therefore to note the line taken by Warren L. Bishop as a candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney. While one candidate for this nomination attacks the Republicanism of Mr. Bishop and another makes trivial charges regarding the conduct of the campaign, Mr. Bishop makes his appeal for support on the ground of his experience obtained thru nine years of service under the present able district attorney, Mr. Robert T. Bushnell. Vote for Bishop.

With eight candidates for the Republican nomination for state treasurer it is rather difficult for the average uninformed voter to pick the best candidate. We are supporting the candidacy of former senator James W. Bean of Cambridge who has had a long experience in politics, having been a representative and state senator, followed by a number of years as Deputy State Auditor. Mr. Bean has both the experience and ability to fill the office.

We feel that the tax payers of this city ought to be informed of the appropriation of $1000 just made by the city government for a "study" of the possibilities of rearranging the old waterworks stable on Watertown street. With a building valued at only $20,000 it is not too much to say that any competent builder would have been glad to make a "study" of the property without cost, provided he was given the resulting contract for the work.

A city employe supposed to be working for the Street Department was observed hopelessly drunk on Tuesday afternoon. Drunken men ought not to be on the city payroll when work is so much needed by sober men.

With this issue the Graphic begins its 59th volume and the present management commences its 31st year. Let's go.

WHY?

Newton, Mass., September 2, 1930.

Hon. Edwin O. Childs, Newton, Massachusetts.

Dear Ned:—

In reply to your request I say, I am amazed to read in the press that Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton, son of the late John W. Weeks is leading and organizing the opposition to the candidacy of the Honorable William M. Butler for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Why? Gratitude is apparently at a low ebb.

In 1913, at the request of William M. Butler, and only at his urgent solicitation, I became floor leader in the Massachusetts House of Representatives in behalf of the candidacy of John W. Weeks for United States Senator. Thirty-one ballots were necessary to elect him. Without the personal direction and energetic support of William M. Butler the Honorable John W. Weeks would never have been a United States Senator.

Verification of the above can be obtained from the following members of the General Court of 1913:

Hon. Calvin Coolidge of Northampton
Hon. Channing Cox of Boston
Ex-Mayor Charles W. Eldridge of Somerville
Hon. Robert M. Washburn of Worcester

and the following Newton men who were active in that campaign:

Hon. Seward W. Jones
Hon. William F. Garcelon.

Why this opposition to former Senator William M. Butler from the son of John W. Weeks? Why this peculiar method of repaying William M. Butler for his consistent and public support of John W. Weeks? Why?

My forecast is: Time takes care of most problems, especially the little ones.

Sincerely,

(Signed) THOMAS W. WHITE.

POLICE NEWS

The results of the examination taken for advancement to the position of Chief of Police of Newton show that Captain Michael Hughes obtained the highest rating. Lieut. Joseph Seaver was second, and Lieut. Richard Goode was third.

Cecilia Kneffner of 50 Hartford street, Newton Highlands, was robbed of her handbag while walking on Lincoln street in that village Friday night. She was accosted by two youths, one of whom grabbed the bag. Screams of the victim of the robbers attracted several men to the scene but the pair had fled and escaped.

George Talbot of 61 Falmouth street, Boston, was fined $10 in the Newton court last Friday for driving without a license and $5 for not STOPPING before entering a through way. The same day in the Newton court Ross Guilford of 68 Woodbine street, Auburndale, was fined $5 for speeding; Harold Atwood, 37 Chapin road, Newton Centre, $10 for speeding; David LaMachia, 383 Highland avenue, $10 for speeding. The latter appealed. Anthony Venuos of Brook Farm road, West Roxbury, charged with fishing without a license, had his case placed on file. Anthony claimed he was only showing his boy how to fish. Two boys residing on Cummings road, Newton Centre, charged with stealing an automobile, had their cases continued to September 5.

John Shea, 19, of Daley place, Needham, was arrested Saturday by Patrolman Marden for violations of automobile laws. Because bail of $100 was not forthcoming the youth remained interned at police headquarters in West Newton until court was held Tuesday morning. He was fined $5 for speeding, $10 for driving without proper lights and $50 for refusing to stop when signalled to do so by a police officer.

Everett Hall of Northboro was in court Tuesday charged with non-support of his minor child. His case was continued until September 11. In court the same day Corrado Saughelino of Quincy and Bernard Perry of Irving street, Cambridge, each was fined $5 for speeding.

An automobile reported stolen from near Norumbega Park by its owner, Arthur Willis of 482 Main street, Watertown, was found abandoned early Tuesday morning on Old Colony road, Chestnut Hill. When found, the car was in a badly damaged condition. It was reported missing at 4:15 Tuesday morning and found by Patrolman Turner one hour later.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Have you missed a number of familiar faces on the country roads? Try and remember how many pictures of candidates for nomination at the State Primaries, Sept. 16, you have observed on your travels. See if the number has not been relatively small and less, by far, than two years ago. Surely, you haven't forgotten how in the 1928 campaign there were posters on every tree, telegraph and telephone pole and a lot of other places. Of course it is looked upon as legitimate, but how effective outdoor advertising of this character may have proved is difficult to determine. I doubt if the candidates themselves could tell you. Should you ask them how much it cost I daresay they would answer, "Plenty," but if you insisted upon knowing how many votes they obtained in this way the answer would be something else.

This year the State Department of Public Works has had, for the first time since it was authorized to regulate outdoor advertising, a crew equipped with a truck and several strong right arms and fortified with authority to prevent the posting of outdoor signs that violated the law. This crew has been particularly active, more so in the suburban and rural sections, and has removed many hundreds of dollars worth of printed matter nailed to trees, posts and other places in direct violation of the statutes.

The cities have not received as much attention for the reason that local authorities are supposed to supervise such matters. But the State officials have made a splendid showing in their efforts to prevent another assault on the natural scenery of our State by ambitious and unthinking individuals. Haven't you seen in previous years on picturesque roads a number of magnificent trees defaced by the face of a would-be office-holder, together with his name and gratuitous advice to vote for him for such and such an office?

I am one of those who dares hope that the so-called billboard nuisance is passing. I know that the matter is still in litigation as far as certain large business signs and others pointing to eating places and the like are concerned. But a stop has been put to political posters and that means a lot. It shows that the State is being overlooked. All we may wish for is that the energy will not be restricted to prohibiting candidates from getting their names and pictures in outlandish places and that a beginning has been made in reducing all inappropriate outdoor advertising.

Apart from choice of party candidates, have you any idea of the vast amount of preparation there is necessary for these primaries. Papers for candidacies in both parties are obtained at the office of the Secretary of State. After the signatures of voters have been secured they must be certified by the local registers of voters in various cities and towns. Then they are brought back to the State House. It is a highly expensive and seemingly complicated system, but of that I do not intend to write. I would like, however, to remind you of one phase of it.

Take the State Ballot Law Commission which consists of three members who are paid a per diem salary which is far less than they earn in their regular profession for they are all attorneys of high standing. Their job, as far as the voters are concerned, is to take cognizance of protests. This means they must determine whether a candidate's papers are in proper form. The commission is not called upon to give a written decision, but merely to hold hearings and then announce, orally, if you please, that the name of Soandso shall or shall not appear on the ballot. Dissatisfaction with their decision may be presented to the Supreme Court but otherwise there is no appeal.

All this I am telling you to show how much has to be gone through with by those who may have made mistakes in filing papers or whose mistakes have been picked up by rival candidates and taken to the commission. I think it would be a revelation to many readers of this column to sit in a public hearing of the commission. One man recently came before the commission to complain that the papers he had mailed in a postoffice in Bristol county had been held more than 24 hours and reached the State House too late for filing. He produced a letter from the postmaster who said it was a mistake of his clerks. Yet the commission had no power to go into that feature. The papers were not received in time and that was all there was to it. The man's name will not be on the ballot.

A woman appeared to tell the commission that she did not think that a certain man was a fit candidate for office. The papers filed by the man were examined and found to be properly certified.

"We cannot entertain your protest," said the chairman.

"I understood I had a right to protest anybody's candidacy," she replied, somewhat surprised at the commission's attitude.

"Your protest is a political one," she was informed, "and is a matter to be placed before the voters. The papers are in proper form."

"Well," she answered, "I came here to protest against this man running for office."

"Your righteous indignation must be taken before the electorate as it has no place here," said the chairman as he called for the next case.

There were other cases that the commission felt beyond its jurisdiction and which were dismissed. Strange what ideas some people have about the ballot law.

Possibly it has been your pleasure to meet some of the visitors from England who have come to take part in the tercentenary celebrations of cities or towns in Massachusetts named after places in merrie England. Massachusetts has entertained a number of Lord Mayors and in every case they have proved splendid representatives of the mother country. In fact, it has been frequently remarked that these distinguished visitors, whom we address as "Your Worships," rather than "Your Honors," are people of good manners, abundant tact and attractive personality.

Citizens of Massachusetts communities which have extended hospitality to these Englishmen have told me stories about their guests that showed no mistake had been made in extending invitations. Apparently all from the other side have possessed what this country loves to find in a stranger and that is all the qualities of a "good mixer."

Some of them are commoners and others are peers. The Lord Mayors I have happened to meet have been commoners. I have met several peers, but they did not happen to be Lord Mayors. Their jobs were bigger. But commoners or peers, the visitors have displayed a natural dignity, a genial warmth of personality and a marked appreciation of what has been done for them.

It is an American characteristic to do everything under the sun for a guest and these gentlemen from the "right little, tight little island" have been rushed around from one occasion to another. They have held up marvelously and in every case their hosts have found much pleasure and satisfaction in extending hospitality.

Before I drop this subject I must let you in on one incident that occurred in a city near Newton. The Lord Mayor of the old town in England of the same name was one of those quiet and reserved men. He did not talk loud but took his tributes in a conservative way. He had something of a drawl, too, and made you think a bit of the stage Englishman when he is not a caricature.

Things were going on full blast. There was a twinkle in the Lord Mayor's eyes. He wasn't missing a feature and yet he was calm and placid amid the din. Some said, "Hope you're having a good time, Your Worship?"

"Perfectly ripping," was the drawled response made in a way that didn't fit the words at all. Yet he was having a "wow" of a time, but he probably didn't know any of our slang.

It doesn't make so much difference where you put the accent when you say "tercentenary" as it does what you may drag out of the attic to show you know what it means. Rum-maging for heirlooms or acquiring them through purchase, loan or whatever means appear most suitable, has stirred a lot of people into action this year. Few attics are as dusty as they used to be. They have been overhauled in the course of an intensive treasure hunt. The tercentenary is directly responsible.

Stuff has been brought to light which until 1930 nobody considered worth a rap. Trunks that have been stored away in remote corners have been dragged into stage centers and their contents closely examined for possible antiques and other rare articles distinctly suggestive of bygone days. I said that nobody thought them of value. I mean of late years of course, for in their day they probably excited admiration and envy quite as they were intended to do. It seems to me that these old things, long forgotten, are now coming into their own again. Just how much that means is another question. No doubt many will be disappointed should they have the goods appraised by an expert. Frequently something that seems of more than passing value is unearthed. Proudly the possessor displays it to a visitor.

"You should get a lot of money for that," advises the caller.

"I wouldn't sell it for the world, although I have been told it is priceless."

Maybe both are right, but if everybody who has recently found something old in the garret should start to market the collection there wouldn't be enough furniture vans to carry the loads.

I should like to see all those who hope to realize money for an ancient treasure meet with success. But appraisers tell me that much depends on whether there is a demand for certain articles. If somebody wants to get hold of that kind of antique, which may happen to be the fad, they will pay a good price. If, however, there is no call for it the chances for getting cash of any considerable amount are very slim. Market prices rise and fall as do human hopes for gain. The trouble is that the latter ascend much higher and the former are much more apt to drop and remain down.

Criticism of the proposed schedule of rates next year for compulsory automobile liability insurance was no surprise. Somehow or other it was HOOD'S modern transportation facilities have practically banished the element of distance between our farms and the cities. Milk from the finest dairies, nestling in the beautiful valleys of New England's best dairying sections, is as promptly available as that produced at or near our city lines. We encourage the production of good milk wherever dairymen are responsive to our exacting standards, by the payment of cash premiums for highest quality. We are the largest distributors of milk produced in the vicinity of the cities we serve, and in some instances the supply is exclusively local. But in these days of highly developed Hood transportation, all Hood's milk is nearby milk. The question you and we are concerned with, is highest quality. Wherever Hood quality milk is found, in our production area it is maintained for your service. All Hood's milk is nearby milk, for our farthest farms are only a few hours away.

Improvements Made in Auditorium, New Lighting, and Heating Systems Installed During Summer

The Lincoln Park Baptist Church will resume its regular services beginning next Sunday with services at 10.45 A. M. and 7.45 P. M. at both of which the pastor Rev. John S. Franklin will preach.

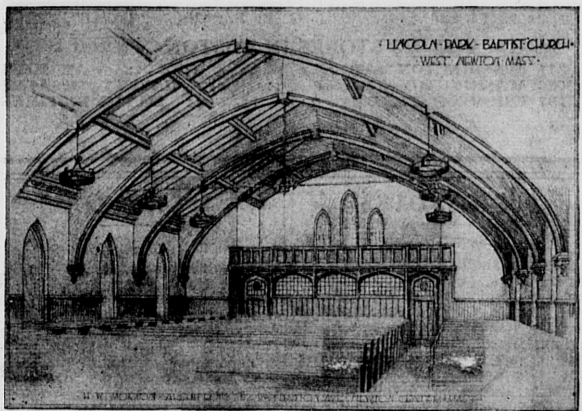

During the summer the church edifice has been transformed at a cost of $17,000. The improvements include, new pews, new steps, the floor of the auditorium has been covered with natural finish hardwood, the aisles over laid with oak, the walls redecorated, the ceiling covered with celotex, a new room finished in the gallery for the Church School, a new lighting system with modern fixtures installed, steam heat provided with a new boiler in a fire proof room and a new ventilating plant provided.

An unusual feature in the work has been the hearty co-operation of members of other churches in the form of a West Newton Community Friendship Committee which has been a large factor in raising the money to pay for these improvements. This committee consists of Benjamin B.

Many Attend Hearings On Various Matters At Aldermanic Meeting

Aldermen Also Draw Jurors, Make Appropriations and Conduct Other Routine Business

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held Monday night. All of the members were present with the exception of President Collins, Alderman Bowen and Alderman Mansfield. As Vice President Gallagher was not in attendance when the meeting started, Alderman Ball was chosen to preside over the meeting until Alderman Gallagher arrived.

The aldermanic chamber was well filled with a considerable number of persons interested in the hearings to be held on petitions for improving and accepting 18 streets. Residents on most of the streets effected were unanimous in favoring the project, but, on a few streets there is a decided division of sentiment.

The first matters on the docket were hearings listed on petitions of the Edison and Telephone companies for pole locations on Williston, Intervale, Albemarle and Crosshill roads. No opposition developed against these petitions. Neither did any persons appear to favor or oppose the petitions of the Edison and Telephone companies for a permit to install a 500 gallons gasoline tank at 114 Melbourne avenue, Newtonville; Suburban Home Laundry, permit to install a 500 gallon gasoline tank at 225 California street, Nonantum; Allison Burr, permit to install a 220 gallon gasoline tank at 208 Chestnut Hill road; Robert Hamilton permit to conduct a garage repair shop at 67 Lexington street, West Newton and to sell gasoline in connection therewith. There was no opposition to the petition of George E. Taylor for a 3-car garage at 693 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

William Achorn, part owner of land along Washington street, West Newton, which will be affected by the plan to establish a new building line between Greenough street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton, opposed the plan. He stated that the present line calls for a setback of 25 feet and the proposed line will have a 38 foot setback. Such a setback would allow but 68 feet to build on 4 of some of the lots he owns and he argued that this would ruin the value of the lots.

Joseph C. Foley of 1605 Washington street objected to the establishment of a new building line on the northwesterly side of Washington street between Auburn street and Greenough street. He could see no necessity for the increase in the setback requirements and asserted it will not benefit property owners, as contended by the city officials. He had heard that bankers holding mortgages on the properties affected favor the change. He commented that no capital should be made of this argument as the bankers are well protected and "will get theirs" through the mortgages they hold. He said he spoke for 75 per cent of the property owners affected. Frank A. Dunn of 1575 Washington street and Mrs. Peters of 1561 Washington street favor a 15 foot setback. They do not want buildings too near the street.

The Licenses reported that no action is necessary by it on the petition of Vito Guzzi for a permit to conduct a miniature golf course at the corner of Watertown street and Davis place, West Newton. The power of granting such permits is vested in the Mayor.

The names of the following men were drawn to serve as jurors at the coming sessions of the Superior Court in Cambridge next month—Criminal business, William H. Chadbourne, 93 Hillside road; Thomas Klockner, 1425 Beacon street; Charles Hunt, 35 Woodcliff road; A. Henry Anderson, 15 Webster place; John Murphy, 128 Boyd street; Herbert Farrier, 96 Hawthorn avenue; Donald Jones, 193 Hunnewell avenue; Warren Merrill, 6 Holland street. Civil business: Wilfred D. Potter, 22 Rockwood place; Sumner Newcomb, 131 Mount Vernon street; Richard C. Paine, 12 Newland street; William Coughlin, 19 Fayette street.

To improve the playground at the Frank A. Day School the aldermen appropriated $2016. To build a sewer drain in the so-called Edmonds Valley section $17,200 was appropriated. This work will be done by city employees. This project will provide a drain and sewage facilities for a district which includes a number of newly developed streets in the vicinity of don street and Waverley avenue including West Boulevard road, Ireland, Coolidge and Stuart roads. The drain and sewer will cross Centre street and extend through the Harriman estate toward Cabot street.

Considerable work is promised city employees by the appropriation of $49,343 made to construct the following streets under the Betterment Law:—Washington road, $4404; Woodrow avenue, $4942; Holden road, $5648; Rangleway road, $3987; Riverside street, $2978; Angier circle, $1528; Oliver road, $590; Tamworth road, $6507; Woodcliff road, $7423; Garland road, $4290; Greenlawn avenue, $550; Lee road, $7339.

Alderman Ball, chairman of the special committee on Water Supply, referring to an editorial in a Newton paper (The Graphic) criticising the appropriation on August 25 by the Aldermen of $1000 for a study of the Water Works Department barn on Edinboro street, Newtonville, went into more complete details concerning the purposes for which this amount of money will be used. He stated that in addition to studying the conditions at the barn so that alterations can be made there, other matters which present problems which concern the Water Department will be studied and probably only $500 will be expended before an architect is engaged to prepare plans for the remodeling of the Water Department building. Any fee paid to the architect in studying the building will be included in the fee charged by him for drawing plans for alterations there.

At the meeting of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F. in Elks' Hall, Newton on Tuesday night the names of the following members were placed in nomination to be voted for at the annual election which will be held on September 23rd: Chief Ranger, James M. McDonald; Vice Chief Ranger, May M. Mulligan and Katherine Hannon; Financial Secretary, Thomas F. Bryson; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Mary Leahy and Mazie Shea; Treasurer, Thomas F. Fitzgerald and Thomas F. Hickey; Senior Conductor, Marion Goode; Junior Conductor, Bernard Hannon; Inside Sentinel, Mary Kinchla; Outside Sentinel, Ruth Goode; Trustees, Mrs. Martha Carley, Mrs. Winifred Herlihy and Mrs. C. McDonald.

A meeting of the Jefferson Club of Newton will be held in Dennison Hall, Newtonville, Friday evening, Sept. 12. Edward A. McLaughlin of Chestnut Hill is being sent from the Democratic State Headquarters to talk on Registration. Election of officers will be held.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

HUB TWI PLAYOFF IS ALL EVEN

The playoff series in the Hub Twilight league between Upper Falls and the Hopedale Club of Allston is all even at two games each as the result of last night's game at Smith field, Allston, which the Hopedale nine won 11 to 5. For five innings the game was tied and tuck but in the last of the sixth the home team counted five times to clinch the victory. Hopedale hammered out seventeen hits, including two home runs, of Higgins, who also issued six passes. Upper Falls hit Whalen rather freely, making nine hits, but Whalen fanned six and passed but four. Each team scored a run in the first. Upper Falls scored twice in the second and Hopedale once the latter tying it up with another tally in the third. In the fifth home runs by Mannix and Maloney put the home team in the lead by three runs.
In the first of the sixth Upper Falls staged a rally and scored twice but was still a run behind—then came the big sixth for Allston.

Last Friday night Upper Falls won the second game to set the series
even at one all by defeating Allston
3 to 1, on the Upper Falls playground.
The absence of Lefty McLaughlin, Allston star pitcher, due to sickness, left the visitors in a bad way for moundsmen.

McGarry, general utility man, took the mound, but Upper Falls chased him away in three innings. Mannix came in from right field and held Newton off for the rest of the game.
Upper Falls scored twice in the second. Bennett got on and after two were out Simpson hit for two bases to score Bennett. Simpson scored a moment later. In the third Kelleher hit for three bases and chalked up the third run for the locals. Allston was held scoreless by Higgins. Upper Falls pitcher, until the seventh,
when McGarry, who had gotten a life on a fielder's choice, scored on Mc-Guinness' single.

Sunday afternoon at the Smith playground in Allston the two nines battled eleven innings to a 2 to 2 deadlock with the six o'clock Sunday law pulling Upper Falls out of a bad hole.
The game was full of thrills from start to finish with the climax in the twelfth frame. Newton opened the inning with two runs due to timely bitting and daring baserunning. Hope-dale came up and two singles put runners on first and second. With nobody out and the top of the batting order coming up it looked as though the tying runs at least might come over. Six o'clock arrived and the score had to revert to the last of the eleventh.

Tuesday night at Upper Falls the local team went into the lead in the series with an 8 to 3 victory. A three-run rally in the third inning, two in the sixth and three more in the seventh and last inning clinched the game as Upper Falls hammered out nine hits off Eddie Mannix, one a triple by Kelleher. Graham was on the mound for Upper Falls and was in little difficulty except in the sixth when Allston bunched hits to score two runs.

NEWTON C. C. TO HAVE GRID TEAM

The Newton City Club is planning to put another strong semi-pro football team on the field this coming season with its first game scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 21st, on the West Newton Common. George "Dotty" Wright, former Newton high and Dean Academy star quarterback, due to timely team and will be assisted by line coach Pat Brophy. Harry Wright is managing the team and arranging an attractive schedule.

Several former high and prep school stars will make up the Garden City eleven, among them J. Hurley, W. R.
Sullivan, J. Lovely, B. Lyman, H.
Jonah, J. Chisholm, P. Moica, J. Arsenault, W. Littlefield, M. Downey, H.
Ford, B. Burns, J. Collins, F. Shea, J.
McHugh, and T. Fournier.

The next practice session will be held on Sunday at 2:30 o'clock.

TO HAVE FIRST SCRIMMAGE TODAY

After a little more than a week of practice sessions Coach Sullivan of the Newton high school football team will hold a scrimmage this afternoon at the end of which he will make a second cut in the varsity squad. The first cut was made Tuesday afternoon when the first squad was reduced to fifty eight players and the remainder were turned over to Coaches Ralph Sanborn and Abner Bailey, intermediate and junior varsity coaches. This afternoon the Newton mentor will select about three elevens as the group which he will devote his time to in preparation for the opening game with Malden at Malden on the 27th of this month.

The material this fall is far above that of recent years, especially as regards weight. There are a number of ranga and husky lads who should develop into quite capable performers.
At present Coach Sullivan's biggest problems seem to be at centre and on the ends, positions left vacant by graduation. With Charles Butler and Jim Colligan, jumping into the tackle positions and Bill Gowell and George Gul-lan, second string guards a year ago,
as possible regulars this falls as a nucleus the development of a pivot and two wings will round the line out in great shape. Clement McCarthy, who relieved Captain Fred Schipper at centre some of the time last fall, is on the job and improving daily. Milton Green, captain-elect of the track team, and Robert Bartley are two of the foremost wing candidates.

Prospects of a fast and shifty, but none too heavy, backfield are excellent with several veteran backs on hand and a bunch of promising candidates.
In practice formations Captain Harold Strombom and Phil Layton have been alternating at quarterback. Perry Elrod, John Shorten, and Bernard Litchfield are three halfbacks who made their letters last year. All of them have put on weight during the summer and with last year's experience should develop nicely.

After another week of practice and with several scrimmages the Newton mentor will know considerably more of the ability of the new candidates and a more or less tentative lineup can be drawn.

Announcement was made this week that arrangements have been completed to play the game with Waltham on the latter's field on Nov. 15th instead of at the new Newton gridiron as contemplated. In future years this will assure Newton fans of having at least one big game with either Waltham or Brookline on the home field.

BACHRACH NINE TO PLAY POLICE

The Bachrach Baseball Team, made up of young men in the employ of Bachrach, Incorporated, will close their season on Saturday afternoon at Victory Field, Newton, when they will cross bats with the strong Newton Police Department nine.

Playing most of their games with teams representing other organizations, the Bachrach club won fifteen games while losing three and tying
one. All of the teams that were successful in defeating or tying the Bach-rach nine were later defeated by shut out scores. Among the teams defeated were the Newton Y. M. C. A., Waltham Watch Company, Boston and Albany R. R. North Reading Town Team and The Ward Baking Company.
Prominent among the players are Bill MacDonald, southpaw twirler and Allan McLean, catcher, both of the Watertown Twi League. The infield has Tom Rudzinski at second base, Cedric Gray, Captain, at shortstop, George Wyman, at third base, and Johnny Carson, at the initial sack.

The outfield is comprised of Harry Dickson, Ken Smith and George Crotty. Other players are Howie Scribner, Johnny MacBrayne, Dick Kirby and Charlie Horn.

J. Ward Kelly, Manager of the team, will send his star twirler, Bill Macdonald, to the mound Saturday in an effort to break the string of victories
the local Police nine have piled up.

ton Centre, wearing the colors of the B. A. A., won the ten mile handicap run at the track and field meet at Medford last Saturday afternoon.

Augustine Signore, Newton high

Cohasset to Paxton, Mass., last Saturday.

Cronin's Sacrifice Helps
In Sunday's double header at Braves field in which the Braves and Phillies split even the victory of the Boston team in the second game was partially due to Bill Cronin, local youth with the Braves. In the fifth Chatham drew a pass and Cronin sacrificed to put his teammate on second where he was in position to score the winning run a little later on James' single to centrefield. Incidentally Cronin boosted his batting average several points during the previous week. In the official averages he is credited with having played in 57 games, been at bat 53 times, scored 17 runs, made thirty-eight hits for an average of .248, has 176 putouts, 26 assists, only 2 errors for a fielding average of .990, has made 7 two-base hits, one triple, and has made 3 sacrifice hits.

Pescosolido in Harvard Carl Pescosolido, halfback on the Newton high football team two years ago and at Deerfield academy last fall, is enrolled as a freshman at Harvard. He should prove a handy man in the Harvard yearling backfield this season.

CHAMPION IS THRICE CHAMPION

William Champion, Jr., of Chestnut street, Waban, proved his right to his name last Saturday in the Newton Tercenary championship swimming meet at Crystal lake by winning three of the five men's events. He also captured one second place prize.
Champion is a life guard at Crystal lake and will enter Yale this fall where in another year he should make a place on the varsity swimming team. He took first in the 440-yard freestyle, the 100-yard freestyle, and the men's 50-yard breaststroke in addition to placing second in the dive.
In the girls' events Alice Simpson was the high scorer with firsts in both the obstacle race and fancy diving. She was followed by Marion Mellus who won the 50-yard freestyle and took third in the diving contest.

Gold, silver, and bronze medals, bearing the Tercenary seal, were awarded the place winners by Clarence V. Moore, chairman of athletics of the Newton Tercenary committee, under whose auspices the meet was held.

ROTARY CLUB

Hon. William M. Butler was the guest and speaker at the usual weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held on Monday at the Woodland Golf Club. Notwithstanding the fact that the speaker was an active candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator there was little if any politics in his address.

Mr. Butler confined himself to a thoughtful and convincing talk on business and unemployment conditions and how Massachusetts industries were jeopardized by conditions in other states. He advocated the stabilization of business and the equalization of labor conditions.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The Safety Drive does not seem to have been a great success in Massachusetts if the increased number of automobile fatalities the past couple of weeks is any criterion. Cars may have perfect equipment, but if they are operated recklessly or too speedily, they will kill people. As the writer stated in this column several weeks ago, when the Safety Drive was being advertised, it is his opinion that automobile fatalities will be appreciably lessened only when two things occur. Less speedy automobiles and less "fixing" to prevent proper punishment of those who operate automobiles recklessly.

Neither will the ruling of the Registrar of Motor Vehicles authorizing more powerful bulbs for automobile headlights lessen accidents in the future. The bulbs used heretofore were sufficiently powerful when properly focussed. And the increased glare which will be caused by more powerful bulbs in improperly focussed headlights will make night driving more hazardous and undoubtedly tend to increase the number of accidents.

A couple of weeks ago we took a long automobile trip through half a dozen states, including New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. In no state did we observe so much reckless driving as in Massachusetts.

The placing of advertising signs or placards on trees or poles along public streets is not permitted in this city, ordinarily. Mr. Bentley, in his column in the Graphic last week called attention to the activity of State employees in removing from posts and trees along State Highways placards advertising candidates for political offices. He supposed that police in cities would likewise enforce the law. Candidates for political office, whose duty it will be to enforce the law, are not very consistent, and lose prestige with many voters when they allow their followers to violate the law by attaching placards to trees and posts on public streets.

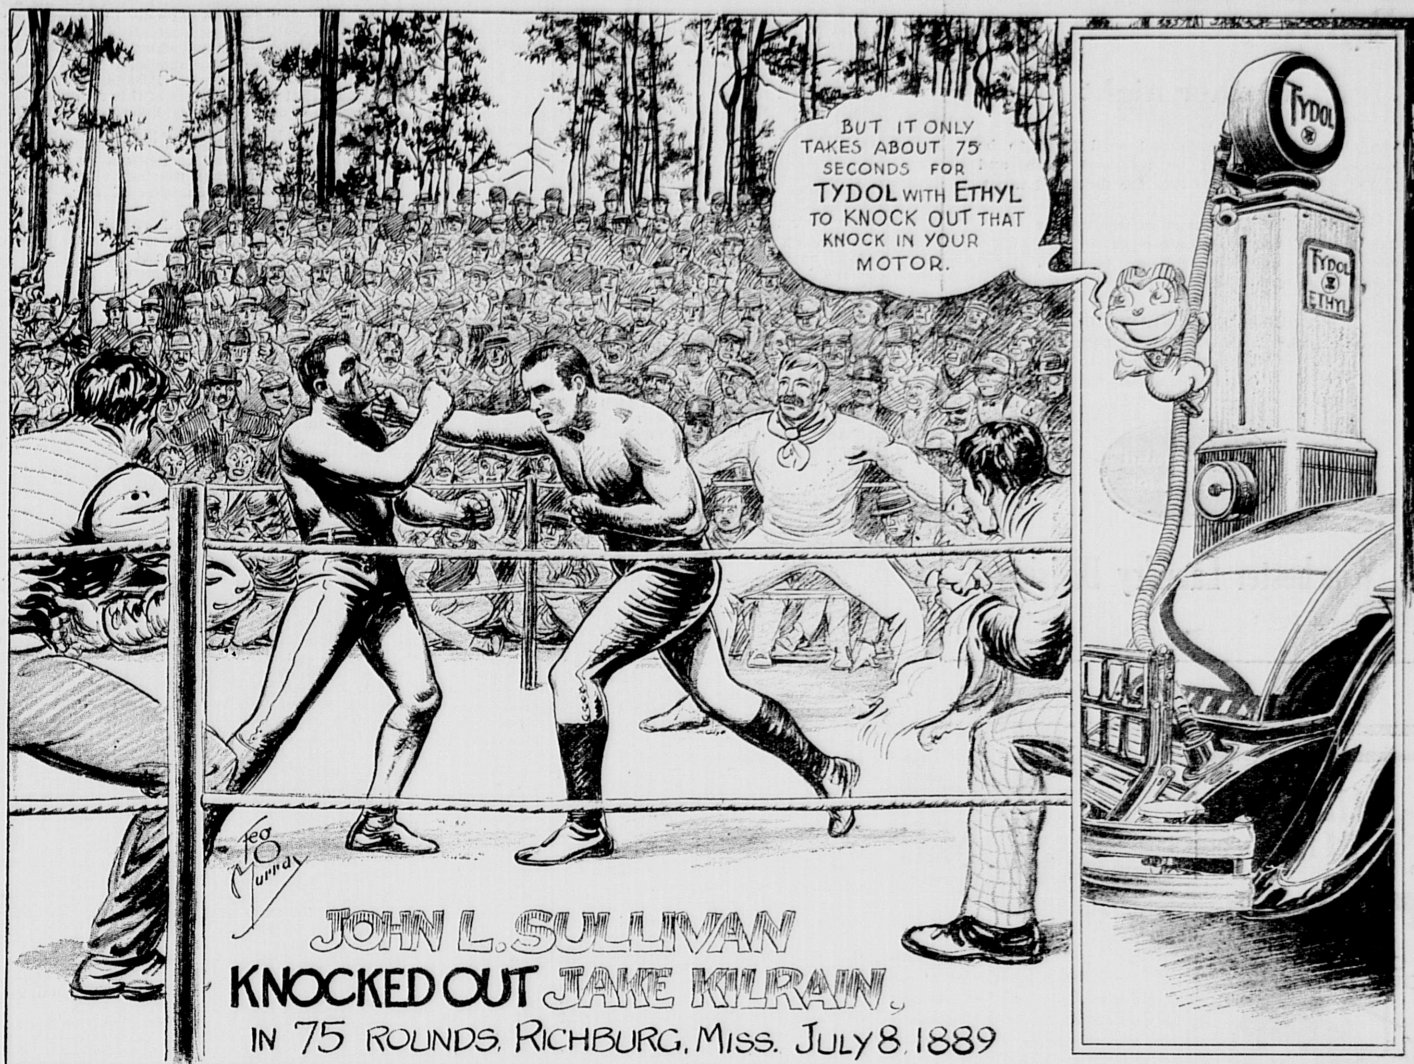

In recent years there has been a growing tendency in this city to allow signs advertising "Houses For Sale" to be attached to poles along public streets. These signs, for the most part have been narrow arrows giving directions from the heavier travelled highways. Permits for such signs have generally not been given to real estate owners or brokers who have been residents of this city for any length of time. Those who have asked for this privilege have been usually either non-residents of Newton or newcomers to the city. There is no more reason why the streets of Newton should be used to advertise real estate for a comparative few, than that every person who has a house to sell or rent in the Newtons should be permitted to clutter the streets with signs, or that other lines of business should have advertising signs tacked onto trees and poles. If Newton is to retain its attractiveness as a residential community the use of its streets for advertising purposes should be stopped rather than increased.

Another old resident of Newton has passed on in the death of Bancroft L. Goodwin. He always took a keen interest in the city's affairs and served as a member of the Board of Aldermen in 1917-1918. He was a man of high character, conservative and candid.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE—NEWTON

A tense, unforgettable story of thrilling action both on the ground and in the air with Richard Barthelmess in a characterization radically different from anything he has done before are the highlights of "The Dawn Patrol" which comes to the Paramount Theatre, Newton, Thursday for a three-day showing. Never has Barthelmess given such a vivid portrayal, never has he appeared in anything so dramatic. "The Dawn Patrol" relates the story of a group of youthful flyers in the Royal Flying Corps in 1915. The situation concerns these inexperienced youths being sent up to almost certain death against better-equipped and more experienced German aces. It is a new phase of war—a new story to tell.

Barthelmess is supported by a sterling cast which includes Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Neil Hamilton, William Janney, Gardner James, Clyde Cook, Frank McHugh, Edmund Breon, James Finlayson and others in smaller roles.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

It is a common tendency to make light of matters political. As one of those who have offended in this regard I shall not go into details for fear of being called upon to explain my own lapses. Nevertheless, I regard the duty each voter is called upon to perform next Tuesday a solemn matter. In the midst of discussion, published statements, radio addresses and exchange of hot shot, etc., we are apt to become perplexed if not a trifle impatient with some of the contenders and their followers.

Through the fog which is created from various causes the voter must make her or his way for the ballot box. It would be well if man or woman, as the case may be, could determine beforehand, and as much so as possible, the principles for which a candidate stands. Next Tuesday's primaries, at least so far as the Republicans are concerned, stand out, as I view it, as a battle between the "wets" and the "drys." I use the word "battle" because it fits and not because it is commonly used by political writers. If the believers in prohibition have ever been called upon to turn out in full force it is in the coming primaries. I believe they will and that the candidates for party nomination whom they support will be successful.

If, however, my prognostications are far from correct it will be because events have proved that the campaign against prohibition is one of the most aggressive that has ever been waged since the 18th amendment became operative. This is to be a test and as significant as the Republican party has ever seen. Possibly you may say that the vote at the State election on the proposed repeal of the State liquor law will be the more vital. I maintain that the Butler-Draper contest will be a skirmish the outcome of which will have a direct bearing on the State election. And for that reason I expect even the Republican voter to take a stand one way or the other. Certainly this is no year to stay away from the party primaries.

The greatest show on earth! No, customers, not Ringling and Barnum combined, but the expositions to be put on by the State of Massachusetts September 15 to 20 at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield and September 29 to October 11 at Commonwealth Armory, Boston.

At the last session of the State Legislature it was voted to have the State governmental activities demonstrated this year as a part of the centenary program and the two great expositions this month are the result of that legislative act.

The size of the exhibits may be realized when it is told that the entire Camp Vail building at the Eastern States Exposition grounds, as well as the Massachusetts Building, will be filled by the many exhibits. At Commonwealth Armory the large and small riding rings and Curtis Guild Hall will be scarcely large enough to contain the entire display.

The show will include the workings of the entire 100 or so branches of the State government. It will reveal the manner in which the activities of these branches affect every individual in the Commonwealth and, moreover, will disclose just how this effect is brought about.

A huge relief map of the State in colors will be one of the largest exhibits. The map is 25 feet long and is decorated with more than 300 lights which mark the locations of various State activities outside the State House. The lights are on 14 distinct circuits and by the turn of a switch all of the outside activities of an individual branch of the government can be indicated at once.

A model of a New England community, built to scale and mounted on a platform 18 to 20 feet, will be another feature. The buildings in this display were made by pupils and instructors at the Fitchburg Normal School and they are the best examples of miniature architecture ever seen locally.

In addition, the various State departments will have hundreds of interesting things to show. A total of more than 1500 charts, maps and posters have been prepared by a group of artists from the Massachusetts Art School, working under John Alcott, and will occupy prominent places in the expositions. Numerous photographs showing the work of the departments have been made for the occasion.

Many models have been constructed and with lectures and pictorial representations of the governmental activities will comprise a large part of the exhibits.

All in all, it will be a spectacle worth seeing. Acting on the theory that the average citizen has only a hazy idea of what the State government is really all about, the commission appointed by the Governor to carry on the work of staging these expositions, has outdone itself in arranging a show of shows which will linger long in the memory of anyone who sees it.

Having a rather good idea of what it is to be like, my advice to everyone is, "Don't miss this!"

How much one may learn by travel. It took only a ride of an hour and 20 minutes on a Cape Cod through train to reveal to me that women have not the same fear of tobacco smoke they formerly possessed. I am not going to tell of the sight of a young woman puffing at a cigarette. That is almost common here in Newton for on the very day I wrote this paragraph I saw a girl in a roadster taking her morning drive, and smoking at the same time. I wonder if they knew one of our principal thoroughfares, unaccompanied, and seemingly enjoying a cigarette.

What impressed me on my Cape journey was the presence of several women in the smoking car of the train. They had taken seats there because the other coaches were crowded.

At the time that times have changed, but possibly I'm a bit old-fashioned about such things. It was Sunday afternoon and a long train had picked up many passengers. We were within an hour's ride of Boston when it was plain that the ordinary coaches were not only well filled but a bit crowded. Two middle-aged women got on and took seats in the smoking car. I wonder if they knew they were among smokers or whether they were really aware and indifferent to the fact. Pretty soon the conductor came along. He must have been a trifle old-fashioned, too, for he said, as he took the women's tickets, "This is the smoking car." Of course he may have thought they ought to light up a pipe or cigar, but at any rate he was courteous and when they merely nodded he passed on and left them in peace. Neither produced tobacco in any form and I daresay they never used it. They wanted seats, that was all.

At the next stop, a mother with a brood of children got in and took two seats in the smoking car. The conductor seemed as much surprised as he before but pleasantly reminded the woman that she was in the smoking car. She merely answered, "I know," and stayed there until Boston was reached.

Now what puzzles me, and often the most trifling occurrence upsets my peculiar mind, was the mental attitude of all these women. Were they brave enough to stand the smoke from one kind of cigars, cigarettes and pipes in order to sit down or were they "educated" to the new ways of our world? More train experience may answer the question for me but I'm pretty busy at the present time.

The other evening I attended a performance of a play which made sophisticated folks roar with mirth. Others laughed too, but I suspect they blushed when they did so. It was all very modern and very amusing, but even old-timers remarked between the acts, "pretty raw in places." However, nobody left the theatre in disgust and as far as I know there were no protests made to the management.

Playwrights who write with an eye on the box office seem to think that questionable situations and lines with double meaning bring the quickest results if you want to make money. Possibly they are right but I wonder if the theatre isn't getting the worst of it in the long run and these kind of shows seem to enjoy long runs. The creation of suggestive dialogue and plot is one of the simplest and easiest ways of turning out a play. At least, I had always supposed that the real art of dramatic writing dealt with the problem of creating humor or pathos that was at least clean. Joking about topics which would one would never think of discussing at a family dinner table is rather tricky from a writing standpoint. After all, it's coarse and people who are refined are more alert because they are on the upgrade, while those who like unrefined comedy are travelling down hill as the Puritanical settlers would have expressed it.

Far be it from me to sermonize. I merely wonder where our theatre—our legitimate stage—is going to. Somewhere I read of an attempt to revive some of the women's fashions of the "gay nineties," as the period of long skirts and big hats is now called. Playwrights and actors in those days prospered, made millions of admirers and were respected, but they never descended to filth to get their ideas across the footlights. It might not be a bad idea to have a revival of the standard of amusement of 30 or 40 years ago. Certainly, no one would be the worse for it and possibly it would bring more people into the theatres, the proprietors of which are now complaining that the public doesn't spend its money any more. Why should we go to any expense to learn stuff which we may hear repeated in certain quarters if we choose to give ear to that kind of muck?

I wonder how many know what is to be learned from Nathaniel Hawthorne of things that are closely associated with or actually a part of the tercentenary of Massachusetts. Quite unexpectedly I stumbled upon something which to my mind every youngster and many grown-ups will appreciate. Possibly I am telling some readers of this column that which they already know. However, I'll take the risk for those who haven't read Hawthorne's "Grandfather's Chair" are going to learn a lot which is of more than passing value in connection with celebration of the 300th anniversary of our State.

Hawthorne, in his delightful style, imparts to the juvenile and the adult mind the story of Sir William Phipps, first Governor under the charter of the Province of Massachusetts, and who served from 1692 to 1694. And see how this "ties up," as newspapermen say, with the news of the day. Only last week the State Art Commission approved for permanent exhibition in the State House an oil portrait of Sir William, painted by Harry Sutton Jr., from an original of Thomas Child. Many people, I feel sure, will enjoy a view of this painting. Before they make a trip to the State House for that purpose I suggest they turn to "Grandfather's Chair."

A poor man's son, born in Maine, where he used to tend sheep upon the hills in his boyhood and youth, he led a life of stirring adventure, including a successful search for Spanish gold. Read it for yourself, I say, for everybody knows where he can put his hand on a volume of Hawthorne. No more engrossing story could be desired for young folks and certainly no one can read Hawthorne without gaining much that is sure to prove worth while as literary background.

But if you take up "Grandfather's Chair" you are not going to put it down finally until you have absorbed more than the entrancing story of Sir William Phipps. You are going to know more about other real heroes and of the early history of your State and also find your interest quickened in all matters connected with the tercentenary observance.

DALTON FAMILY HOLDS REUNION

A reunion of four generations of the Dalton family was held at the home of David T. Dalton, Harrington street, Newtonville on Wednesday evening, Sept. 3, 1930.

Fifty-five members of the family attended. Those present were: William P. Dalton and family of Newton, Thos. V. Dalton and family of Brighton, Richard Dalton and family of West Newton, Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald and family of Newton, also present were the families of the late John Dalton of Allston and the late Cornelius F. Dalton of Neponset.

Mrs. David T. Dalton proved a most charming hostess, having arranged a roll call, a hearty word of welcome and an evening of entertainment, consisting of musical numbers, dancing and cards.

Each member was tagged with his name and family designation as they entered and were presented with a printed copy of the history of the Dalton family accompanied by a reproduction of the family coat of arms and crest. A large copy with the Dalton coat of arms in colors adorned the wall of the living room.

A delicious buffet luncheon was served.

NORUMBEGA DISTRICT SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION

The officers and committees of the Norumbega District Council are preparing a full program of events for the coming season, in their endeavor to carry out the purpose of the organization, to be of service to the church schools co-operating in the District, and to further the cause of religious education.

The most important task before the churches is the training of leaders. Definite courses of study for the training of religious education leaders are recommended by the International Council of Religious Education, and carried on in training schools all over the country. Our District Council is affiliated therefore with other such councils in many parts of the country, and the training schools in our Districts are accredited by the International.

There will be four branches of our Norumbega District School of Religious Education this fall, on Monday evenings, beginning October 6th. These four branches are at Newton Centre, Newtonville, Belmont, and Watertown. Prof. James P. Berkeley of Newton Centre is Dean of the Schools and has secured a staff of instructors for such subjects as Church History, Story-Telling, New Testament, Principles of Teaching, etc.

While it is beyond our province to advise our Democratic friends regarding their nominations for office, we can say, however, that if the nomination for lieutenant governor is given to either John F. Malley of Chestnut Hill, or Strabo V. Claggett it will add dignity and prestige to the entire Democratic ticket.

POLICE NEWS

Daniel Greene of Flora street, Brookline was fined $15 in the Newton court on Tuesday for speeding. Charges of driving without a registration and license in his possession were continued until September 22.

Edward Smith, 17, of 9 Winthrop avenue, Newton, was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Patrolmen Smith and Phillips charged with breaking and entering, and larceny. Young Smith is charged with having broken into a chain store at Newton Centre where he was employed and with having stolen $17. He will be tried on September 19.

INJUNCTION AGAINST ALLEGED "SPITE" FENCE REFUSED

The petition of John J. Sheehan of 25 White avenue, Newton Centre, asking that an injunction be granted against George E. Stuart, Street Commissioner of Newton, to restrain him from continuing the construction of a fence along Sheehan's property on Bow street, Newton Centre, and asking that the city be compelled to remove the fence, was given a hearing before Judge Stanley Qua in the Superior Court at East Cambridge last Friday morning. City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett appeared for the City of Newton and Attorney John Daley represented Sheehan in the absence of Judge P. Sarsfield Cunniff, counsel for the petitioner.

Mr. Bartlett told the judge that Sheehan had already had five lawyers representing him at various times since the controversy between him and the city began over the seizure of his land, the partial demolition of buildings on it and the erection of the fence. He explained that in laying out Bow road, the city had taken off the rear of a privy attached to a barn on Sheehan's property; also the rear of a shed and hen-coop. Sheehan had been ordered to remove the balance of these buildings and had refused to do so. According to Mr. Bartlett the fence had been erected to hide the privy and to guard against the danger of the shed collapsing.

Mr. Daley told the judge that the fence, which was over 100 feet in length, and 6 feet high, had been built to hide Sheehan's buildings from houses which have been erected on the other side of Bow road by a real estate firm and that the fence had been erected in the interest of the owners of these houses. He said that a fence about 3 feet high would answer the purpose of protecting the public, that the existing fence was far longer than necessary for the alleged purposes of its construction and that it is absolutely a spite proposition.

Judge Qua expressed the opinion that a fence 4 feet high would be sufficient. He said that the condition of Sheehan's buildings tend to depreciate the value of the new houses erected opposite. He refused to grant the injunction ordering the removal of the fence and also allowed the balance of the fence to be built, which makes its total length about 125 feet. He said he would refer the matter to a master. Mr. Bartlett stated that he might enter a demurrer against such reference.

DRAPER IN NEWTON

Unique campaign methods, aimed to assure the nomination of Eben S. Draper for United States Senator on the Republican ticket in the Primary next Tuesday, September 16, are being carried out by the Newton supporters of Colonel Draper. Nearly 600 men and women have joined in a pledge of "seven days service" which began on Monday, Sept. 8th.

The pledge requires that every man and woman who joins the service shall devote two hours each day for seven days in the service of Colonel Draper, calling on neighbors in a house-to-house canvass in all parts of the city soliciting support for Colonel Draper "as a guarantee of the party's success at the election in November."

Colonel Draper made two appearances in Newton last Tuesday, which was designated by his workers in this city as "Draper Day." He was the guest of the Newton Kiwanis club at luncheon. He was also one of the principal speakers at a monster rally in the Newton High School auditorium on Tuesday evening.

Recent Deaths

BANCROFT L. GOODWIN

Bancroft L. Goodwin of 34 Park street, Newton, was found dead Friday night in his apartment. Death had been caused by heart failure. Mr.
Goodwin, who was unmarried, resided alone. He had complained of feeling unwell for a couple of days prior to his death. A friend who went to his apartment on Friday evening last found him lying dead on his bed. Medical Examiner West stated that Mr. Goodwin had probably passed away about an hour before his death was discovered.

He was born in Dorchester 65 years ago and came to Newton when a boy.
On his mother's side he was a descendant of Job Lane who came from England in 1640 and settled in Billerica. Job Lane built the first meeting house in Malden, many of the early buildings for Harvard College and the ancient Garrison House which still stands in Billerica. Mr. Goodwin was also a direct descendant of Gov. Thomas Dudley.

Bancroft L. Goodwin graduated from Newton High School in 1883 and from Harvard College in 1887. For many years he had been associated with the Boston Mailing Company, serving as assistant treasurer. He was one of the organizers of Newton Lodge of Elks and its first Exalted Ruler. For 16 years he had been Treasurer of the Boston Rotary Club.
He was a member of Fraternity and Normbega Lodges of Masons of Newton, Newton Royal Arch Chapter and the Eastern Star. Since boyhood he had derived recreation from canoe-ing and had served for many years as secretary-treasurer of the New England Division of the American Canoe Association. Just a couple of weeks before his death he had attended the annual meeting of this association at the Thousand Islands and had declined to serve longer in his official position. In 1917-1918 he had served as a member of the Board of Aldermen, representing Ward 7. He held membership in the Copley Society and the Lane Family Association.

On Monday night Newton Lodge of Elks conducted a memorial service for Mr. Goodwin at the funeral parlor of Burt Rich on Centre avenue, Newton. His funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Channing Church. Large delegations were present from the Boston Mailing Co., the Boston Rotary Club, Newton Lodge of Elks and the Masonic bodies were also represented. Rev. Chester Drummond conducted the services and the Weber Quartet sang. Burial was in Forest Hills Cemetery. Flags on City buildings were at half-mast on the day of the funeral.

A man who loved the companionship of his fellow men, gentlemanly at all times in his conduct and yet firm in his stand for what he believed to be right, Bancroft Goodwin had won the esteem of persons in all walks of life. He resided alone, he died alone, but the large attendance of friends at his funeral service and the profusion of beautiful floral tributes were visible proof that this man had not lived alone among his fellows. Cousins are his only surviving relatives. An impressive incident took place at the Wednesday luncheon of the Boston Rotary Club when Dr. Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University gave a brief eulogy of Mr.
Goodwin and the members stood a moment in silent prayer, after which Mr. Louis Schalk sang "Away."

Dr. Marsh said in part:
"One week ago today Bancroft Lane Goodwin sat in his accustomed place at this head table. After the luncheon, he attended a meeting of the Boys' Work Committee in the Rotary Club office. Two days later he was divinely promoted by sudden Death to "Those great offices that suit
The full-grown energies of heaven."

"Ban," as he was affectionately called by his many friends, joined Rotary in its early days, coming into the Newton Club in September, 1912, under the third President, Robert H. Clark.
For the past sixteen years he has been a member of the Board of Directors, and for the past fourteen years he has been the Treasurer of the Club.

"Ban's" interest in civic affairs was evidenced by the fact that he was once an alderman in the Newton City Government. His social and clubbable qualities were indicated by his prominent position in the Masons, the Elks,
and several clubs.

"He was especially devoted to Rotary. He saw it unfold and develop from a small, self-centered organization into a great world force for mutual goodwill, respect and understanding. His long service in the Board of Directors made him a sort of mentor to succeeding presidential administrations, and the fidelity with which he discharged his duties as Treasurer merit the gratitude and appreciation of us all. In the words of James Whitcomb Riley,

"I can not say, and I will not say That he is dead.—He is just away!"

TWO MORE TYPHOID DEATHS

Two more employees of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway died during the past week as a result of typhoid fever contracted at an outing held late in July at Saxonville. Two other employees of the M. & B. had died previously from this disease. The third victim, James J. Lacey of 70 Prospect street, West Newton died on Sunday, September 7. The fourth to succumb was Thomas Griffin, superintendent of the Lexington Division of the M. & B. who died on Tuesday.
The cause of the outbreak of this disease among those who attended the outing could not be ascertained by State health officials who made an investigation.

James J. Lacey was born in Boston 47 years ago and had resided in this city for many years. He was employed as a painter at the Waltham barn. His funeral service was held Wednesday morning at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. He is survived by his father, one brother and a sister.

Incendiary Fire Causes Lively Blaze In Henery

Chickens by the hundreds and apples by the peck were roasted and baked at West Newton early Monday morning, but no feast was enjoyed by an assembled gathering. At 5 o'clock Monday morning Patrolman Cummings discovered a fire on the premises of Joseph Beraldi at 141 Derby street. Cummings pulled in an alarm from Box 341. Beraldi, his wife and three daughters were awakened by smoke and the crackling of flames from a henery 150 long and a barn nearby their house. They were compelled to flee from their dwelling. When the firemen arrived they were unable, because of low pressure to save the burning buildings and centered their efforts to prevent the flames from spreading to the Beraldi dwelling. In addition to the two buildings, about 800 hens and chickens were destroyed. A number of apple trees were also burned and baked apples in abundance were visible. The fire is supposed to have been set. A wire fence at the rear of the hen house was pushed down and a neighbor reported having heard an automobile being driven to the rear of the place shortly before the fire was discovered.

Robert J. Tompkins, for the past few years a member of the reserve force of the Newton police Department will be given a public hearing next Thursday morning at City Hall. He was also charged with failure to pay bills owed by him for household necessities and with neglect of duty. He was accused of having been several hours late in reporting for duty on August 12 and with having failed to report for duty on August 5. Tompkins went into bankruptcy recently. WINS DARTMOUTH SCHOLARSHIP

Herman B. Chase, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Chase of New Hampton and a graduate of the New Hampton School for Boys, has recently been awarded a scholarship of $700 a year by Dartmouth College. Chase will enter Dartmouth this month and will receive the scholarship each year during his four year course. The scholarship is one of two regional scholarships awarded for the first time this year by Dartmouth to New Hampshire. Chase was graduated from New Hampton last June with first honors. Besides being a high ranking student throughout his course he has been active in the literary and athletic life of the school. He has been a member of the Literary Adelphi, the dramatic club, on the staff of the "Belfry," the school year book, and also wrote for the "Manitou," the school paper. He won first prize in one of the Ordway Speaking Contests, and delivered the senior oration at Commencement. For the past two years he has been a member of the Cross Country team winning his letter each year.

At present Chase plans to prepare himself to enter the teaching profession after his course at Dartmouth. He has not definitely settled on his major studies. Since he has just become seventeen years of age, he is likely to be one of the younger boys of the entering class.

GIFTS PRESENTED TO EX-CHIEF BURKE

To the chief's wife a large basket of flowers was presented.

Butler Wins In Newton---Carries Ten Precincts---Leads Draper by 422 Votes

Bishop Sweeps City in District Attorney Fight---Comparative Small Vote Despite Many Bitter Contests

William M. Butler carried the city of Newton by a majority of 422 over Eben Draper in the contest for the Republican nomination for the United States Senator at the primary election on Tuesday. Butler polled 3689 votes, Draper 3267 and Mayor "Bossy" Gillis 44. This contest overshadowed all others in Newton because of the great amount of work which had been done in the interest of the Draper candidacy. Butler carried Wards 2, 4, 5 and 7 while Draper carried Wards 1, 3 and 6.

Warren Bishop swamped his opponents in this city. It was expected that Bishop would obtain a big majority here, but Harvey's vote was much smaller than anticipated. While Representatives Baker and Thompson easily captured the Republican nominations in the 4th Middlesex District, the popularity of James P. Gallagher, a Democrat, who also sought the Republican nomination, was attested by the fact that he received 670 votes.

An interesting feature of the Democratic contests was the fact that two of the four candidates for Lieutenant Governor nominations are Newton men—Strabo Claggett of Auburndale, who received 331 votes in this city, and John R. Malley of Chestnut Hill, who polled 240 votes. The fight between Ely and Fitzgerald was fairly close here, the former getting 422 votes and the latter 338.

The following details of the Butler-Draper contest shows that the latter received appreciable majorities in precincts which are Democratic strongholds, and also in precincts predominantly Republican, notably Precinct 3.

All mothers of Massachusetts are invited to attend and enroll. Gold Star mothers whose sons or daughters made the supreme sacrifice—Silver Star mothers, those whose sons and daughters were wounded in service, and the Blue Star mothers whose sons and daughters came safely back to them make up this wonderful national organization who do their part throughout the country to bring needed help and cheer to the veterans and their families.

These groups at times being where there are no other patriotic organizations to carry on, and in all cases it is with a mother's sympathy and understanding that they serve.

Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis of Newton was appointed Massachusetts State organizer and hopes for many local chapters to be formed throughout the state, following completion of State chapter.

Mrs. Virgil McClure, of Lexington, Ky., National President of American War Mothers will be in Boston in October attending the A. L. Aux. convention.

Zoning Hearing On November 12

Old Problem Will Once Again Be Re-Hashed

Members of the Claims and Rules Committee of the Newton Aldermen and members of the Planning Board held a conference recently at City Hall, West Newton, on the matter of changing most of the general zones in this city to private dwelling zones. The intent is to prevent apartment houses being erected in this city except in such small areas as will remain defined as general zones. Two-family dwellings can be erected in private zones.

At a recent meeting of the Aldermen it was voted to amend the ordinances so that it would not be necessary to send individual notices to all property owners who might be affected. This process had been followed in two preceding years when the plan to re-zone the city had been discussed at hearings in City Hall. As the views of the proponents and opponents of the plan had been twice heard, it was considered unnecessary to again go to the expense of mailing out thousands of notices. The action of the Aldermen in voting to dispense with the notices was taken after former Alderman Hubert L. Carter and James C. Irwin of the Newtonville Improvement Association had objected. Subsequently petitions were circulated through Newtonville demanding that the individual notices be mailed. In deference to these petitions it has been decided to mail the notices. At the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night the sum of $600 was appropriated to defray the cost of sending out the notices.

PLAN SCRIMMAGE WITH WELLESLEY

Coach John L. Sullivan of the Newton High School football team has arranged a practice scrimmage with Wellesley High School at Wellesley next Tuesday afternoon in preparation for the opening game of the season next week Saturday with Malden at Malden. Last week Friday the Newton coach reduced the varsity squad to thirty-eight players and tonight will make a further cut, retaining thirty men. The eight players cut today will be turned over to Coach Sanborn of the intermediate varsity team where they will gain valuable experience for next year instead of being kept with the varsity where they would get but little opportunity to play. The make-up of the varsity squad after tonight will not necessarily be a final selection as any outstanding player on the intermediate varsity team will be given a chance to show his worth to the varsity.

The Newton mentor has several problems on his hands before making a selection of a starting line-up as the candidates for several positions are nearly equal in ability and are staging determined battles for the regular berth. This is especially true at guard, on the ends, and in the backfield. A tentative Team A line-up has Patterson at centre. This youth has made rapid progress since the initial practice sessions and although weighing in the neighborhood of 140 pounds, more than makes up for his lack of weight in aggressiveness and ability. Four guards, Vassilotti and DeMaio at right and Kosroff and Gullian at left are on a par with one another with Vassilotti and Kosroff having a slight edge because of their speed. As the Newton coach is employing the running-guard type of offense their fleetness is a decided asset. The chances are that the entire quartet will see plenty of service.

In the tackle positions are Jim Collicott and Gowell with MacLellan and Charlie Butler having the second call. With these four husky youths taking care of their sectors of the line Newton's opponents should not find the going easy by any means. On the ends are Bartley and George Hildreth. The latter is playing football for the first time and has been coming along in whirlwind fashion. Perkins and Sostillo are the ends on Team B and they are pressing the other pair closely. Perkins has showed up exceptionally well in practice while Sostillo, whose regular position is at guard, has been transferred to the end guard in order to strengthen the team there. He is well set up and has plenty of speed.

The two outstanding quarterbacks are Captain Harold Stromborn and Philip Layton, both letter-men from last year. Halfbacks include the veterans, Perry Elrod, and John Shorten,

OLD GRANDSTAND BEING TORN DOWN

Shades of yesteryear! What memories could be recalled by the old grandstand on the Lowell avenue side of Clafin Field which is now in the process of being demolished if inanimate objects had the power of speech. Yesterday workmen began to remove this old inadequate structure as another step in the development of the high school athletic and physical educational facilities. The stands were erected early in the 1900's and have been taxed to capacity many times at various athletic contests held there. The removal of the stands was ordered by Mayor Weeks on the request of George F. Tracey, chairman of the school committee. For several years the stands have been more or less of an eyesore to that locality and with the completion of the new Dickinson Memorial Stadium and the assurance of the new gridiron for use at the home games of the coming football season there remained no necessity for their presence.

The old stands have witnessed hundreds of schoolboy contests, some thrilling and spirited and others more or less drab in comparison. Many a Newton high student laid the foundation of an athletic career in the shadow of those stands that carried them to great heights in later years. A few of the long list that came readily to mind are the Van Tassel brothers, the Van Buskirk, the Wellmans, the Garritys, the Bowns, the Gilligans, Paul, "Buck" Donahue, Cushman Napan, Dave Putnam, George Owen, "Jake" Stafford, "Rolly" O'Donnell, Everett Scheinfain, Harold Andres, "Mike" Gullian, Henry Johnson, Leonard Clark, Creighton Gatchell, Carleton McCullough, and more recently Daniel Harrington, Arthur Chamberlain, Frank Spain and many others of football fame. Baseball history was made there by such youths as Henry Nash, William Whirry, Frank Frapp, Rothfield, Frank Crivers, Phil Newell, Austin Eaton, Howard Whitmore, Bill Cronin, Spencer deMille, Frank Spain, Edgar Warren, Allie Fletcher, Bill Reilly, Phil Andres, Arthur Wilson and hosts of others. Thrilling stories of touchdown runs, long forward passes, home runs and pitchers battles are all imbedded in the planks of the old stands—gone but not forgotten—outgrown but not outdone.

And now the new. At the meeting of the school committee on Monday evening the matter of deciding as to the official name of the new stadium and also the matter of dedicating it to the memory of the late Allie Dickinson, beloved Newton coach for many years, was referred to a committee composed of Messrs. Joseph F. Lockett, chairman, Elliot B. Church and Walter R. Amesbury, representing the School Committee, Maynard Hutchinson, Albert "Jake" Stafford, Superintendent of Schools, U. G. Wheeler and Headmaster Irving O. Palmer. Inasmuch as the late Mr. Dickinson was a Somerville boy and was a member of Somerville high athletic teams while a student there, the committee is considering the possibility of asking Somerville to take part in the memorial ceremonies by holding them on October 25th when Newton and Somerville are scheduled to meet in their Suburban League football game this fall. Confident with the date of the Harvard-Dartmouth game at the Harvard Stadium may, however, (Continued on Page 3) erans, Perry Elrod, and John Shorten, with Robert Blackler, and Huston still in the running. The latter is one of the best punters on the squad. Gerard Litchfield, letterman, has developed considerably since last fall and is now the outstanding fullback candidate. Sutcliffe is the Team B man in this position. The local coach has not tried all the combinations in the backfield as yet but will probably make his selection within a few days. Bill Duane, brother of Francis Duane of the 1928 eleven, looks very good in the backfield as does a lad named Bruen, Willie Mullen, brother of Johnny Mullen, also of the 1928 squad, is the third string quarterback.

The rest of the squad includes Paul Andres, and Tommy Lyons, centers; Bray and Wikstrom, guards; Giles, Hodgkins, Richardson, McGourty and LaCrosse, tackles; Appleyard, Prime and Conney, ends; and Hatchell, a back.

A number of these lads are known by name as in recent years their elder brothers have made orange and black football history. Sutcliffe is a brother of William Sutcliffe, of the 1927 team and of the Bridgton Academy team the past two years. Andres is a brother of Harold and Phil Andres whose athletic prowess needs no recounting. With a year's experience on the intermediate varsity squad the youngest Andres should prove valuable material in 1931. George Gullian is a cousin of "Mike" Gullian, former Newton all-scholastic and Brown All-America tackle.

SPORT NOTES

Showing Up Well

The local youths on the Boston University squad are all showing up well in practice. Carleton McCullough is at end and Daniel Harrington at guard on Team A. Arthur Chamberlain is at centre on Team B. Harrington and Chamberlain are sophomores at the Hub university and have three years of eligibility before them. McCullough is a senior and is a member of the varsity football squad for the third season.

Cole Among End Candidates

Romaine Cole, former Newton High football captain and end, is among the end candidates for the Tufts varsity football team. Cole is a junior at the Medford college and was a substitute end last season. Both of the regular ends of last year's eleven are returning and Cole will have a hard fight on his hands to oust them.

Two On Harvard Squad

D. Crosby Greene, Jr., and Roger F. Gleason are two local youths on the Harvard second squad this year. Both played at Country Day School a few years ago and were also prominent in other sports. Greene is a Newton Centre youth and Gleason a Newton lad. They are both backfield candidates.

Clark Slightly Hurt

Len Clark has been out of the Dartmouth football practice for a few days with a strained ligament. He is expected back shortly. Prior to being injured Clark and Wolf, his halfback mate, were doing considerable forward passing and also having their share of the plays which Coach Cannell is using to build up a more varied attack than in recent years.

Considine Coaching Tufts

Charlie Considine, former Newton high and Brown star centre, has accepted a position on the Tufts coaching staff. He will assist Coach Chester Delano with the freshman team. Since graduating from Brown where he was a member of the famous "Iron Man" eleven Considine has coached at Plymouth and last year assisted Coach Sullivan at Newton.

Nighthawks Open Season

Sunday afternoon, Sept. 21st, followers of semi-pro football will get their first chance of the season to see the Waltham Nighthawks in action. This strong semi-pro eleven will meet the South Boston Steamrollers at Bicycle Park, Waltham at 2:30. The Steamrollers were the only eleven to defeat the Watch City outfit last year and the latter is out to avenge the defeat. Several graduates of Newton high, including such players as Johnny Mullen, Harold Robblee, Bill Sullivan, Chick Morris, Moon Duane, are on the Nighthawk Squad.

POLICE NEWS

In the Newton court Saturday Henry Parlee of Chapman street, Watertown was fined $5 for failing to slow down while driving a car by intersecting streets. Parlee, who is a game warden, appealed. Doelthe Beaudoin of Milford was fined $5 for a similar offence. Speeders fined in court that day included Joseph Feloni, Jr., 39 California street, Watertown, $25; Frank Czerwotka, Somerville, $5. For failing to STOP before entering through ways George Corner of 459 California street, Newtonville was fined $5; Murray Horwood, 37 Westbourne road, Newton Centre was fined $10. Joseph Sostillo, 15, of 31 Jackson street, Newton Centre was given a suspended fine of $50 for operating an automobile without having a license. The case against William Marchant of Watertown, who was caught robbing poor boxes at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton was dismissed as Marchant had been indicted by the Grand Jury and will be tried before the Superior Court.

At 3.35 Sunday morning a car driven by William Gorman of 83½ Neponset avenue, Norwood crashed into a stone wall on Walnut street at the Newton Cemetery. The police, upon arriving at the scene of the accident arrested Gorman on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor. Three companions of Gorman received injuries and were taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment. They were Mabel Wixon, 17, and Corinne Drury, 19, of Appleton street, Cambridge, and Henry Johnson of Saunders street, Norwood.

Hugh McGlynn of 34 Middle street, Newton was arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen Walsh and Green charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried September 22.

The regular meeting of Middlesex Court, M. C. O. F. will be held next Tuesday night at 8:30. Balloting for candidates for office for the coming year will begin at 9:30. There are several contests for various offices.

The orange and black will engage in four games on the new gridiron this fall. The first opponent will be Quincy on October 18th followed the next Saturday by Somerville. In November Rindge will come to the new field on the 8th and Brookline, as mentioned, on Turkey Day.

Although the new field was not completed until well into the summer, a special turf seed was sown so that the grass is now in fairly good shape. Naturally the playing of four games on the new surface will result in some expense in putting the ground in good shape again next spring but it is figured that such an expense would in all probability be less than the expense necessary to erect the portable stands that have been used the past few years to supplement the old grandstand and take them down again after the season is over.

MIDDLESEX COURT ELECTION

BACHRACH TEAM HAS FINE SEASON

The baseball game scheduled to be played at Victory Field, Saturday, September 13th, between the Newton Police champions and Bachrach Photographers, was played at West Newton Common instead. Although the Police imported two former stars of Newton High, Tom Gilligan and Bill Reilly now of Harvard and St. John's, respectively, they were unable to stop the hard hitting of the world. There are thirteen men in uniform all employed at the Bachrach studios here on Hunt street.

Although the team was not fully organized until late in June, they made a wonderful showing, winning fifteen games, losing but three and tying one.

There were several prizes offered by Mr. Bachrach and other executives. One prize of $10.00 by Mr. Charles Foote, General Manager, to the leading batter, was won by Tom Rudzinski, second baseman, with an average of .543, getting nineteen hits Bachrach team, who made seventeen clean hits off Reilly.

Bachrach's star pitcher whom J. Ward Kelly, Manager, claims is one of the best in this vicinity, allowed only five hits, and struck out eleven men.

Although the weather was threatening and looked as if it would pour down any minute, there was quite a large attendance, including the executives of the Bachrach studios, the game went the full nine innings.

J. Ward Kelly, organizer and manager of the team, claims the distinction of having the only organized uniformed baseball team composed of all photographic workers in the out of thirty-five times at bat. Kenneth Smith, centerfielder, second average of .440, and McLean, star catcher, third average of .400.

For winning the game with the Police, Mr. Kelly is to reward the team with a dinner party. Mr. Bachrach, who attends all the games when not out of town, is very much pleased with the fine showing of the team and is giving a theatre party, about the last of September to the entire team.

Mr. Kelly states that next year he is to have a berth for his team in the Newton Twilight League where more Newtonites will have opportunities to see this fast team in action.

GIRL SCOUTS

Camp Mary Day, the Newton Girl Scout camp, nestled among the Cedars, on a little hill overlooking Nonesuch Pond in Natick, has closed its doors after a season of ten weeks. The eighth season of this camp started June 30th, with a family of fifty (girls and Counsellors) and for eight weeks the camp was filled to capacity, and a long waiting list of girls who were not fortunate enough to get in on the first enrollment.

Ninety-nine Girl Scouts, all registered in some one of the Newton Troops, spent a happy vacation in this lovely spot—so near Newton and yet so apart and by itself with its 17 acres of fields and woods that when there one feels really "away." It is like a bit of Maine or New Hampshire set down within five miles of Newton.

Forty-five girls stayed for the "long periods" four weeks, of which there were two during the summer and the remaining fifty-four changed every two weeks. From reveille at seven in the morning until Taps at eight-forty-five at night, with the exception of "rest hour" in the early afternoon, the camp hummed with happy, busy girls, who found their days slipping by and the time all too short to accomplish all they wanted to do.

"Fatigue Duty" or "Camp Capers" a more cheerful word for the daily dish washing, cleaning house, gathering wood, etc., and after that Assembly. Scout work, swimming, rowing and paddling, hiking, clearing the nature trail, building the dam in the brook, pioneer work and camp craft filled each day full to the brim of good times. Life out of doors and when it rained a cheerful fire in the big living room with games, books and craft made the few rainy days real "cozy, homey days" and the girls all loved them.

Stunts, charades, pantomimes, shadow pictures and a Costume Ball every two weeks made the evenings all too short and time for the Goodnight Circle and Call to Quarters came before one knew it.

A new piano given by Mrs. S. T. Emery of Newton Centre was much enjoyed and greatly appreciated. The new curtains on the sleeping cabins added very much to the comfort of the girls and the gas (fuelite) stoves installed this year made the cooking very much easier.

The last two weeks of camp, from August 25 to September 6 the older Girl Scouts and Junior Officers attended. A smaller group but a very energetic one and many Girl Scout tests and Merit Badges were passed. The water program was enlarged for this group and a long hike taken by those working on the Athlete Badge.

Overnight hikes on the "ridge" where supper and breakfast were cooked over a camp fire and where the girls rolled up in their blankets and slept under the stars were treats enjoyed by a special group of pioneers or star gazers every two weeks. This was a new feature in the program and will be enlarged next year.

A silver Camp pin was awarded every two weeks to the girl who had shown the finest spirit during that camp period. Camp letters were also given for fine spirit. Girls and Counsellors voted for those to receive the awards and they were given at candle light service the night before the girls went home.

The girls awarded the pins were Dorothy Atwood, Newton Highlands; Barbara Bailey, Newton Centre; Carolyn Everts, Newtonville; Alice Burton, Waban, and Jeannette Houghton, Newton.

Letters were awarded to Barbara Kimball, Margaret Caswell, Betty Ann Kohrock, Carolyn Everts, Barbara Clark, Mary Glover, and Evelyn Margolin of Newtonville. Barbara Bailey of Newton Centre, Frances Fernald of West Newton, Betty Stephen of Waban, Mary Pope, Dorothy Atwood, Barbara Carriek and Sheila Skelton of Newton Highlands.

Miss Caroline Freeman under whose direction the camp was started and organized and who has grown with it for eight years, was Director of the camp again this summer and Miss Mildred Moore of Newton Highlands was Assistant Director for the second year. For some years it has been our custom in the issue of the Graphic just prior to the primary, to give our opinion on the several candidates for Republican nominations. We prepared such an editorial for our issue of last week, but in some unaccountable manner, the copy for that editorial was lost in its transmission between the editorial desk and the printer. We apologize for its omission and will only say that it advised the nomination of Mr. Butler for senator, Mr. Allen for governor, Mr. Bishop for district attorney and Mr. Bean for state treasurer, all of whom received a substantial vote in Newton.

In view of the campaign waged against his nomination for district attorney, Mr. Bishop fully deserved the fine vote he received in this city as well as in the rest of the district.

The fine organization behind Mr. Draper in this city was unable to overcome the convictions of our electorate that Mr. Butler was the best man for the nomination.

Now for a red hot campaign until the state election in November.

POLICE NEWS

Raymond Carpenter, 19 of 312 Pleasant street, Watertown was in the Newton court on Tuesday charged with larceny of a pocketbook containing $6 from the home of Edward Chapin. Young Carpenter was surrendered by his father when the latter learned of his thieving. The young man was engaged in the business of washing windows and is supposed to have entered about 35 houses in Newton and surrounding places, looting pocketbooks which he found and making other thefts. Carpenter told the police that another young man, whose name he does not know, was associated with him in the thefts. He appeared in court yesterday and was held in $3000 bail, his trial being continued to allow the police to make further investigation of Carpenter's thefts.

In court Tuesday Samuel Kern of Newton was fined $25 for speeding. He appeared.

In the Newton court Wednesday James Gilmore of 269 River street, Watertown was fined $100 when found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor. Joseph Conto of 4 Cook street, Nonantum and John Connelly of Weston each was fined $5 for driving without proper lights. John R. Manning of Lower Falls was found guilty of stealing the rear end of a Ford car and fined $10. Manning took the part to donate to another Ford owner whose old flivver needed such a replacement. For using profane language he was fined $5. He was also sent to State Farm for being drunk, a suspended sentence being imposed.

In the Newton court yesterday Louis Casano of Waltham was fined $10 for violating a traffic rule on a Metropolitan parkway. Speeders fined $5 each were Robert Powers, Common street, Watertown; John Gauthier, Medford; Edward Packney, Somerville. For similar offenses suspended fines of $5 were imposed on John Lavelle, 285 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville; Henry Murphy, 430 Watertown street, Newtonville.

Wednesday night four complaints were received at Police Headquarters from irate residents of Waban who could not sleep because of the loud and long barking by a dog owned by Mario Ingrassio of 121 Dorset road. The police endeavored to awaken Ingrassio so that the dog's barking would be silenced. But they failed in their attempts. Yesterday Ingrassio was ordered to restrain the dog from broadcasting.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The results of the Butler-Draper contest in this city are interesting. In few, if any political contests in Newton in the past, either contests for national or municipal offices, was as much work devoted as in the campaign to carry the city for Mr. Draper. Many weeks ago organized efforts in behalf of the Hopdale candidate started here. Publicity matter issued by the Draper committee announced that the same organization which was behind Mayor Weeks in his sweeping victory last year would endeavor to obtain like results for Mr. Draper. The American Legion was brought into the fray in the interest of Draper. From the Draper headquarters emanated the information that 600 men and women had pledged to work 2 hours daily for seven days preceding the primary election in Draper's behalf. Certainly, intensive and extensive work was performed in Newton for Draper.

Undoubtedly a large number of votes cast for the Hopdale man in this city resulted from the campaign waged here for him. Many "dry", who ordinarily would have repudiated any candidate running on a "wet" platform, yielded to the persuasion of the Draper workers. A very appreciable number of citizens who have consistently voted the Democratic ticket in regular elections (and who will vote it again), but who have refrained from participating in primary elections, went to the polls, asked for Republican ballots and voted for Draper. This result was a tribute to the popularity of a few young men who worked hard in Democratic precincts in this city.

But, despite all the work done for Draper, despite the usual anxiety of the large majority of voters, who will not vote in primaries, despite the comparatively small amount of work done in Newton for Butler, as contrasted with the efforts put forth by the supporters of his opponent, the veteran politician from New Bedford carried Newton in a close fight. It is quite probable that in almost any other town in the State a political machine as well organized as that which worked for Draper in Newton would have succeeded in its endeavor. But, Newton is different. It is difficult to plow soil for any political machine.

It would seem that the Hon. James M. Curley was not using the Oxford accent during the short period in which he became quite acclimated to the broadcasting station of WNAC last Monday night.

The majority of the Democrats in Boston deserve praise for refusing to be swayed by a cheap appeal to racial prejudice. And certain Republican candidates in the recent campaign might well profit by imitating the Democrats of Boston in this respect. The people of this country are being constantly importuned to discourage hyphenated Americanism. And yet, when elections approach, we regularly observe efforts made to capture votes by racial appeal.

The Boston Elevated management plans, starting tomorrow to run three car trains from Watertown through Newton and Brighton to Boston during the rush periods. This plan will cause serious complications in Nonantum Square. The island in the square is not long enough to serve three of the large Elevated cars in one train. Either one of the cars will project to the west of the island, blocking traffic near the signal tower, or it will extend into the narrow part of Washington street to the east of the island, where even now traffic is congested. Three car trains will not travel any more rapidly to Boston than do two-car trains. In fact, they will travel more slowly.

It is the duty of the City Government and Newton's representatives in the Legislature to assist Waltham in taking measures to end the present intolerable conditions on the Charles River between Newton Lower Falls and the Moody street bridge at Waltham. Because of the action of certain persons who now control Waltham corporations which possess riparian rights on the Charles, practically all the water which flows from the upper reaches of the river is being carried through the sluiceway or over the dam at Moody street, and the basin which for generations existed between Moody street at Waltham and Newton Lower Falls, has disappeared. Instead of an attractive, wide stream, the Charles between these two places now is a narrow stream surrounded by stenchy mud flats. For a century the Waltham corporations in Waltham, which possessed the riparian rights were controlled by persons of colonial ancestry. Persons who had public pride and who co-operated in keeping the communities near their factories attractive. But, times have changed. Certainly the river cannot be permitted to remain in its present condition. Neither will Waltham, Newton and Weston residents be heavily taxed to restore the water level on the Charles to its former height. The Massachusetts Legislature ought to be able and willing to devise ways and means to protect the health and comfort of thousands of citizens against undue exploitation of their natural rights by private corporations.

Human nature runs about the same whether in the cases of individuals or groups of individuals. Some persons operate on the policy "What's yours is mine. What's mine is my own." Some selfish corporations seem to use this same principle. Certain chain store corporations which have thrived hereabouts in recent years have used various methods to eliminate from competition individually owned stores. Their favorite weapon has been price cutting on national advertised articles. These articles they frequently sell even below cost to draw customers. Of course, chain stores are not philanthropic institutions and the losses sustained by selling certain articles at low prices are made up on other articles which are purchased by bargain hunting customers who are not so keen in buying as they imagine.

Owners of individual grocery stores and markets have been banding in groups to meet the competition of chain organizations. One such group is operating in Newton. Last week it advertised among other specials a certain article at a reduced price. One large chain corporation apparently does not want to include this article on its cut price list. So, this corporation complained to the producers of this article about the local stores offering it at a reduced price. You have heard about the pot calling the kettle "black." And a bully whining when given some of his own medicine. Funny. Isn't it?

One growing practice by a large number of autoists, observed this past summer is the carrying of baggage, camping outfits and other large articles on the bumpers of automobiles, some of these articles not even being tied on. Whether fastened, or not the carrying of articles on bumpers should be prohibited by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles. It is an extremely dangerous practice. If those who engage in it want to jeopardize their own lives that is their privilege. But they should not be allowed to endanger other autoists lives through collisions which will result because of bumper carried luggage falling off and causing cars to get out of control.

For four days residents of the area within a half-mile radius of the Pine street dump between West Newton and Auburndale have had to endure a noxious stench from a fire at this dump which has resisted all efforts of firemen to quench it. Fires at the Pine street dump, with resultant stench, are of common occurrence. But, the present one has been of unusual persistence. It is about time for Newton to seriously consider the erection of an incinerator.

And another "beauty spot" and aroma dispensary in this city is the North street dump. Take a trip to this place and enjoy the vista. You will agree that some legislation should be enacted to control the disposition of discarded old automobiles.

The other evening we commented to a trustee of the Boston Elevated about the dirty appearance of the windows in the Elevated cars. This gentleman informed us that the trustees had spoken to officials of the corporation about this matter and had been informed that although the windows are washed frequently, it is almost impossible to keep clean those on cars which are operated in the subways. The dust in the subways is impregnated with iron particles which settles on the windows as the cars rush through the underground routes.

REAL ESTATE

R. M. Patterson, Newton Corner Realtor, reports final papers gone to record in the sale of several Newton estates. An important transaction was the transfer to Frederick A. Hawkins of property at 100 Sargent street known as the Brackett estate. For several years Park Avenue Hospital has occupied the premises consisting of 52,600 square feet land, a mansion containing 15 rooms and 4 baths, and a garage. For taxation purposes the city values this real estate at $22,500 of which amount $12,000 represents land. Mr. Hawkins bought for investment, and after razing existing buildings will offer building sites for sale. The seller was Bristol County Savings Bank of Taunton.

Another Newton sale through the office of R. M. Patterson involves 103 Cabot street consisting of 12,960 square feet land with a one family brick veneer and frame dwelling and garage. Being new the buildings have not yet been assessed. Gray Realty Trust conveyed to Gertrude R. Smyth who has taken occupancy. 94 Berkshire road, Newtonville, has been sold by Alice M. Gross. Included in this transaction are 9000 square feet land, a one family frame dwelling, and a garage, all assessed at $9700, $1600 of which is on the land. Margaret M. Pinner bought for occupancy. The office of R. M. Patterson was the broker in this sale.

PRE-SCHOOL KINDERGARTEN TO OPEN OCTOBER 6

The fall session of the Pre-school Kindergarten of the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., will open Monday, October 6, at the Memorial Library, Chestnut street, West Newton.

Any parents wishing their children to attend should get in touch with Miss Gertrude MacCallum, Director of the Community Centre, Davis School, West Newton immediately. Only a limited number of children between the ages of three and four and one half years may be accepted for registration.

Students at the Wheelock School will be in charge of the children's work, under the direct supervision of a field work supervisor and the Kindergarten Committee of the Community Centre.

ROTARY CLUB

At the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club Monday, September 15, Mr. Henry A. Wentworth of Auburndale gave an interesting talk on Japan based on his travel experiences after attending the World Congress of Engineers in that country last year. The engineers were entertained with lavish hospitality, being guests at many functions given by various classes, all of which showed the great care and perfection of the Japanese method in conducting social affairs. Mr. Wentworth spoke of the pride and ambition of the inhabitants of the Island Empire and of the disappointment which it apparently is to them to be small in stature personally as compared with western peoples. In the schools children now sit on chairs instead of on the floor as formerly, and a noticeable increase in their height is the result. The talk was illustrated with excellently colored lantern slides showing some of the beautiful scenery and affording intimate glimpses into Japanese life and character.

The members were glad to welcome back Arthur Ellis after eight months absence due to illness, and a number of visitors were greeted, including a guest from Salt Lake City.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

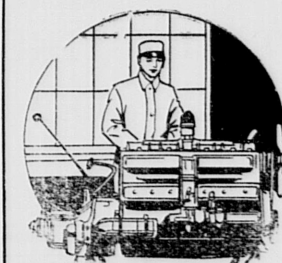

The 100th anniversary celebration of the First Baptist Church of Watertown, of which the Rev. Charles Lyon Seasholes is pastor, will be held the week of Oct. 14 to 22, inclusive. The general committee in charge, headed by W. E. Macrura of Lexington, has announced that the time of the observances has been advanced to insure the presence of the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the chapel of Chicago University. The committee also gave out a general outline of the program for the week. Details are being completed by sub-committees.

Dr. Gilkey, a former Watertown boy, joined the Baptist church in that town at an early age and is now one of the noted preachers of the denomination. He will attend the banquet to be held at the church on the opening night of the celebration Tuesday, Oct. 14th, and will be the principal speaker at the public meeting which will follow in the main auditorium. Other guests that night will include the selectmen of the town and the pastors of the other churches, with their wives.

Thursday evening there will be a Pageant entitled "The River of Life," depicting religious progress through the Biblical period and the progress of the Baptist denomination. Friday evening will be "Old Home Night" with an informal social.

Sunday's program includes a sermon by the Rev. Dr. Chas. H. Day of Newton at the morning services and an address, "Glimpses of the Years" by the Rev. James E. Norcross who has written a history of Watertown, in the evening. There will also be an anniversary program in the church school in the morning.

Tuesday afternoon the program will be in charge of the Women's Union of the church. In the evening there will be a men's dinner. On Wednesday evening the service will be in charge of the young people's department.

There was bitter rivalry in those days between the Newton and Watertown firemen and on more than one occasion when the Newton firemen reached some fire just over the Watertown line and attached a hose line to a hydrant, the Watertown firemen would compel the hose to be detached when they arrived so that their hose could be hitched onto the hydrant.

Still living in Newton are some old timers who remember the days when they, as boys helped pull the old hand tubs to fires. Among these are Edward S. Smilie and Wilfred A. Wetherbee. A letter from the latter gentleman informs us that he well acquainted with every member of the original Engine 1 Company and that we made a mistake in naming Hosea N. Hyde, as one of the members. It was Mr. Hyde's brother, Horatio N. Hyde who belonged to the Company.

Preceding old Steam Engine 1 as the fire protection at Newton Corner was a Hunneban hand engine "Nonantum No. 5" which arrived in Newton Corner on April 23, 1842. The company organized to man this hand tub was formed May 2, 1842 and included in the membership were names familiar to old residents of Newton. George Daniels was elected foreman; George Whall, first assistant; H. L. Christian, second assistant; William Trigger, clerk; P. A. Johnson, steward. The tub was kept in a blacksmith shop on Washington street, near Park street. Foreman George Daniels had a farm at this location, his land running from Washington street towards the Charles River. When the hand engine was taken on long runs to other towns, he furnished horses to pull it. The members of the fire company not only served without pay but also furnished their equipment. The "uniforms" of the firemen consisted of large leather badges which

By Edw. H. Powers

Several weeks ago this column gave some information on the history of the old fire station formerly occupied by Engine 1. Much of the information contained in that article and some of the information contained in this was obtained from a copy of the "History of the Newton Fire Department" published in 1897 by the Newton Veteran Firemen's Association. This history was written by H. H. (Hodge) Easterbrook, and the copy we had reference to is owned by Deputy Chief Herbert W. Boothby.

In 1897 Engine 1 company was comprised mostly of call firemen. The foreman of the company was John F. Horrigan, then a carriage-smith in the employ of the late P. A. Murray. Mr. Horrigan now resides on Church street, Newton. The late Frank A. Barrows was assistant-foreman. Other call members of the company at that time were Archibald Carley, Charles O. Higbee, Charles W. Hewitt, Rod-erick MacLean and Benjamin M. Thomas. Mr. MacLean and Mr. Thomas are still actively engaged in business in Newton. Mr. Hewitt is plumbing inspector of Watertown and Mr. Carley has removed from the city. Mr. Higbee died many years ago. The permanent members of the company, Frank Judkins, engineer; J. Frank Cotton, driver of the steamer, and Patrick Carroll, driver of the hose wagon have all been dead many years.

In the days of call firemen, these enthusiastic fire fighters received salaries of $100 per annum, provided they responded to all fires. For each fire missed a deduction was made from the salary. These call firemen earned their small salaries. As a child, we resided near the engine house and it gave us quite a thrill to see some of the old time call firemen "legging" it from their places of employment or business to reach the engine house before the hose-wagon pulled out in response to an alarm. A bigger thrill was afforded the kids when the firemen would be yanked onto the wagon as it proceeded through Nonantum square or along Washington or Centre streets. And the biggest thrill came as the big horses pulling the steamer came swiftly galloping along the street, with smoke and flames surging from the funnel on the fire engine. In the small hours of the night one could hear the footsteps of the call firemen as they ran along the streets from their homes to the engine house, hastening to answer an alarm. If the box was a low number, and the direction was opposite from a call fireman's home, he did not connect with the hose wagon. In earlier years he still had means to reach the fire. A wagon carrying extra fuel and hose was kept in a shed adjoining the station and a Street Department horse would be hitched to this "tender" wagon and the belated firemen would thus obtain transportation to the blaze.

With the passing of horse drawn apparatus and call firemen, much of the glamour departed from fire fighting. The volunteer fire fighters and call firemen may have been amateurish in their methods, but what they lacked in skill they made up in zeal.

Many of the call firemen were engaged in the building trades and members of the "Hammer Club" in the old days used to accuse these fire fighters of considerable activity with axes and crowbars at fires to make work for themselves. Of course, this was a base calumny.

There was bitter rivalry in those days between the Newton and Watertown firemen and on more than one occasion when the Newton firemen reached some fire just over the Watertown line and attached a hose line to a hydrant, the Watertown firemen would compel the hose to be detached when they arrived so that their hose could be hitched onto the hydrant.

were carried in the pockets of the firemen ordinarily, and attached to their caps when on duty. The town provided the hand engine, the hose and refreshments at fires.

The volunteer firemen erected a house for their new hand engine and had a small hall on the second floor which was the social centre for the young men of the village. This hall was furnished quite lavishly and the members were assessed to obtain leather buckets, brass side lamps and other ornaments for the hand engine. If a member failed to wear his leather badge while at a fire he was assessed 25 cents. And in those days 25c was a sizable amount of coin for any youth to be separated from. In 1844 it was decided to purchase four brass eyes for the signal lantern. Money was scarce with the boys just then so they had to remove the brass letter N from their badges and sell this brass to obtain the wanted brass eyes for the lantern.

In 1845 the various hand tub companies in the Town of Newton held a contest at Baptist Pond (now Crystal Lake). The members of Nonantum 5 decided to attend that event in style, so they voted to procure shirts with blue or pink stripes, new fangled pants and new caps. They also voted to carry tin dippers attached to their belts. The members of Nonantum 5 were full of enthusiasm in those early years of the company. They not only hauled their engine to fires in Newton, but also took the tub to all fires in Watertown and Brighton and to many in Cambridge, Waltham, Brookline, Boston, Roxbury and Needham. Once the boys even travelled with the tub to a blaze in Medford. As may be imagined, the burning buildings in other towns were quite considerably destroyed by the time the Newton fire-fighters arrived with their hand tub, but this did not dampen their ardor.

In those days, as in later years, their was bitter rivalry between the volunteer firemen of Newton Corner and Watertown. But, interposing the long feud were several periods when the rivals forgot their jealousies and exchanged manifestations of friendliness. In contrast, the relations between the Nonantum company and the Butcher Boy hand tub company of Brighton were always most cordial. Opportunities for developing cordiality were ample in Brighton. The social activities of the Nonantum company included suppers in their own hall, banquets in the old Nonantum House which was located where the Nonantum Building now stands, sleigh rides and a supper at some hotel in a town not too far distant and an annual fishing excursion which lasted two days, with a night spent at Marblehead. In 1855 the house built by the members of the company burned and was replaced by a house erected by the Town.

In 1866 Newton Corner had grown so that it was considered necessary to obtain a larger hand engine, so a huge 7-inch Leslie hand-tub was purchased from the City of Lynn. This engine was a white elephant, as ordinarily not enough men could be obtained to work it while this tub was being operated at the Rice slaughter-house fire in North Brighton on October 17, 1866, someone, either a Newton fireman who was disgusted at the unwieldy tub, or a jealous rival from some other engine, pulled a dirty trick. In the darkness of the night the culprit closed the outlet gate while the valiant Newton Corner firemen were pumping away. What happened then? The air chamber of the engine exploded, completely disabling the big tub. And the company was so disgusted that it disbanded. The fire engineers of the town of Newton offered a reward of $100 in an endeavor to learn who pulled the trick. But no one gained the reward. It was sold some years later to a West Newton man who broke it up and sold it for junk.

Fire fighting in Newton, as in all cities of its size, is now performed by a permanent department. Fires in Newton are combatted efficiently and promptly. But, those who remember the glamour, and frequently the comedy, attached to the fire fighting in the days of the volunteers like to reminisce on the days of yore.

Several of the present members of Engine 1 company were associated with the company in the days of horse drawn apparatus. Captain Ben Tripp and Hoseman Hugh McDonald were call-men on the old Hose 1 company. Hoseman Tom Enegess drove the horses on the steam fire engine prior to the motorizing of the apparatus.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

On Thursday, September 18th, Miss Bertha W. Allen, Supt., and Miss El-enor Jones, Record Librarian, attended the first meeting of the Record Librarians of the State of Massachusetts at the Worcester City Hospital in Worcester. Miss Jones, together with Mrs. Susan H. Brown, of the Worcester City Hospital, planned the program for the meeting which was a general get-together for discussion of plans for state organization. The keeping of accurate and uniform hospital records is recognized as of great importance in furthering medical science and research as well as for reference in the subsequent care of the individual patient.

On Monday evening, September 15, the Know More Kokki met at the hospital.

On Wednesday evening, September 17th, the Executive Committee of the Trustees held their regular monthly meeting at the hospital.

Dr. Henry F. Keever, of Auburndale, returned on Monday from a ten days' trip to Atlantic City and his home in Pennsylvania.

Dr. F. E. Porter, of 409 Auburn street, Auburndale, formerly a member of the Newton Hospital staff, was struck and knocked down by a hit-and-run driver on Monday morning, September 15th. The preliminary examination showed no serious injury, and it is hoped that nothing further will develop.

The number of patients in the hospital on September 13th was 129, still a low figure. 44 of these were full pay, 55 part pay, and 30, including babies, free. 15 babies were born during the past week, 8 boys and 7 girls.
26 accident cases were admitted during the past week. 135 visits were made to the out-patient department, and 4 by the social worker. 12 patients were transported by the social service car.

Two patients were treated for puncture wounds, the result of stepping on nails. One boy was treated for dog-bite. One man was treated for abrasions received from a fall. Five patients were treated for lacerations:
Two men, one injured by a revolving wheel, and one by a tin can. Two were girls, one injured by a machine, and one by a knife. One woman had a laceration of her thumb caused by a broken bottle. Four patients were treated for poisoning, one for chloroform poisoning, two for carbon monoxide poisoning, and one who had been poisoned by drinking liniment. Four patients were treated as results of automobile accidents. Two of them were men, one with a laceration of his back, and one with a laceration of his forehead. One was a girl suffering from abrasions and bruises, and one was a woman with abrasions of her nose.

TO PLAY DECIDING GAME TOMORROW

Newton Upper Falls and the Hope-dale Club of Allston will play the seventh and deciding game in the "Little World Series" of the Hub Twilight league tomorrow afternoon at the Upper Falls playground. Each team has won three games and with a week's rest behind them their pitching aces are ready to go. Allston won the first game and Upper Falls the second.
The third game ended in a tie and in the fourth contest the locals took the lead. Hopedale came right back to tie it up. Last Friday night Upper Falls won a 9 to 4 victory to take the lead again but on Sunday Allston won a 3 to 2 game to make the series a deadlock for the third time. Hopedale will probably send either Whalen or "Lefty" McLaughlin, Brighton High School pitching star, after the final game and Upper Falls will probably counter with either Higgins, Joe Russell or Arthur Graham. Whalen has won two games and McLaughlin one to keep the Allston outfit in the race.
Each of the three named Upper Falls pitchers have chalked up a victory with Graham losing two and Higgins one.

Last Friday night Upper Falls jumped away to a big lead when two hits and three errors accounted for three runs. In the second, four hits, including a double by Bennett, figured in a five-run rally and Bill Rose, Hopedale twirler was chased. Another tally was scored in the third off
Eddie Mannix who relieved him.

Joe Russell twirled effective ball up to the sixth and final inning. Five hits, including Maloney's triple, and one error gave the losers all their runs in a bunch. Russell not only pitched a good game but collected three hits in three times up.

ground in Allston "Lefty" McLaughlin and Arthur Graham had a close battle. Allston scored once in the first frame and Newton tied it up in the first of the second. In the fourth another tally put the local team ahead but Hopedale came right back in the last of the frame to tie it up. Allston scored the winning run in the eighth on two singles and a double. The Upper Falls outfit collected ten hits off McLaughlin who was in and out of several bad holes all through the game. Graham held the Hopedale batters to seven hits but they were bunched at just the proper times.

SPORT NOTES

Adams Brothers In College

Kilburn E. and Gilbert C. Adams of Dorset road, Waban, should prove valuable additions to the Wesleyan and Bates college track teams. The former returned to the Connecticut university this week as a sophomore and the latter will matriculate at the Maine college next week. Both were members of the Newton high school track team two years ago and Gilbert scored many points for Huntingdon school which he attended last year.

Try Andres At Punting

Captain Hal Andres of the Dartmouth eleven may do more than a little punting in the Big Green games this coming season. The former Newton high athlete, working with the punters the other day, did some surprising punting, averaging well over 50 yards.
He shared honors with Henry Johnson, another local youth, and Bill Morton, quarterback.

Haggood Has Sprained Ankle

Ernest Haggood, local youth and veteran guard on the Brown University team, is out of the practice sessions at present with a sprained ankle which he received in the initial scrimmage a week ago. He is expected back in the varsity first string lineup shortly.

Cronin Doubles In Pinch

Bill Cronin, local youth with the Braves, was sent to bat in the seventh inning of last Friday's game between the Braves and the Pirates and came through with a double. Spolrer drew a base on balls and Maguire sacrificed. Cronin, batting for Seibold, connected for a two-base hit to score Maguire. Neun tripled and Maranville singled to complete a three-run rally to tie the score. In the tenth the Braves scored again to win 5 to 4.
Cronin's official average the first of the week was .248 and his fielding average .990, having made but three errors in the sixty games he has taken part in this season.

Newton Juniors Lose

The Newton Y junior baseball team was on the short end of a 6 to 5
score with the Burroughs Newsboys' Foundation nine last Saturday on the local "Y" field. A home run by Seller in the eighth inning sent the Newton outlet down to defeat. Gallagher and O'Neil were the local battery.

Cronin Knocks In Two More

In Sunday's doubleheader at Braves field with the Cardinals in which the two teams split even Bill Cronin got a single to drive in one run and a sacrifice fly to bring in another in the second game.

Letters To The Editor

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER

Mr. Editor:

Official Records, show that upon the Highways of Massachusetts alone, in the last 8 years, Drunken Drivers of automobiles have killed 428 men, women, and children and have struck and injured over 222,000 more, some of whom have died later after great suffering and very many were crippled for life.

For the country at large, if based upon comparative population, this would mean some 12,000 killed (1500 per year) and 6,000,000 (750,000 per year), struck and more or less injured by drunken drivers upon our National highways.

Discount these estimates as much as you dare, consider the unwritten record of the past 20 years. Consider what the total may be by 1940, and by 1950. Nowhere else in all Christendom is there such a heathenish human sacrifice. Consider also that this is but a single item of the destructive work of alcoholic drink in the hands of "The Drinking Class of America" in its sacrifice of human life, limb, home, hope, and happiness.

Harriet Beecher Stowe in "Uncle Tom's Cabin" aroused the Christian sentiment of America and the slaves went free. Mrs. Stowe's pictures were of her own creation, while here are official reports and recorded facts of American history, far more heart-rending in their terrible reality and in the far reaching misfortunes that follow in their wake.

Where are the writers of today that they are not telling the piteous true stories of bloodshed and misery that are following in the wake of "The Drinking Class of America" in its defiance of "The Second Commandment" of the Great Master of Christianity?

GEORGE M. FISKE,

MORE EFFICIENT METHODS

September 10, 1930.

To the Editor:

The Animal Rescue League of Boston and its Branches receive between three and four hundred dogs a week, chiefly strays. By actual count, not 3% of these poor creatures bear any mark of identification that would assist us in returning them to their owners.

There are two major causes for this deplorable situation; one, the carelessness of owners, the other an antiquated law which requires that every licensed dog should wear a collar with his owner's name and the license number inscribed thereon. This requirement is well meaning, but ridiculous, because the same result can be effected more easily and cheaply if at the time of issuing the license the city or town shall supply also a metal tag which may be immediately attached to the collar by simply bending on.

This system is employed in many other states. The tag carries the license number, the name of the city or town issuing it and the year. The shape of the tag is changed slightly every year, so that a dog officer may tell at a glance whether a dog has been licensed for the current year.

These tags may well be made in our prisons, as are license plates for automobiles. I know no more plastic eight than in our yards when our ambulances discharge their dozens of stray dogs, many of them pets, who look in vain, as each visitor approaches them, for the master whose carelessness is costing their liberty and perhaps their lives. The happiest feature of our work is the restoration of lost dogs to their owners, and it would occur oftener under the system we suggest.

The laws governing animals are much in need of general revision. A first step should be toward a more efficient system of protecting licensed dogs.

THE CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

A field talk on "kettle-holes" and "kettle-hole lake" promises to draw a large number of young nature enthusiasts to the Children's Museum, Saturday the 20th at 2-00. Then Prof.
George H. Barton, Director of the Teachers' School of Science and one of the founders of the Children's Museum will give an open-air lecture on these glacial formations. The Museum Nature Club has a special invitation from Prof. Barton but all those interested in such phenomena are invited to attend without charge. Jamica Pond is none other than a kettle-hole left behind by the glacier which once covered New England.

An old fashioned doll and doll furniture, date of 1850, have been a recent gift to the Museum from the estate of the late Miss Helen Turner of 1689 Beacon street, Brookline. These quaint toys will be in a special display on the second floor of the Museum during the coming week.

"Summer Experiences" provide plenty of matter for discussion by the boys and girls of the Museum who have returned with collections and recollections gathered during summer vacation. Birds' nests, insects, coins, camping experiences, pet snakes are among the items scheduled for this experience meeting at 3:00 Saturday.
Visitors are welcome to this talk which is an all-Museum affair.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

For the coming week the Paramount Theatre, Newton has a great program prepared especially for the women folks, from Sunday until Wednesday.
"Common Clay" with Constance Bennett will be the feature picture with Lew Ayres playing opposite her. Miss Bennett is ideally cast for the role, revealing her as one of the most talented actresses in Hollywood. This is the Prize Harvard Play which played in Boston on the stage for many weeks. On the same program will be seen Rod La Rocque in "Beau Bandit," a story of the old west and its gun toting heroes.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be a great treat for the Newton folks, when Cyril Maude will be seen in "Grumpy."
In many ways "Grumpy" is an unusual play. Although it gives the star one of the fastest individual parts ever allotted to a stage character, it boasts an interesting and highly amusing story which contains both intrigue and romance. The universal appeal of "Grumpy" is another of its attributes. For the young people always get hearty laughs out of this delightfully scheming, quizzical, lovable old grandpa who knows more about life and love than even he admits. And "Grumpy," you must know, is hardly a modest old fellow.
The older folks too have always delighted in this cagey character who sets about to solve a mystery and sponsor a romance in his inimitable, amusing fashion. But after all is said and done concerning the appeal of "Grumpy" it hardly seems out of place to add that it is Cyril Maude who deserves as much credit as anyone thing for the entertaining qualities of this fascinating human interest story.

A talented supporting cast, chosen with great care by casting officials, is seen in support of Cyril Maude.
Philip Holmes, one of Paramount's younger players who recently scored so favorably with Nancy Carroll in
"The Devil's Holiday," plays the leading juvenile lead. And Frances Dade, a charming new comer to the screen,
who made her debut with Ronald Colman in "Raffles," helps Holmes take care of a thoroughly delightful romance. Paul Lukas and Paul Cay-anaugh, two well known character actors, are also prominently cast.

On the same program William Haines will be seen in "Way Out West" a great comedy, one which concerns a condensed milk cowboy, they say it's a riot. The children's prize matinee is held every Saturday at 2:15
p. m.

By L. D. G. BENTLEY

Whoever started this business of naming 50 persons as the greatest in the country, or the most wonderful in the whole universe or the best at putting on good clothes or at this and that? I suppose the man who first thought of it wanted to make a lot of other people angry. As far as I have been able to observe these lists have never done anything but create dissatisfaction.

Whenever such a list is made public there is always a great howl—not of approval, far from it—but a screech of protest because somebody's name was left out. For every 50 names that somebody writes down as the men who do more for and to the people, there are certain to be five thousand and fifty names printed the day or so following of men whose names should have been on the list. In order to play safe, the original list, instead of calling for only 50 should have been made fifty thousand. The would have taken in about a thousand in each state in the Union, which should keep a lot of kickers quiet. But I still maintain that the whole idea of such a list is to tickle the few whose names are included but more particularly to stir the wrath of those who were left off and their friends as well.

Did you happen to observe what occurred in an adjoining city when a certain political leader decided to tell the names of 50 men capable of being Governor? He didn't want to please these 50 men for any special reason but he did want to make at least two others very sore by leaving off their names. Which he did, and their friends also. Never mind how that scheme worked out—and the end is not yet—but think of the fun the author of such a list has in "getting the goats" of those whose names he purposely omitted. What I think I shall proceed to do for the sake of raising a row among my friends is to publish a list of the 50 best players of miniature golf. That would give folks something to talk about. I have never played miniature golf under that name or as midget, Tom Thumb or toy or any of its various aliases. Therefore, I think I am just the one to tell the world who the 50 men and women are who lead the field and from whom a King and Queen should be chosen.

Much has been written about the art of eating corn on the cob. I assume the difficulty presented itself way back in the days of the Pilgrims when somebody first suggested boiling the delightful vegetable raised by the Indians. Ever since, people from time to time have set down in writing their thoughts on the subject. As far as I have been able to discover the inspired ones have been those who were unable to master the science, or, having done so decided to brag about their achievement.

Now corn on the cob is something to eat. Most everybody has a different view of the matter. Yet few deny that it is as tasty a dish as may be set before us on a Summer's day. You know immediately when the season has opened, for at your favorite provision store you will see several bushel boxes containing corn. Around these will be gathered customers. The salesman always takes an oath that the corn is fresh from the country. He sometimes tells you the very town. Then he proceeds to partly tear off the husks to show you that you are getting only the best. I have often wondered what became of the ears of corn that are tossed aside when this selective process is going on. All this is preliminary to something of recent occurrence which should interest eaters of corn on the cob—that great body of citizens including those who are not fearful of ruining the high-priced dental work that adorns the interior of their mouths. You may remember, that within a short time Massachusetts officially entertained a number of jurists from across the seas. We had King's Counsellors, Junior and Senior, barristers and solicitors, all neatly classified but looking very much the same. Their English cut clothes, their monocles, etc., were such as to make an impression on the casual observer, but their manners were what made the deepest feeling of admiration. They were gentlemanly in their conduct without a sign of snobbishness.

But—now is where corn on the cob comes in—they showed their conservatism in the matter of eating. At a luncheon in their honor some of the finest, choicest and most golden corn that could be found was admirably cooked and placed before them. Did they jump at it as we Americans would? Did they say, "Here's a typical American food which we must try"? They did not. They merely declined politely to indulge. Smearing butter and trying to keep one's face and hands free in the process of devouring the corn was an undertaking they refused to make. They simply passed it up. Now whether they were afraid to tackle corn on the cob with out having had experience—which I suspect was their true reason—or whether corn did not appeal to them I was unable to learn. Personally, I have an idea that they did not eat it for the very good reason that "at home it's not being done."

Here is another of those "It happened in Newton" incidents. Come to think of it, Newton people average the same as other human beings but because we meet them every day their interest in more than the residents of far distant places. Please do not get the notion that I am displaying my provincialism. If I have any, and I hope that I haven't, I certainly would not trot it out for exhibition purposes.

On the other hand I appreciate traits of character which sort of reestablish our faith in ourselves and when I find these traits right here in my own city I have to write about it. I wish I was free to divert the name of the individual but he would not allow it if I asked and to print it without permission would not be square.

However, believe me when I say this man has been successful in his profession and has accumulated a sufficient quantity of this world's goods to establish himself in an attractive city. And this leads up to the point of my story. Having obtained one house he looked out for a larger one for his own occupancy, planning to sell his present abode.

One of the places shown him was a comparatively new and completely equipped residence in a location that it seems to me would satisfy the most fastidious. The broker patted out the many wonderful features and then came to the most vital of all. He was ready to sell it at its assessed valuation because the owner had been forced to give it up.

"Here's a man wiped out by the stock market slump. He and his wife had made this their dream, but fortune was against them and they had to let it go. A great opportunity to buy a marvelous place cheap." Thus the broker argued.

The prospective buyer said, "This place represents the failure of husband and wife to fulfill their most cherished desires, does it?"

"I suppose so," the broker reluctantly admitted.

"And you expect me to take advantage of another man's misfortune?" "Well, it's business, isn't it," the broker pointed out.

"You can't sell it to me," said the professional man. "I wouldn't get a good night's sleep in a place that I got cheap through somebody's broken heart."

Shows how odd some folks can be in this busy world of "go-getters."

If there is a most propitious time to argue in favor of the convention system for the selection of political candidates it is right after the State primaries have been held. If you didn't take part in the campaign of the past few weeks you are not as tired of it all as those who did. Still, you must be a trifle weary of the noise, the speeches, the radio blasts, charges and counter-charges, etc.

Wait a minute—I am not arguing that you would escape all of this under a convention system, but you would have it reduced in volume. This scramble for party nominations, instead of taking place at a convention and among delegates, is now spread out over every city and town of the district. It is like an overflowing fountain. Oratory that should shoot upward like a glorious spray of clear and crystal truth, is running down the sides, over the sidewalks and into the gutters. In fact there is more of it in the gutters than anywhere else.

I contend that a primary candidate must spend in energy enough to carry a man half a lifetime to the attainment of some worthy and profitable career. In a few weeks the man wears himself to a frazzle, opens his pocket-book and leaves it open to the finish, has his loyal friends laboring in his behalf and races around and around seeking to convince the voters that he is the man who should be allowed to do the same thing all over again for the sake of his party.

As I see it the whole idea becomes an endurance test. The would-be candidate must show that he is a glad-hand mixer, a money spender, a glutton for loss of sleep, an orator and an executive and everything else. While he is thus displaying goods hundreds of others are doing the same thing. Each seeks to surpass the other in surviving a gruelling battle.

And the voters are put to an endurance test, too. They must stand by while all this is going on and try to convince themselves that it is the best form of representative government obtainable. Maybe it is, but I still insist that when they dumped overboard the old convention system years ago and thought they were doing a wonderful job they had no idea how terrible primary campaigns can be.

Not long ago a friend and I listened to a soap-box orator—one of those whose contact with soap appeared largely to have taken place after the box had been emptied. We had no idea how far wrong this country of ours had blundered until he enumerated the things that had happened and painted a picture of those that are certain to occur if something is not done.

What he had to say was little different from what has been said over and over again. He had a command of words that showed he had taken advantage of his public school training. His manner was intense—the kind that holds the strolling crowd, but his logic—ah, that was something else besides. Yet there were those who felt constrained to remark, "There's a good deal in what he says but I don't agree with him altogether."

Well, let's forget, for argument's sake the trend of the speaker's utterances and look into his person's side. That, after all, means a great deal and influences me as much as the loud voice and the positive manner. These latter used to impress me deeply when I was young, but I have heard too much speechmaking to take it for gospel. I want to know what is behind the speaker.

My friend, who is a persistent, daring and hard-boiled newspaperman, suggested we wait until the speech was concluded. It was asking a good deal, but I consented. Then my friend approached the orator with a few sharp questions. The latter, a youngish individual, was on his guard. He answered the questions put to him as if replying to some one in the audience. His manner convinced me right away that he was bluffing. You know, there are people who feel that by noisy tones they can clinch a point. He didn't get away with it, however.

My friend put him on the griddle. Asked him if his learning was not obtained through the public schools, if he worked anywhere and why he thought himself in a position to criticize statesmen, industrial leaders, the system of government, etc. He admitted he was a product of free schools, enjoyed the advantages of a free library, was given chances to earn money, but preferred not to be encumbered by duties of any kind and that the United States offered its common people more opportunities for advancement than any other country. When my friend had wrung admission after admission from the orator there was little substance left to the oratorical declarations. There are many of the same sort uttered every day and I regret to say, believed by foolish people.

Middlesex County Kennel Club To Hold Annual Dog Show Oct. 13th

Entries For Affair Planned for Y. M. C. A. Grounds Will Close Shortly

The premium lists of the Annual Fall Show of the Middlesex County Kennel Club to be held on the Columbus Day holiday, October 13th at the level and spacious grounds of the Y. M. C. A. in Newton, Mass., were mailed about a week ago to over three thousand potential exhibitors.

This show for a number of years has had constantly increasing entries and its size plus the late arrival of a number of exhibitors has delayed the final exercises of the event until after darkness has fallen.

This year in an endeavor to remedy these conditions, in order that the show may continue to be known as the Best One Day All Breed Show of the Fall Season, the club has selected an unusually large number of judges and has so apportioned the breeds that no one judge will be over-worked.

In addition to this there will be an increase of fifty percent in the number of show rings, so that now the final outcome of the show is wholly up to the exhibitors. If they will make their entries AT ONCE and come to the show promptly at the hour stated in the prize lists, there is no reason why their dogs cannot be judged and everybody be ready to go home at an early hour.

In order to still further bring about these most desirable conditions the club so far as possible has arranged its offerings of specials that the judge having once awarded his class prizes will be spared the necessity of again judging the same dogs in a series of different combinations in order to award a lot of specials which in the past have filled premium lists and catalogues. In this list the specials have been offered as far as possible to allow the judge to award them automatically without recalling certain dogs into the ring. All this means a great saving of time and energy for the judge and the American Kennel Club deserves the thanks of showing clubs for having recently promulgated a rule to this effect. Still the premium list shows a great many very liberal offerings both from the club itself and from many generous dog lovers and exhibitors who have combined with the club to offer a grand total of money and trophies which will be difficult to excel for a long time.

Twenty-one judges of well known ability in their respective breeds have consented to officiate at this event, and the best in the Show award will be made by another judge who will not have passed on any breed at this show. Mr. William Prescott Walcott, the well known sportsman, son of a former beloved governor of this state.

Mr. Walcott awarded the special prize for the best in the show at the Eastern Dog Club show at the Boston Garden last February, and won generous applause and respect for his award on that occasion.

To exhibitors we would ask attention to the following advice. Make your entries now, and if you have not received a premium list get in touch with Mr. T. E. L. Kemp by writing to P. O. Box 3293, Boston, at 12 Pearl street, Room 603, or to Bridge-water, Mass. Mr. Kemp, the secretary of the club, can be reached by phone at Hancock 1753, Centre Newton 1032, and Bridgewater 77-3. Although the regular closing date for entries was September 26th, entries may be received for a few days longer if you attend to the matter at once. A number of intending but disappointed exhibitors at recent shows of this and other clubs have only their own procrastination to thank for not getting into the catalogue before it went to press. So be warned, and enter now.

WANT NEWTON PEOPLE IN TERCENTENARY BALL

The police department has received a communication from the Tercentenary Ball Committee of Boston asking that representatives from Newton attend this affair at Boston Garden on the night of October 17th to appear in the Grand March in colonial costumes. Prizes will be awarded. Persons interested should communicate with Tercentenary Ball Committee, 80 Federal street, Boston.

EX-SERVICE MEN TO HAVE HOLIDAY

Mayor Weeks has ordered that any ex-service man in the employ of the City of Newton shall have a holiday with pay on October 7th, the date of the big Legion parade in Boston. Members of the American Legion in the employ of the city will be given an opportunity to attend the Legion activities on the other three days of the convention, if they desire to do so, but at no expense to the city.

Chaffin Trustees Ask For Action By City

Wish Latter To Buy Property For Library and Park

The trustees of the Chaffin Educational Fund have informed the City of Newton that they wish to dispose of the Chaffin estate on Vernon street not later than November 1st. Both the city and the members of Elliot Church, which adjoins the Chaffin property are interested in the disposition of the estate. The property will be offered to the city for $25,000 and Mayor Weeks will recommend to the Board of Aldermen that an appropriation be made to purchase it.

The Library Trustees desire the city to obtain the property and convert the residence on it into a Children's Library. On the estate is one of the most beautiful rose gardens in Greater Boston. It is the belief of many Newton people that this garden should be perpetuated, not only for the enjoyment of Newton residents, but as a fitting memorial to Mr. Chaffin, whose especial hobby it was. The barn on the property would be torn down.

Some years ago members of Elliot Church purchased the valuable parcel of property at the corner of Vernon and Centre streets and presented it to the city for park purposes. It was supposed at that time, that the Chaffin estate would be donated for park purposes and thus complete the park area which would include the entire block bounded by Centre, Church, Eldredge and Vernon streets. It would be deplorable to allow the Chaffin estate to be sold to private individuals for the purpose of speculative development. The money which would be paid by the city for the purchase of this property would be used to assist deserving Newton boys and girls to obtain college educations.

BOY BREAKS ARM

Herbert Swift, 9, son of Mrs. Ethel Swift of 408 rear, Centre street, Newton, broke his right arm last evening while playing with other children in the yard of his home. He was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

The Newton Theological Institution to date have registered 53 new students which is a larger number than last year's. A special program was arranged for the new students to acquaint them with the Seminary, the Faculty, the neighborhood and with the old students and surroundings. On Thursday night after a tour of the interesting parts of Newton a supper was given in Sturtevant Hall followed by a social time.

SET YOUR CLOCK BACK AN HOUR

If you do not want to find yourself an hour ahead of time when you arise Sunday morning, do not forget to set your clock back to Standard time before retiring on Saturday night.

Two o'clock Sunday morning is the official hour for the change in time in accordance with the Massachusetts Daylight Saving Law which has been in effect the past five months.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

It seems too bad that the excellent surface recently placed on Centre street should be spoiled by the trenches which have been dug lately on this thoroughfare. We have received complaints about the way in which these trenches have been filled in. Depressions exist which should be resurfaced properly without further delay. These depressions are dangerous to traffic.

The merchants at Newton Corner are properly complaining about the ignoring of their rights by autoists who park on Saturday nights over the time limit set for that night. Repeated tagging does not deter some of those who show no consideration for the storekeepers. Persons who park their cars in restricted parking areas over the time limit on Saturday nights should be brought into court.

Andrew Schwer, favorably known to residents of this city as a caterer, has purchased the Holmberg ice cream and candy store at 397 Washington street, Newton, and will be pleased to see his many patrons as well as those who have not, as yet, become acquainted with the excellence of his products.

The Waltham Chamber of Commerce held a conference Wednesday afternoon at which were present representatives of the cities of Waltham and Newton. Petitions will be circulated in Waltham, Wellesley, Weston and Newton seeking relief from the Legislature to end the obnoxious condition at the Charles River. A study will be made of the amount of water flowing from the upper river and that passing from the basin to the section below Moody street. The rights of those claiming riparian privileges will be investigated, as well as the rights of the people living in the communities mentioned above.

Band Is Presented To Local Legion Post

Over a Thousand Attend Colorful Event at Armory

On Thursday evening, September 18, 1930, the State Armory in West Newton was crowded to the doors to witness the official presentation of the newly organized Legion Band to the Post. Over one thousand Legionnaires their relatives and friends witnessed one of the most colorful events in the history of the Local Post.

The armory was decorated with the National Colors and the Legion colors of blue and gold, the stage being banked with flowers and potted plants. The ushers were in charge of John Geraci, sergeant-at-arms of Newton Post.

The band was presented by Harold D. Ames, its organizer and manager. Mr. Ames in his presentation explained that four months ago this band was organized, that over ninety percent of the members had never played an instrument before, and that each and every member of the band had purchased his own instrument and music, and that the total investment for instruments and music was over five thousand dollars. There are at the present time seventy four members in the band, and it is expected that the band will later be increased to one hundred pieces.

R. John Henderson, Commander of Newton Post No. 48, accepted the band on behalf of the Post, and congratulated the members for the work which they were doing to promote the principles of the American Legion.

The band gave a concert under the direction of its bandmaster, Charles M. Clark, and Manager Harold D. Ames was presented with a Legion Ring by the band, the presentation being made by Edward Cannon, former sergeant in Company C, 101st Infantry. Thomas Cummings, the tallest member of the Newton Police Department, is the drum major of the band.

Among the invited guests and speakers for the evening were Mayor Sinclair Weeks, Speaker of the House Leverett Saltonstall, Richard Paul, Department Commander of the American Legion, Past Commander Stoddard of Charles Ward Post No. 62, G. A. R., Rev. Fr. William J. Farrell, hero chaplain of the Yankee Division, Mrs. Agnes Henriksen president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Senator Arthur Hollis, Representative William Baker, Chief of Police Michael Hughes, Public Building Commissioner, Cecil W. Chadwick, members of the Board of Aldermen, and city officials.

At the close of the meeting the newly organized double quartette, composed of Henry Dath, Roland H. Allen, Arthur Rogers, Dr. Thomas F. Dowd, Ernest P. Butler, Frank W. Meakin, Herbert W. Gleim, and Amos McDuff, sang the Star Spangled Banner.

The band is endeavoring to secure one of the many prizes being offered for the National Convention Parade to be held in Boston on October 7, 1930. The Newton Band is the largest all Legion Band in the State, and will appear in the parade as "The Pride of the Garden City."

The officers of the band are Harold D. Ames, manager, Edward R. Ennis, secretary, Dr. Thomas F. Dowd, treasurer, Charles M. Clark, bandmaster, Frank W. Meakin, assistant bandmaster, Thomas Cummings drum major, Robert L. Cunningham, librarian, Russell Viles, custodian, and Francis J. Barry, publicity manager.

TRUCKS DRIVEN CAREFULLY

The report of the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety for the month of August has been issued and shows that several fleets of trucks in this city were operated last month without having had any accidents. Among the truck fleets in Newton so cited are those of Burnham Brothers, C. F. Eddy Coal Company, R. S. Hill Coal Company, Crystal Lake Ice Company and John A. Janse.

New Court House Not To Be Made Part Of Civic Group At "Triangle"

To Remain In West Newton As Result of Action Of Aldermen On Mayor Weeks' Recommendation

The meeting of the Aldermen last Monday night had but a short docket to consider, but a few matters of importance were acted upon. One of these was the location of the proposed new court house. The Aldermen, as a committee of the whole went into conference to discuss this matter and were given information by Mr. Chas. B. Willis representing Allen & Collins, architects of the new City Hall and War Memorial and by Mr. Ralph Henry of the Citizens Advisory Committee who was asked to be present and give expert advice on this problem.

As a result of this conference the Board, when it reassembled in the aldermanic chamber to continue the regular meeting voted to accept the following recommendation from Mayor Weeks:—

"To the Honorable Board of Aldermen:

"Conferences which I have had with the Aldermanic and Citizens War Memorial and City Hall committees, and study of the comprehensive architect's sketches, have led me to recommend to these committees that the Court House should not be made a part of the Newton Civic Group, and these committees have unanimously approved my recommendation.

"Therefore, I respectfully request that your Honorable Board relieve me of the responsibility of carrying out your resolution of August 4, 1930, which requested me as follows:

"To take such steps as he deems advisable looking toward the selection of the 'Triangle' site by the County Commissioners as the location for the new Court House."

Respectfully yours,
SINCLAIR WEEKS,
Mayor.

As a result of this action on the part of the Mayor and Aldermen, it is definitely settled that the new court house will be located in West Newton, Police Headquarters will also be located there. The proposed new City Hall and War Memorial, as shown in the preliminary sketches of the architects are so designed that their beauty and effectiveness would be spoiled by the intrusion of a court house building on the triangle site.

No persons appeared to express opposition when hearings were announced on the petitions of the Edison and Telephone Companies for 10 pole locations on Morse and Whitney roads and Blake street, Newtonville; Noble & Nutting for a 3 car garage permit at 94 Hammondswood road; Marie Kirby for a permit to build a 3 car garage at 40 Myrtle avenue, Auburndale. A written protest was received from Catherine C. Hurley against a permit being given to Robert Weir to build a 4 car garage at 1255 Centre street, Newton Centre.

On the hearing to lay out and accept Lincoln road, from Crafts street to Shamrock street, Alfred Guzzi, representing Larry Tramontozzi, spoke in favor.

The resignation of Alderman Arthur Mansfield of Ward 1 was read, and accepted with regret. Mr. Mansfield has moved to Melrose to engage in the publishing of a newspaper there.

On the recommendation of the Licenses Committee permits were granted to Alston Burr to install a 500 gallon tank for storage of gasoline at 206 Chestnut Hill road, Chestnut Hill; George E. Taylor to erect a 3 car garage at 693 Beacon street; Edward Dresser, relocation of 2 car garage at 15 Metacombet road, Waban; garage permit with waiver of setback to John Hanson, 112 Newtonville avenue; pole location on Albemarle road to Edison Company; permit for 500 gallons gasoline tank at California street, Nantum; Ellen Sullivan, change of location, intelligence to 1357a Washington street West Newton.

The appointment of Captain Michael Hughes as Chief of Police was unanimously confirmed by the Board. An appropriation was also made to allow for the promotion of Inspector Richard Goode from rank of Lieutenant to that of Captain. Inspector Goode has headed the detective bureau for some years and has performed very effective work. In his new rank certain functions will be delegated to him which will expedite the work of the detective bureau of the department and correspondingly free the Chief of Police from having to attend to detail work.

Appropriations made included $6322 to construct a culvert for Hammond Brook near Pleasant street, Newton Centre, $125 for hire of a temporary clerk in the Water Department, $1000 to erect a wire fence alongside the athletic field on Hull street, $225 for canvas panels for this fence, $950 for a sidewalk on Hull street adjoining the athletic field, $31,621 for the construction of a sewer and drain in the Edmonds Valley section.

Another application from John Donnelly & Sons for billboard locations was turned down by the Board. The locations asked for this time were on top of the one-story building at Newton Corner where the Alpine Restaurant and other stores are located.

Certificates of character were granted to several Newton men who are organizing the Middlesex League. The purpose of this new body is to "aid in furthering the principles of the Republican Party, and assist in selecting and electing Republican candidates for office." Charles E. Hatfield is president of the League; Arthur W. Hollis and Robert T. Bushnell are members of the executive committee.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Smith and accepted by the Board authorizing the Mayor and City Solicitor to seek Legislation which will improve conditions at the Charles River at Auburndale, by preventing private corporations from lowering the level of the water, as is the condition at present.

Appropriations totalling $23,363 were made to construct and accept the following streets under the Betterment Law—Lincoln road, Adena road, Davis avenue, Jerome avenue, Mague avenue, Mague place, Thomas street, Higgins street, Park lane.

NEWTONVILLE MAN HONORED

The office of Mr. Frank L. Nagle was made a bower of flowers last Saturday to recognize the fact that he had completed fifty years of service in textile advertising. Mr. Nagle started as office boy for the Textile Record, a predecessor of the Textile World, of which Mr. Nagle is now chairman of the board and the dean of trade journal publications of the country.

New York friends and associates of Mr. Nagle also noted the event by presenting him with a handsome Tiffany gold watch.

Governor Allen says:

"The Co-operative Banks in this Commonwealth are essentially thrift-promoting, home-building institutions. They accumulate the savings of frugal people and loan these accumulations to members who wish to buy or build a home. At the last annual report our co-operative banks had more than five hundred thousand members of whom three hundred fifty thousand are non-borrowing shareholders, and one hundred forty-two thousand had real estate loans which averaged only $3,500. Thrift teaches self-denial, temperance and simple living. Home ownership allays unrest, establishes contentment and stimulates ambition. Upon these undeniable truths rest the principles of our co-operative banks and they have withstood the tests of more than fifty years."

(Signed) FRANK G. ALLEN.

For forty-two years the Watertown Co-operative Bank has served thrifty people and home owners until today it is the third largest in the state.

START PLAYGROUND FOOTBALL SUNDAY

The Newton Playground Amateur Football League will open its season on Sunday with three games on the schedule. Six teams comprise the league which will play thirty games, each team meeting the other five twice, at home and away. All games except on Thanksgiving Day will be played on Sundays. NEWTON OPENS AT MALDEN TOMORROW

The 1930 Newton High School football team will open its season tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 in the Pearl Street Stadium at Malden with Malden High School and from every indication has a far better chance to come home with the bacon than last year when the two teams rung up the football curtain at Clinch Field. The reasons for this are apparent. Last year Malden came to Newton with a largely veteran team which in its first game a week previous had rolled up a large score against the Lynn General Electric Apprentices School team. Many of Malden's regulars of a year ago are graduated, especially its powerful backfield and some strength in the line. Last Saturday Malden opened its season against the Revere High School team and considers itself fortunate to win by the smallest possible football score, 2 to 0. For the greater part of the game Malden was outplayed by its visitors. The winning safety came indirectly as the result of a 15-yard penalty which gave Malden the ball on Revere's six-yard line. A Malden forward pass was grounded over the goal line and gave the visitors the ball on their 20-yard stripe. A pass from the centre went sailing over quarterback Lack's head and he recovered the ball for a safety as the final play of the game. Malden's escape from a scoreless tie could not have been closer. Unless Malden has learned a lesson from last week's game that will raise the standard of its play considerably they may find another surprise ahead.

But despite the apparent difference in the Malden eleven from that of a year ago when Newton did not have a chance Newton will have its work cut out although looking for better than the 1929 outfit at this time. The local eleven needs three things—first, the confidence that victory is within reach; second, union of action; third, an aggressive "never-say-die" spirit. The first comes from knowledge of and ability to use the power they have. The second comes largely from experience and the third is an inner characteristic that is brought to the service by love for the game.

At present Newton has an untied outfit one that is built around a few players with some experience, just how far it can go is a matter of time to reveal. Unquestionably it has more power than the 1929 outfit, it has slightly more experience, and it has more aggressiveness. All this was shown in a practice game with Wellesley last Tuesday, which the orange and black won 19 to 12. But the outstanding weakness of the team on Tuesday was its raggedness along with other minor faults of individual tenor. Unless injuries or low marks deprive the orange and black of several of its promising players Coach Sullivan has a team in the making that shows possibilities.

Tomorrow's game will be the first test and we will not be surprised at the outcome—one way or the other. We have tried to outline the possibilities but so much depends on what Newton will do and on what Malden has gained from its last week's lesson that no prediction is justified. While it would probably surprise many school-boy football fans to have Newton win it could not be considered an upset.

Coach Sullivan sent the following eleven players on the field against Wellesley but substitutions were frequent so that every one of the thirty men on the squad was given a chance to show his ability—Hildreth, 154, lb.; Gowell, 171, lb.; Vasilotti, 154, lb.; Patterson, 135, c.; Gullian, 149, rg; Colligan, 196, rt; Bartley, 148, rg; Capt.

Strombom, 141, qb; Elrod, 155, lbh; Shorten, 134, rlb; Litchfield, 163, fb. Newton received the kickoff and scored its first touchdown after less than a half dozen plays. Strombom ran the kickoff back fifteen yards. Elrod went through left tackle for about twenty-five yards before he was brought down by the safety man. Another two plays and a little more distance was gained before Shorten tossed a 15-yard forward pass to Litchfield who raced twenty yards for the score. A pass for the point was incomplete. Wellesley had possession of the ball most of the remainder of the first period but on the final play Shorten recovered a Wellesley fumble at midfield.

Early in the second period Newton kicked and Wellesley marched the ball to Newton's nine yard line on a series of deceptive plays in which the Newton players were drawn out of position. They failed to make the point so the score was tied at 6 all. Newton received the kickoff again with Litchfield running the ball back twenty yards. Blackler, who had replaced Elrod who received a painful but minor hip bruise, made several gains before he was forced to kick. A short while later Newton had the ball again and Blackler and Layton, who had replaced Strombom, made it first down on the Wellesley thirty yard line. Another forward pass from Shorten to Litchfield scored the second touchdown. A pass from Blackler to Layton with the latter making a pretty catch in order to complete it, scored the point. Score Newton 13—Wellesley 6.

Early in the second half Wellesley scored again. Later another Newton threat was stopped and Blackler kicked to the one yard line. Wellesley carried the ball up the field again and a successful long forward pass put them deep in Newton territory. Newton held and took the ball on downs on their own 25-yard line. At the beginning of the final period Coach Sullivan had sent in the so-called first team again with the exception of Elrod and Strombom in the backfield. Blackler made six yards and Litchfield fifteen on tackle plays. A pass from Shorten was completed by Litchfield and the ball was again in Wellesley territory. Blackler reeled off a gain of twenty yards and Layton made twelve more on a punter play to bring the ball to the five-yard line. Litchfield cut the distance in two on a line buck and then Layton went over easily on another similar play. Litchfield missed a dropkick for the point and the final score was 19 to 12.

In addition to the offensive players who stood out there were several who stood out on the defence. Foremost of these were Bob Patterson at centre and George Hildreth at end. Patterson, although weighing but 135, bids fair to hold up the aggressive style of play that has characterized the Newton pivot players in the past and which includes such centres as Frank

UPPER FALLS WINS TWI-LEAGUE TITLE

By defeating the Hopedale Club of Allston, second half champions, at Upper Falls last Saturday in a 6 to 5 game the Upper Falls A. C. first half champions, won the first title in the Twi-League. It was the local team's fourth victory in the seven-game playoff series for the championship, Allston winning three.

The locals had one big inning, the fourth, in which a savage batting rally and wildness on the part of Ed Whalen, Allston pitcher, drove him from the mound in a rally during which all of the six runs were scored. Allston had taken the lead in the first inning with a three-run rally with Graham in the box for Upper Falls. Russell relieved him and kept the remainder of the visitors eleven total hits well-scattered. Hopedale made a plucky fight to get back into the game with a run in the eighth and another in the ninth. In the latter frame after the run was in there were two on base and two out. Kelliher, Newton right fielder, saved the game with a shoe string catch of a Texas leaguer in his territory for the final out.

Strombom, 141, qb; Elrod, 155, lbh; Shorten, 134, rlb; Litchfield, 163, fb. Newton received the kickoff and scored its first touchdown after less than a half dozen plays. IN THE SCHOLASTIC FOOTBALL WORLD

The 1930 schoolboy football season was ushered in last Saturday with six of the nine Newton high opponents this fall playing their initial contests. As mentioned in another column Malden High, the orange and black's first opponent in tomorrow's game, won out from Revere, 2 to 0, on the last play of the game. Medford was forced to the limit by Wakefield in a 6 to 0 victory and Quincy High's forward passing combination of Brown to Young was directly responsible for the Granite City team's 13 to 0 victory over Abington High. Everett and Worcester Trade, with both teams exhibiting considerable power, battled to a scoreless tie. Cambridge Latin and Somerville, two other Suburban league members, both took it on the chin from their opponents. Salem dazzled Coach Leander MacDonald's Cantab eleven to the tune of 25 to 0 while Nashua High turned back the Dickerman outfit 7 to 0 with Somerville never getting inside the New Hampshire eleven's thirty yard line.

Waltham and Rindge will get under way tomorrow while Brookline, as in former years does not open its season until the first Saturday in October. Waltham should have little trouble in defeating Watertown high as the latter has been weakened immeasurably by the loss of all of its veterans because of the recent strike. The school authorities have forbidden all athletes who took part in the strike from extra curricula activities until December first. Despite the loss of these veterans and the probable loss of Captain Johnson, who did not take part in the strike but may attend prep school this fall, Coach

Ward is working with a small squad of inexperienced but willing players. Although several of the schoolboy teams opened their season last Saturday tomorrow is the big day. Practically every high school in the state will be in action as well as several of the New England colleges.

The day's headline will be at Brockton with Medford furnishing the opposition while the Newton-Malden contest will not be far behind as an attraction. Somerville will try to score its first victory of the season against Arlington while Quincy will attempt to make it two straight against Melrose although the latter is a slight favorite. Everett will entertain the Providence Commercial School eleven and should not meet with much difficulty. Rindge will play at Peabody and the outcome is more or less of a toss-up as both teams are playing their first game of the year. This afternoon Boston College High will play Cambridge Latin at Russell field and the Cantabs will be out to redeem themselves for their 25 to 0 beating last Saturday by Salem.

SPORT NOTES

Richard K. Hapgood and Everett Scheinfain, former Newton High school athletes are both candidates for the Brown freshman football team which began practice this week. Hapgood is a line candidate and prepared for Brown at Newton and Cushing Academy where he was prominent in athletics. Scheinfain is a former Newton high captain and end and attended Bridgton Academy for two years where he was also prominent athletically. Hapgood is also the son of E. G. Hapgood, one-time Bruin great, and the brother of Ernest Hapgood, Jr., present Brown line star.

Clark Scores Twice

In the practice scrimmage at Dartmouth yesterday afternoon Len Clark of Newton Highlands scored both of the varsity's two touchdowns on forward passes from his halfback mate, Shep Wolff. Clark also added one point by drop kick after one of the touchdowns.

THE MISSES ALLEN SCHOOL WEST NEWTON, MASS.

In a quiet part of West Newton there stands the Allen home where the Misses Allen established a school for girls twenty-five years ago. The beauty of the grounds outside typifies the note of refinement in life, which pervades the school atmosphere. The house has been the home of education for years, and the family name brings back the fame of the first classical school for boys and girls, established by Miss Allen's father.

The Misses Allen School was opened with the idea of working out educational ideals of the highest type for women. Miss Lucy E. Allen has specialized in history, literature, and art; and has written and lectured on these subjects. Her own education in her father's school was enriched by two years abroad, while her father was investigating educational problems for our government. After graduation from Smith College, Miss Allen traveled extensively in our country and abroad. She spends her summers in Europe, continuing her study of art, history, and of all international work.

Miss Allen has held offices and been in active membership in the Twentieth Century Club, the College Club, the Association of University Women, the Smith Club, etc. She has been actively connected with all associations which are working for international friendship and the uplift of humanity.

This wide interest and broad outlook brings a rare influence into the school.

Her deep interest in each girl and the desire for her true development pervades the atmosphere of the school. The faculty, of College graduates, are carefully chosen for cooperation in these ideals. The limited number of pupils (forty) gives an opportunity for that personal touch and individual attention which insures success.

The graduates are fitted for any college, or higher institution, and have passed the Board Examinations with marked success. Excellent records of the work accomplished, and of the fellowships and honors received in college, have been the result of the training and the influence in this school.—Advertisement.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

In this column last week we commented on the Butler-Draper contest in this city. Among other things we said—"The American Legion was brought into the fray in the interest of Draper." By making this statement we unwittingly placed in a false light the band, recently organized, which is composed of members of the American Legion which forbids all the members of this band are members of the Legion, as an organization, its affairs are conducted independently of the Legion Band did participate in the principal Draper rally held in Newton. But they did not violate the rule of the American Legion which forbids that organization indulging in partisan politics. The band's participation in the Draper rally was a professional engagement for which compensation was received. The band would have played at a Butler rally or at rallies for the Democratic candidates had it been hired to do so.

Musical organizations, whether instrumental or vocal, are decided assets to any community, and the band of Newton Post deserves more than ordinary commendation. It is composed of 76 members of Newton Post, 90 per cent of whom had no knowledge of band instruments when they started to receive instructions a few months ago. The men in the band, most of whom are workmen with but small incomes, not only have sacrificed their time in assiduously studying music and learning to play, but also have, on the average, paid $150 each for instruments and uniforms. Instruments purchased by the members of the band have cost $7000 and uniforms $3000. Such expenditures of money entailed considerable sacrifice on the part of the men, but they refrained from seeking any outside aid.

We listened to the first rehearsal of the band held at City Hall Annex a few months ago. As we heard the weird conglomeration of noises produced by the novice bandmen in their first attempt, we predicted that they would be unable to make sufficient progress in the short period intervening before the big Legion parade on October 7th to play in that event. But, under the skilful direction of Manager Harold D. Ames and his assistants, the band's members have made very rapid progress and have shown ability to perform creditably weeks before the day of the "big parade."

We have, on at least two occasions, commended the band in this column. So we regret that any statement of under the skilful direction of Manager Harold D. Ames and his assistants, the band's members have made very rapid progress and have shown ability to perform creditably weeks before the day of the "big parade."

patriotic and musical activities of this city.

There may be some among the thousands of automobile owners in Newton who will enthrone over the annual increases in the cost of compulsory liability insurance. But, most car owners in this city will agree with Governor Allen that the increases are not justified. And many of us would have gone further than the Governor and would have taken drastic measures to stop the impositions which are being placed on the great majority of autoists in Massachusetts.

Just so long as the insurance companies are allowed to continually increase the rates, just so long will these companies continue the practice they have indulged in since compulsory insurance was established in this Commonwealth. The practice of paying thousands of fake claims in order to avoid litigation. It is common to avoid litigation that these have been, and is, systematic gouging of the automobile owners of Massachusetts by unprincipled persons, dishonest physicians and shyster lawyers, who connive to obtain payments of damages from insurance companies. And many of those who have been guilty of receiving compensation for fake injuries are citizens who hold their heads high, and who would start libel suits if called "thieves." And some of the doctors and lawyers who have conspired in engineering the spurious claims for liability insurance awards, profess to be friends of those who must pay more and more in insurance premiums to raise the funds with which these fake claims are settled.

There are persons who pose as "regular fellows" but who have not hesitated to seek, and obtain, considerable sums of money as insurance compensation for injuries which didn't even exist in their imaginations. These same individuals would froth at the mouth if placed in the same category with pickpockets. We have more respect for the pickpocket. He is taking a large chance of being detected and imprisoned. And usually he doesn't pose as a respectable citizen.

We agree with Frank Goodwin that the proposition to gauge liability insurance rates according to a demerit system is positively impractical, and unfair. Many persons who have been in automobile accidents were absolutely not to blame. But, if they were not fortunate enough to have had witnesses, they became the "goats" when the other party involved had perjuring witnesses. And what about all those autoists who are blameless in accidents, but who are made to appear guilty when the company in which they are insured will make some settlement rather than fight in court? What about the big investigation of shyster lawyers and "ambulance chasers" which was to have been started a couple of years ago?

The "system used in fixing automobile insurance rates is about as clear to the average man as Einstein's theory of relativity. We operate a car with a motor which is rated at 18 horsepower. This car is placed in Class X and the insurance rate on it for Newton is $37. Some of the cars in Class W have motors considerably more powerful, motors which are officially rated at a higher horsepower. Yet, they are classified by the insurance experts of this Commonwealth as being lesser hazards on our highways and the insurance rate on them is $32. Funny, isn't it?

AMERICAN WAR MOTHERS

A meeting will be held on Saturday, Sept. 27th, at Hotel Statler, at 10 o'clock in the morning. Chapters from Worcester, Gloucester, Cambridge and Boston will meet and install their officers and at 2 p. m. delegates will convene to elect and install State officers, thereby completing the Massachusetts State Chapter.

All mothers of Massachusetts are invited to attend and enroll. Gold Star mothers whose sons or daughters made the supreme sacrifice—Silver Star mothers, those whose sons and daughters were wounded in service, and the Blue Star mothers whose sons and daughters came safely back to them make up this wonderful national organization who do their part throughout the country to bring needed help and cheer to the veterans and their families.

These groups at times being where there are no other patriotic organizations to carry on, and in all cases it is with a mother's sympathy and understanding that they serve.

Mrs. Corabelle G. Francis of Newton was appointed Massachusetts State organizer and hopes for many local chapters to be formed throughout the state, following completion of State chapter.

Mrs. Virgil McClure of Lexington, Ky., National President of American War Mothers will be in Boston in October attending the A. L. Aux. convention, as one of their distinguished guests and will bring the greeting of American War Mothers to the Convention Monday evening, Oct. 6th.

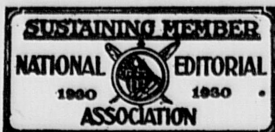

On Friday evening, Oct. 10th, the new Massachusetts Chapter of American War Mothers will hold an informal meeting in the Hotel Statler at 8 o'clock to which all who wish to meet Mrs. McClure are cordially invited.

During the past few weeks we have frequently maintained that the younger generation, who have become of voting age since prohibition took effect, have no idea of the conditions surrounding the liquor traffic prior to prohibition. We have recently talked with an intelligent man of 35 years of age, who said that he only retained a hazy idea of the use of liquor before prohibition. It stands to reason, therefore, that there should be a strong effort made to inform these younger voters regarding the many and various plans of former years to control the use and sale of intoxicating liquors. It is safe to say that almost every experiment under the sun has been tried and found wanting so far as the liquor traffic is concerned, and the liquor interests have always evaded or openly violated the law. Present day conditions are far better than they were forty years ago. We trust the younger voters will not be misled by offers of improved (?) conditions by reverting to outworn methods.

Twenty years ago, after witnessing the nomination for a Republican state senator made by drawing a name from a hat after over a hundred unsuccessful ballots had been cast at a convention, we were convinced that the direct primary was the only remedy for such conditions and did what we could to bring about the present primary law. It did not take many years however, to learn that the direct primary was far from being a panacea for nomination troubles and the primary of last week only emphasized that belief. Can any sensible voter believe for one moment that a party convention could have produced such unfortunate (not to say more emphatic) nominations as that of Burrell for state treasurer or Cook for state auditor?

The failure of the recent Republican primary to nominate suitable candidates for the minor state offices should cause our political leaders to seriously study the matter. We suggest that the Short ballot, so called, might be well worth consideration. A ballot of this kind would give the electorate the right to vote for officers who determine the principles which should be followed by the state or nation and have the minor offices of administration either appointed by the governor or elected by the Legislature.

No better disposition can be made of the site of the old engine house at Newton Corner, than to use it for a public convenience or comfort station. The alley ways and places in the rear of buildings in the vicinity of Nonantum square are most unsanitary and the board of health should take immediate steps to remedy the present conditions.

Congratulations to our fellow citizen, Mr. Frank L. Nagle, on the completion of fifty years in textile advertising.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

The number of patients in the hospital is still running low, the census on September 20th, reaching only 126. Of this number 43 paid as much as cost of care, or more, 54 paid less than cost of care, and 29, including babies, were treated free of charge. 10 babies were born, 6 boys and 4 girls. 156 visits were made to the out-patient department. 13 accident cases were admitted to the accident ward. 7 patients were transported by the social service car.

On the 15th five accident cases were admitted to the hospital. Three of them were boys; one with a bruised ankle the result of being struck by an automobile, one with a puncture wound in his forearm caused by a sharp piece of glass, and one for a laceration of his cheek caused when he fell from his tricycle. The other patients treated on the same day were men: one with a laceration over his eye, and one with burns of his face. On the 16th three patients were treated: two men and a girl. One man was treated for a laceration of his scalp caused when he fell downstairs, and one for an injury to his abdomen caused when he was struck by a fire-hose. One girl was treated for a nose-bleed. On the 17th a boy was treated for a piece of sneaker rubber in his ear. On the 20th one girl was treated for a laceration under her right eye caused when she was hit in the face by a swing, and a man was treated for a laceration to his right thumb. On the 21st two patients were admitted: one a man suffering from abrasions of both arms and of his hip, caused when he fell off a truck, and the other patient a boy suffering from concussion of the brain caused when he jumped from the running board of a car.

The annual tennis tournament between the Newton, Mass. General, Peter Bent Brigham, and Deaconess Hospitals was played this week. The finals of the Newton tournament, to determine the players against the Mass. General in the semi-finals, were played at Newton on Monday. The contenders were Miss Constance Hart of Jamaica, B.W.I., and Miss Mary Ann Kay, of Hopedale, Mass. Miss Hart won from Miss Kay, 7-5, 6-0. In the doubles Miss Hart and Miss Kay won from Miss Anna McElenny, of Newton, and Miss Frances E. Metcalfe, of Andover, 6-3, 6-0. On Tuesday the tournament semi-finals were played: Newton vs. Mass. General at Newton, and Peter Bent Brigham vs. Deaconess at Boston. At Newton the players and students from both schools enjoyed a picnic supper following the match. As these items go to press too early to report the results of the semi-finals and finals, they will have to be recorded next week.

On Monday evening, September 22nd, the regular staff met at the hospital. The subjects presented at the meeting were Electrocardiography by Dr. W. D. Reid, and five cases of Angerulocytic Angina presented by Dr. S. C. Dahymple.

Odd Beliefs Current

Among Early Settlers

When Milwaukee was very young, its population consisted largely of those who came from Europe, although New England and Canada furnished considerable quotas. Most of the immigrants came from the British Isles, Germany and the Scandinavian countries. Many brought with them superstitions and so-called wise cracks, though they weren't so called then.

Some of our first Norwegian sailors insisted that thunder was the voice of the Almighty. They said that if you joked about thunder you would incur wrath.

It is said that Frenchmen who were here with Solomon Juneau insisted that burnt brandy would stunt a dog's growth and that in this way poodles and rat terriers were originally created.

The Irish believed smoking a clay pipe would cure earache; a wooden one wouldn't help.

The evil eye notion came with our first immigrants from southern Europe. Even today ill luck is attributed by some of them to the fact that an enemy gave them the evil eye.

An early day Pennsylvania Dutchman, living on the West side, used to say, "Repeat the Lord's prayer backward outdoors on a dark night and you'll see the devil."—Milwaukee Journal.

Egyptian Ruler Thought

to Have Record Reign

It is believed that the reign of Pepi II of the sixth Egyptian dynasty is the longest on record. According to James Henry Breasted, Pepi II ascended the throne of Egypt about 2566 B. C., when he was only six years old, and reigned 91 years. Some of the ancient writers estimate the length of this reign as high as 100 years. The reign of Louis XIV of France is the second longest on record. He ascended the throne in 1643 at the age of five and reigned until his death in 1715—a period of 72 years. Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary reigned nearly 69 years—1848 to 1916. Queen Victoria reigned longer than any other English sovereign—64 years. She ascended the throne in 1837 and reigned until her death in 1901. Henry III of England reigned from 1216 to 1272—a period of 56 years. The reign of Pedro II of Brazil was also a long one. He was emperor from 1831 to 1889—58 years.

Reveals Crocodile's Age

Even the big-game hunters of Africa, most of whom are deploring the disappearance of the country's game, have little to say in defense of the crocodile. They are vicious and destructive and valuable animals are liable to wander within reach of a "croc" without observing the latter's presence. Buffalo cannot escape. They are caught in the great jaws and dragged under the water and their bodies stocked in a "larder" under the banks until such time as the crocodile is in need of food. The stories of their long life is questioned by some but in the interior of one killed was found a bead of a kind not seen in the protectorate for at least 150 years; it was one of those used by the Stuart companies to barter for ivory and gold slaves. Some indication of age!

Fire-Resistance

The word fireproof is probably a less appropriate term than fire-resistant. Buildings can be constructed so that they can withstand a complete burning out of contents without any collapse of structural members. There will, of course, be damage to finish and trim. They can also be constructed to withstand exposures from fires in adjacent buildings without communicating fire to the inside of the building, although here again there may be damage to facing material and window glass and shutters. Fire-resistant buildings greatly decrease the destructiveness of fires in providing less opportunity for fires to start, less likelihood of rapid spread, greater ease of extinguishment, and less hazard to neighboring structures.

Philosophy of Error

A responsible public board was charged with making errors in judgment by critics. It was charged that this board had over a period of years made a number of mistakes.

To this, one of the men thus attacked, answered, "There are only three types of persons who never make mistakes: The liar, because he never admits them; the fool, because he doesn't know when he makes them; and, thirdly, the oyster, because he never does anything."

"We do not think we are either fools, liars or oysters. No one engaging in a large enterprise can foresee everything. Sometimes hindsight is better than foresight."—Boston Globe.

Henry Hudson

Henry Hudson made four notable voyages to America from 1607 in search of a northeastern passage to China and latterly a northwestern one. He explored the coasts of Spitzbergen and Nova Zembla, the Hudson river and Hudson strait and bay. He wintered in the bay, in 1610-11, at the foot of James bay, and on his return voyage was set adrift with eight companions in a small boat and never again heard of. "Of all the dark mysteries of the merciless ocean, no mystery lies wrapped in deeper shadow than that which hangs over the fate of Hudson."

POLICE NEWS

An elderly man and four youths from Oak Square and Allston were arrested last Friday on Kendrick street, Newton charged with drunkenness. The group was having such a hilarious time that residents on the street telephoned Police Headquarters and officers were sent to the scene of the disturbance. In the Newton court last Saturday their cases were placed on file.

As a result of the appointment and confirmation of Captain Michael Hughes as Chief of the Newton Police Department, several promotions were made in the department by the new chief on Wednesday. Inspector Richard Goode was advanced from the rank of Lieutenant to Captain; Lieutenant Joseph Seaver was advanced to Captain, to succeed Captain Hughes; Sergeant Nicholas Veducio was promoted to Lieutenant; Special Officer Thomas Burke was promoted to sergeant.

Edward Smith, 17, of 9 Winthrop avenue and a 14 year old boy residing on the Pine street will appear in the Newton court today charged with pulling a false alarm from Box 19 last Sunday night at 8:15. Patrolman McGuire is the complainant. The box, located at Bellevue and Summit streets, near the Mount Ida School brings many pieces of apparatus.

Trees Had Tenants

Woodmen cutting down two ancient elms at Lindley Wood, near Nuneaton, England, made two unusual discoveries. In the first tree they cut through a swarm of bees, which were so effective in their protests against being disturbed that the woodmen had to abandon their work. When the second tree was felled a nest of young rabbits was revealed in the stump.

Feline Beasts of Prey

There are at least 50 species of the cat family widely distributed throughout the world. They embrace the most powerful living beasts of prey, including the lion, tiger, leopard, ounce, jaguar, puma and cheetah, as well as lynxes, wildcats and other small carnivores.

Pansy an Importation

The commercial pansy of today is a development of a small flower native to Europe, variously named. It is a direct descendant of the heart-ease of the English gardens and the Johnny jump-up, and was probably brought to the United States by the earlier settlers.

WILD CAT INVADERS NEWTON CORNER

A black and white cat ambled into the business section of Newton Corner shortly before 4 o'clock Wednesday morning. Fears are being constantly expressed that wild animal life is rapidly becoming extinct, but the species of wild life of which the specimen which meandered onto Centre street was a member, persists despite terrific ravages among its kind by automobiles. The intrepid, but stupid seganku which strolled through a narrow alley between the Whitman Building and the building adjoining, also bit the dust because of the persistence and agility of Patrolman Charles Marden.

The policeman was on duty at Nomanum square when he spied the intruder in front of the Whitman Building on Centre street. He borrowed a broom from Michael Cody of the Street Department traffic crew which was painting traffic lines in the square. Then began a contest for supremacy, with the seganku endeavoring to manoeuvre into position to launch a barrage, and the patrolman moving with alacrity to keep out of range of the impending gas attack. By rapid action, Marden succeeded in making a deadly flank attack and dealt the polecat a fatal wallop with the broom without getting sprayed with the perfume peculiar to this creature, other than a few drops. But, the air in the vicinity of the Whitman Building was redolent for hours afterwards.

NEW ENGLAND KIWANIS CONVENTION

The New England District Convention of Kiwanis International opened Sunday, September 21 at the Hotel Bancroft, Worcester, Mass. It was the largest District convention ever held in the history of Kiwanis with a total registration of 1523 of which number 698 were ladies. The Newton Club was represented by President Clem Hernandez, Dr. P. H. Paul, acting District Trustee and Joseph Hickey with James P. Gallagher as delegates. Dr. Frank E. Dow of Northampton was elected governor for 1931 and Division five which includes Newton will be led by Dr. Frank Wyeth of Cambridge. Mr. Wyeth was nominated by Delegate Gallagher of Newton and was the unanimous choice of the convention. Mr. Gallagher also presented in behalf of the Newton Kiwanis Club a resolution extending to the American Legion Convention a welcome to New England. Visitors to the convention visited Wayside Inn, Toy-Town Tavern and the New England Fair at Worcester. The 1931 convention will be held at Terrace Gables, Falmouth Heights.

Monkey Runs Amuck

A ring-tailed monkey recently escaped from his cage in a pet shop on a busy street in a large city and went on an inspired rampage. He released a dozen or so assorted puppies and a manx cat, threw several bowls of goldfish at the puppies and killed some canaries.

Personality

Animals have no sense of personality. They do not recognize themselves in a mirror, for example—the simplest test.

And Get Ready to Run

Rouge

Rouge is prepared from the safflower. It is a modern preparation, but women, for thousands of years, have reddened their cheeks and lips artificially. Hollow bones, filled with red earth, have been found in the ancient dwellings of the cave-men.

Indian Mutiny Tragedy

Penalty of Deceit

No man, for any considerable period, can wear one face to himself and another to the multitude, without finally getting bewildered as to which may be true.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

She was a woman of artistic temperament and was loved by her many friends. Burial was in the St. Mary's Cemetery, Needham.

REV. AUSTIN E. DOHERTY

Rev. Austin E. Doherty, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, Cambridge, and a former well known resident of this city, died Tuesday morning while on a visit to New Hampshire. He had been in poor health for a number of years. He was born on December 30, 1869, in Newton, the son of Matthew Doherty and Elizabeth Gilman Doherty. Graduating from the Newton schools and Boston College, he entered St. John's Seminary and studied for the priesthood.

He was ordained over 30 years ago and after serving as a curate at Hopkinton and Boston was made pastor of the Catholic church at Plymouth. Twelve years ago he was transferred and made pastor of the Cambridge church.

His funeral services were held yesterday morning at St. Patrick's Church and were attended by many priests of the diocese, Mayor Russell of Cambridge and Mayor Curley of Boston. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. He is survived by one brother, Charles Doherty of Roslindale.

African Gorillas Going Like American Buffalo

The gorillas of the British hills of Africa are dying out, principally from the ravages of big-game hunters who kill for the mere pleasure of it. The animals are given some degree of governmental protection in some parts of the African continent, but on account of the difficulties of guarding the country the protection does not amount to much. The Nigerian groups are somewhat larger, but are being decreased rapidly by the hunters. The natives, as a rule, are not in sympathy with this slaughter, for they regard the animals with friendly interest. It is only on rare occasions that they show any inclination to attack humans. The gorilla units confine their movements to certain well-defined limits, and they roam about the country harmless and quietly. As a rule they keep to the country, which is somewhat inaccessible, and make excursions into the inhabited portions only when driven there by the unfavorable conditions existing in the high countries. The native regard for these animals may be based upon superstition to a certain extent, and it is quite common for the native tanner to refuse to touch the pelts brought to them by hunters.

Land Erosion Serious

Matter to the Nation

Erosion continues to wash away the soil resources of the nation. A recent survey of a typical small valley in northeastern Kansas shows that 86 per cent of the land, comprising the greater part of the valley, has lost from 8 to 40 inches of soil since it was cleared 40 years ago, the United States Department of Agriculture reports.

Thirty-four acres had lost an average of 11 inches of soil, 45 acres had lost 18 inches, 10 acres had lost 21 inches, 2½ acres had lost 23 inches and 1½ acres had lost 3¼ feet of soil. The "yardstick" for measuring the losses was found in a few remaining patches of timber, where the soil was as nature originally built it—a mellow, rich silt loam almost black with spongy humus, and capable of producing 75 bushels of corn an acre. Now the land is very much less productive. Much of it is overrun with weeds. In the meantime the washing proceeds.

Women Read Most

Women read far more than men, according to the manager of one of Great Britain's largest lending libraries. Women of all ages, he stated recently, are enormous and rapid readers. They will read anything—however good, however light, and no novel is too "strong" for them. Men are not like that. They read either very good books or literature of the very lightest kind. Strangely enough, he added, men who would be considered the most "highbrow" often delight in the most "lowbrow" literature. Men who are harassed by important affairs, including many distinguished statesmen, often seek relaxation in books which hold their interest without demanding any close concentration on their part.

Fortunate

"I never thought I'd pull through, but I did. First I got angina pectoris, followed by arteriosclerosis. Just as I was recovering from these, I got tuberculosis and double pneumonia. Then they gave me hypodermics. Appendicitis gave way to aphasia and hypertrophic cirrhosis. Afterwards I had diabetes and acute indigestion, besides gastritis, rheumatism, lumbago, and neuritis. I was given morphine."

"Good heavens, you don't look much the worse for it."

"I wasn't ill, you idiot! I was up for my spelling test in connection with a health department job."

Not Meant for Aquarium

It is very difficult to transport live octopi even from place to place on the sea coast, and this difficulty becomes almost insurmountable to a spot far inland. Octopi must be kept in running sea water of equable temperature, and the feeding presents a difficult problem since octopi relish small fish and mollusks, which should be alive. There is no way to prevent an octopus from discharging the black fluid which it employs as a protection, and the water becomes clear after such a discharge only when the discolored water is all run out.

Sea Snakes

It is believed that sea snakes do not grow much longer than 12 or 13 feet, says an article in Pathfinder Magazine. Speaking of sea snakes found near the coast of northwestern Australia the National Geographic society says: "Sea snakes are frequently seen curled up asleep on the surface of the water. These reptiles are poisonous and grow to about 12 feet in length." Sea snakes are distinguished by the compressed, rudder-shaped tail, and they are unable to move on land. Their food consists chiefly of fish.

Beautiful Venice

The city of Venice is situated on 120 islands in a shallow bay of the Adriatic sea, the gulf of Venice. The islands are close together and are only separated by narrow canals, which serve as streets. There are about 175 of these, over which there are 378 bridges. The city is two and a half miles from the mainland and connected by railroad bridges which contain 222 arches. It covers an area of 944 square miles and the population in 1921 was 519,208.

LITERAL STUFF

"Sorry to say my sister has had rather a bad accident. She's been bitten by an adder."

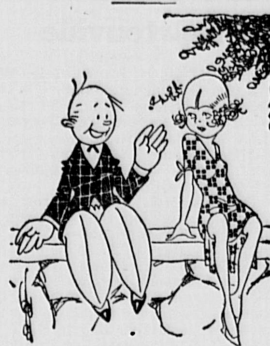

"Good gracious! An adder? Where was this?"

"Well, perhaps not exactly an adder, but she got her fingers mixed up in the machinery of the cash register."

"Dear, dear! Is she getting better?"

"Well, the latest report is 'no change.'"

FAIR PRICE

He—A penny for your thoughts. She—Well, that's a fair price. I think you're a cheap skate.

Little Girl Scout

"I'm dying to kiss you," cried the youth.

To a young and winsome maid. But he did not die, she saw to that, For she understood first aid.

Sex Equality

They were arguing about sex equality.

"Well," said the husband, "there is one good, sweet thing that a woman can never have, and which her husband (if she has one) can always possess."

"There is not," replied the wife in angry tones.

"Oh, yes, there is," he remarked quietly—"a wife."

Safely Innocuous

"Your constituents never find fault with you."

"It has been my policy," said Senator Sorghum, "to attempt as little aggressive force as possible. I have enjoyed a great deal of conservative support because of a general impression that I can be relied on as perfectly harmless."—Washington Star.

A Jilt's Confession

"I don't see what you find so attractive in that young man," said one girl. "He is neither handsome nor intellectual."

"No," answered the other, "but he has the reputation of buying lovely engagement rings."—Washington Star.

FUR BEARING ANIMAL

Zoology Prof.—Can you mention a fur-bearing animal?

Freshman—Yes, sir—a sophomore wearing his coon-skin coat.

Hurrah!

"I can't remember the words of that new song," said the girl, returning from the show.

"That makes it easier," answered her father. "Now all you've got to do to make home happy is to forget the tune."—London Tit-Bits.

Night Baseball

Father, dear father, come home with me now.

The clock in the steeple strikes one. Now, daughter, you quit; this guy's due to hit—

And what if I missed a home run!

Is and Isn't

"Is this a safe job you are planning tonight?" asked the first bandit.

"Well," replied the other one, "it's a safe job and you know we're never safe when we're pulling one of those."—Washington Star.

A Liberal View

"Do you think that a politician is worse than other men?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "He has more temptations."—Washington Star.

Seven Angels

Maid—When I accepted Jack he was in seventh heaven.

Elsie—Of course. He's been engaged to six other girls this year.—Tit-Bits.

An Eye for Business

Farmer—I see you've reduced the fine for speeding from $10 to $5.

County Judge—Yes, the motorists were beginning to slow up.

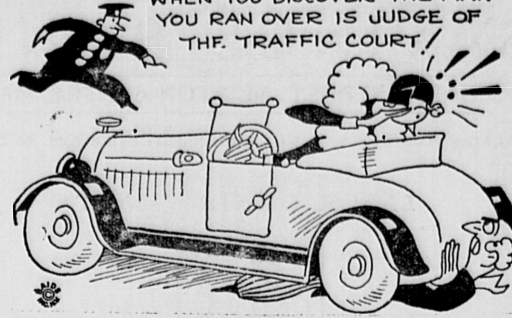

In the Soup

Hingus—The race is not always to the swift.

Dingus—Oh, no; the hare gets in the soup as often as the turtle!

Imagine your embarrassment

WHEN YOU DISCOVER THE MAN YOU RAN OVER IS JUDGE OF THE TRAFFIC COURT!

IMAGINE YOUR SURPRISE upon opening a closet door or drawer where you had placed either a dress or a coat that had been recently "Dry Cleaned" not to find the slightest trace of any odor. Any odor means your work is being done under conditions that you would not approve. There is a great deal besides price to be considered when sending your work to be cleansed.

—Bliss Carman Remembered
Bliss Carman died in Connecticut, but was buried in his native town, Fredericton, New Brunswick. On the house where he spent his boyhood days is a bronze tablet bearing the inscription: "In this house lived Bliss Carman, Canadian poet and internationally loved bard, 1891-1929. This tablet is erected by the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire in New Brunswick. Earth of my mother earth, spirit to Thee."

—Old British Watchword
The origin of the famous British acclamation "God Save the King" seems to be traceable to the "State Papers," Volume 1, Page 184, where, under the heading, "Flete taken by the Lord Admiral the 10th day of August, 1545," is the following: "The watch worde in the night shal be thus, 'God save King Henry'; thother shall answer, 'And long to reign over us.'"

—Old Rainmaking Device
A Dutch natural scientist, experimenting in rainmaking, succeeded in causing a general precipitation over an area of three square miles by dropping chilled ice on clouds from an airplane.

Danger That Led Japan to "Scrap" Whole Navy

It is not generally known that the Japanese actually undertook of their own free will a complete scrapping of their navy 300 years ago.

At the time of the Spanish armada Japan was a great naval power, and for some years she went on increasing the number of her ships. Great conquests were made, and had the expansion continued for a few years more Japan would have discovered Australia and have been the first nation to colonize it.

But a great change came over affairs in the East. Spain and Portugal were sending their ships to that part of the world and were acquiring more and more territory. The Japanese saw that if they were defeated at sea the whole of their country might be taken from them.

They therefore disarmed all their ships, and in 1638 passed the act of seclusion, which was in force for more than 200 years. This made Japan an absolutely closed country in which no foreigner could set foot. Japan ceased to make conquests, but she kept her own land intact.

The envelope containing the application was addressed to Mr. Partnership, Esq., and found its way into a newspaper office.

Llanfair's Name Is Long

Does it not seem curious that any place should be named.

"Llanfairpwllgwyngillogerychwyrndrobwllysilllogogoch."

But to a Welshman this is one of the most poetical names on his map. To the stranger who goes there and sees the place it is also a locality of charm and beauty. But the name itself is poetry. Llan is "church."

Fair is "of Mary," Pwll Gwyngil is "the Pool of White hazels." Goger is "rather near," while Chwyran Drobwl is "the swift whirlpool" and Tysilio gogo goch is "of Tysilio of the red cave." It is not therefore, suggestive of romance and beauty enough to visit the village of the Church of St. Mary by the Pool of White hazels near the swift whirlpool of St. Tysilio's Church of the Red Cave?

Cyprus Land of Deities

Cyprus is about 3,584 square miles and is the largest island of the Mediterranean except Sicily and Sardinia. In the olden days it was an abode of the Greek deities. Here the gods and goddesses of old lived, loved and fought. Astarte, Aphrodite, Venus, or whatever you are accustomed to call the goddess of love, fruitfulness, beauty, and their attendant misfortunes, made this almost her principal residence. Most of the immortal great and many of the mortal of ancient Greece have been in Cyprus. Waves of history have swept over it, each leaving a little sediment behind.

Origin of Word "Hymn"

The word "hymn" was employed by the ancient Greeks to signify a song or poem composed in honor of gods, heroes or famous men, or to be recited on some joyful occasion. But hymns are actually much older than any Greece can show. The ancient Chinese "hymned" the ruler of heaven; Assyria, Egypt and India have all left us records of early hymns. The Athenian dramatists (Euripides most frequently) use the word and its cognate verbs of odes in praise of conquerors at the public games.—Kansas City Star.

Force of Habit

The recent bride was wearing a decidedly crestfallen look instead of the anticipated beaming smile.

"My dear, you haven't already had your first quarrel, I hope?"

"Oh, no," replied the bride; "It isn't quite so serious as that. It's just that I was shopping and, you know I've always had to spell out my maiden name to salespeople, it's so unfamiliar to most of them. It didn't occur to me that my married name was simpler, so before I thought, I told the clerk to send the things to Mrs. John Smith, and I spelled out Smith!"

Perfect English

The "Bixby letter" was written by President Lincoln to Mrs. Bixby at the time he learned that she gave six of seven sons to the Union cause. It is considered one of the best examples of rhythmical English and is written in somewhat the same manner as free verse. It is said that Oxford university regards the Gettysburg address and the Bixby letter as two examples of beautiful rhythmical English.

Popular Medicines on Sale in Mexico City

Although clinics are opening everywhere throughout Mexico City every market still has its stalls where popular medicines are sold. There are flowers called "the Hands of God" which are put in alcohol, and the alcohol is then rubbed on the chest for heart trouble. They are the size of a small child's hands, a bright red, ghastly in their actual resemblance to a long, thin, human hand, even to the four fingers and short thumb, all of which have little tips like finger nails. On the back of the hand, which is bent and clutching in shape, there is a bony outline which bears the pollen. The flower comes out of five thick green leaves shaped like a tulip. It is beautiful, but very sinister.

Another mild medicine which is very popular is tea brewed from the leaves of the orange tree. It is said to be good for the nerves.

The counters of the medicine stalls are piled with dried bones of all kinds, strings of vertebrae, antlers of deer, the shells of turtles, dried starfish and anemones, pits and seeds of fruits, and herbs and dried flowers of every description. The flowers are spread out on the roofs to dry, much as our grandmothers spread out sweet clover to make pillows for the linen chests.—New York Times.

Writer's Closing Hours Soothed by Scriptures

Sir Walter Scott died September 21, 1834, at Abbotsford on the Tweed. The health of the poet and novelist had been on the decline for several months before his death. Several weeks before he breathed his last he seemed to be getting better. One morning, says John Gibson Lockhart, who was Scott's biographer and son-in-law, "after again enjoying the bath chair for perhaps a couple of hours out of doors, he desired to be drawn into the library, and placed by the central window, that he might look down upon the Tweed. Here he expressed a wish that I should read to him, and when I asked from what book, he said—'Need you ask? There is but one!' I chose the 14th chapter of St. John's gospel; he listened with mild devotion, and said when I had done—'Well, this is a great comfort. I have followed you distinctly, and I feel as if I were yet to be myself again.'"

The first two verses of the chapter read to Sir Walter are as follows: "Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you."

Origin of "Charity"

"Carus" is the Latin for "dear," and "caritas," the abstract noun from it, means "dearness." St. Jerome, who translated the Bible into Latin avoided the use of the ordinary Latin word for "love," which is "amor," because of its worldly associations. He substituted for it, wherever the Greek or Hebrew would naturally have required it, one or other of two rather colorless words, of which "caritas" is one. Being colorless, "caritas" was capable of taking the color of its Biblical surroundings and came to mean the specifically Christian love of one's neighbor, and especially of the poor.

The English word "charity" derived from it, perhaps owes its sense particularly to the great passage about charity in I Corinthians, 13.

Esquimos of Canadian North

Most of the game animals of northern Canada are more or less migratory and the Eskimo, therefore, before the white man came into the country, migrated with the animals on which he depended for a living. At certain times of the year he hunted seal on the ice far from the coast; in spring when the fish came to the rivers to spawn, he abandoned the seal hunt and came inland to put up fish for the following winter; and, in the fall, when the caribou migrated south he followed them until sealing again became profitable on the ice. Now he is a hunter and a trapper for furs, living a new mode of life approximating that of the white man.

Artists' Troubles

Appropos the alleged neglect by the public of modern artists, Miss Frances Dodd, A. R. A., tells the story of a wealthy lady who had come to a certain artist's studio to look at his pictures.

At the end of two hours she made no indication that she would like to buy one, though the artist had patiently gone around explaining their different points.

At last she said: "My dear man, I wonder if there is anything vainer in the world than you artists over your pictures."

"Yes, madame," was the reply, "our efforts to sell them."

The Boy and the Pin

The business man was telling a friend of the beginning of his successful career. "I got my start in life," he said, "through picking up a pin in the street. A wholesale merchant that I had asked for work had turned me down, and on my way out I saw a pin. I—"

"Yes, yes," interrupted the friend. "You picked it up, the merchant was impressed by your carefulness, called you back, and made you the head of the firm. I've heard of that boy very often."

"Not at all," retorted the business man. "I picked up the pin and sold it. It was a diamond pin."

POLICE NEWS

Four Newton Centre boys were in the Newton court last Friday charged with looting several houses in that district. They were placed on probation until next March. The boys were apprehended by Patrolman Joseph Smith after he had discovered a hut in Hammond's Woods where the youthful thieves had hidden some of the articles they had stolen.

Edward Smith, 17, of 9 Winthrop avenue, Newton was in the Newton court last Friday charged with breaking into a Newton Centre store where he had been employed and with larceny therefrom. He was held in $300 bonds for the Grand Jury. In court the same day William Filene of Holden road, West Newton was fined $10 for driving without proper lights; Paul Dove of Great Plain avenue, Waltham, Francis Feeney of 53 Currier street, West Newton and Don Martin of Allston, each was fined $5 for speeding. Raymond Fletcher of Wiley road, Belmont was fined $5 for failing to slow down at a street intersection. Frank Rowland, Jr. of Arlington was found not guilty on a similar charge.

Hugh McGlynn of 34 Middle street, Newton was fined $50 and given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail by Judge Weston in the Newton court on Tuesday when found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor. Speeders fined $10 each included Marie Trunkett, 380 Mount Auburn street, Watertown; Alfred Volante, 391 Dedham street, Oak Hill.

Morris Madfis of 45 Old Colony road, Chestnut Hill was arrested Saturday night on a warrant issued by the Haverhill police. He was released on bail to appear in the district court at that city. He is charged with violating an automobile ordinance.

A chain grocery store on the Wellesley side of the bridge at Lower Falls was robbed late Saturday by two armed young men who forced Leslie Barrett, the manager, to turn over $200 in cash. Barrett and a customer were compelled to go into a room at the rear of the store while the robbers made their escape.

SCHOOL OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Attractive courses are offered this fall on Monday evenings, beginning October 6, at the Norumbega District School of Religious Education, at both of the Newton locations, namely at the Newtonville Methodist Church and at the Newton Centre Baptist Church.

Professor Edwin S. Booth, instructor in Church History at Boston University, will give ten lectures on "Personalities in Church History," at 7:30 to 8:20 in Newtonville and at 8:40 to 9:30 the same evening at Newton Centre. This course will give valuable insight into the significance of religious movements in history and interesting biographical material for use in teaching. Anyone interested in the subject is welcome to these classes. There is a nominal fee.

"The New Testament," how it came into being, the relationships of the various books, and the growing religious experience of the first disciples of Jesus, will be the subject matter of a course to be given by Prof. Frank W. Clelland, who is exceptionally well qualified to handle this material.

Other courses for church school teachers especially will be given. Professor Berkeley of Newton Centre will give two courses at Newtonville, "The Psalm" and "Planning the Sunday School Lesson." Mrs. H. P. Williams will give at Newton Centre two courses, "Story Telling," and "Practical Problems in the Elementary Division of the Church School." Miss Luliona Barker will give at Newtonville, "Handwork in Religious Education," and "Palestinian Backgrounds" at Newton Centre.

These courses are open to all interested, but are carried on under the auspices of the Norumbega District Council of Religious Education, for the special benefit of church school workers. Dr. Mark H. Ward of Newton Highlands is president of this Council.

DEDICATE PROGRAM

Sunday, September 28th. Members and friends of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, will dedicate "to the glory of God and the services of their fellow-men" the beautiful new place of worship which is now theirs after months of strenuous effort and unflagging devotion.

At 10:45 A. M. the Rev. E. C. Herlick, D.D., president of the Newton Theological Institution, will preach. Special music will be provided by the Vested Junior Choir, Miss O. K. The congregation will be led in a unique dedication service stressing the thought that the present generation in the church is only bringing to completion the purpose of the founding fathers who built so well. Wednesday, Oct. 1st, when the members of the parish will retire to the newly improved auditorium from the Harvest Supper, first of ten monthly social gatherings in the parish house. The Rev. SPORT NOTES

With University A. A.

The University A. A. of Cambridge will put an eleven of former college football stars on the gridiron this Saturday. Initial practice was held last Saturday with many former Harvard players reporting. Among those on hand was Mike Gullan, former Newton high and Brown All-America tackle. The team is being directed by Charlie Linnehan, former Harvard scout, now coach at Browne & Nichols, and will play its first game at Russell Field, Cambridge, Sunday with the Lexington Town Team.

On Freshman Squad
Carl Pescosolido, former Newton high and Deerfield Academy athlete, and Roger Greene, former County athlete, are both candidates for the Harvard freshman football team which began practice this week. Pescosolido is a back and Greene an end.

Country Day Wins
The Country Day school football team and the Newton high seconds played a practice game at Cabot Field on Tuesday afternoon in which the private school eleven won 13 to 0. Bill Schmidt and Kenneth Brown looked good for the Country day team.

Hemion Playing End
Melbourne Hemion of Newton Lower Falls, former Newton high and Cushing Academy athlete who is now a sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania, may gain a starting berth at end on the varsity football team. He relieved the varsity left end the other day in practice and played exceptionally well. Although rather light, Hemion is regarded as one of the grizzliest wingmen the Red and Blue has had for years. For the past two weeks he has been playing with a broken thumb.

Gatchell in Backfield
Creighton Gatchell, former Newton high school star center, is now playing with the backfield group of the Bowdoin varsity squad. The former Newton lad may win the regular quarterback berth as it seems to be a close race between Gatchell and one other candidate named Plaisted. The wealth of center material at the Polar Bear camp caused the coaches to shift Gatchell, who seems to fit in wherever he may be placed, to the backfield squad. Gatchell played center at Newton high and as a freshman at Bowdoin, but last year when a sophomore there broke a collar bone in scrimmage just before the first game of the season which cost him the pivot berth. The center who replaced him is available again this year as well as two capable under-standers.

Three To Start

The orange and black of Newton high will tinge the green of Dartmouth Saturday when the Hanover outfit takes on the Norwich University team in the curtain raiser of college football. The Newton high colors are expected to take the field at the opening kickoff. The Dartmouth eleven is led by Captain Harold Andres of Newtonville, veteran and All-America prospect at center. In the backfield, Leonard Clark of Newton Highlands will be at a halfback position, and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban is slated to start at fullback. Clark did considerable quarterbacking while at Newton but has developed into one of the best interlocking halfbacks in college football since going to Hanover. Johnson, in addition to making quite a name in tennis, was a fullback at Newton.

Two To Start Against Army
Newton's representation on the college gridirons is further exemplified by the fact that two former local youths will start for Boston University against the West Point team on Saturday while a third is expected to see plenty of action. The starting pair are Jack McCullough, veteran, at right end and Daniel Harrington at right guard. The third is Arthur Chamberlain who will get a chance at center. The latter two were stars of last year's freshman team with Harrington at fullback. At Newton he played a tackle position. He was returned to a line berth this fall by the B. U. coaches when graduation left both guard positions open.

"Call of the Flesh," Ramon Navarro's newest starring vehicle, which will open on Sunday at the Egyptian Theatre, Brighton, will permit picture-goers to hear his voice as an opera singer for the first time. Navarro expects to make his debut abroad in grand opera, the comedy year and his present contract stipulates that a certain amount of his time shall be his own for concert tours or grand opera. The young Mexican star's voice was first heard by picture followers in "The Pagan." The operatic numbers he will sing in "Call of the Flesh" are in English, Spanish and Italian. He will sing several compositions by Herbert Stothart and Clifford Gray as well as arias, including "Ridi Pagliacci." Dorothy Jordan will be opposite Navarro again in a cast which includes Ernest Torrence, Nance O'Neill, Renee Adoree, Mathilde Comont, and Russell Hopton. On the same bill is "Wide Open" with an all comedy cast including Edward Everett Horton, Louise Fazenda, and Patsy Ruth Miller.

The feature for the program beginning Thursday is a brilliant natural color version of the Belasco stage sensation, "Sweet Kitty Bellair." The co-feature is "Rough Romance" starring George O'Brien and Antonio Moreno.

W. C. T. U.

A Christian Citizenship meeting will be held on October 2nd at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Wm. H. Raye, 90 Lake avenue, Newton Centre. The speaker will be Rev. Ralph Houghton and his subject "Will be The Danger of the Repeal of the State Enforcement Law." Everybody is invited.

This Week

by ARTHUR BRISBANE

Will Mussolini Fall?
Does a Tariff Protect?
To Fly High.
France Worried, but Ready.

George Seides, able newspaper man, returns from Europe predicting "Mussolini's fall from power with his Fascist government tumbling about his ears within a year."

Revolution will do the job, says Mr. Seides, and Mussolini's enemies at home are preparing it. He thinks Mussolini might plunge Italy into war, to save off revolution.

Other rulers have done that, and successfully.

France, evidently, is convinced that her first trouble will come from Italy, and seeks alternately to placate and terrify the implacable and forever un-terrified Mussolini.

Concerning that powerful leader, the marvel is that he has endured so long the terrific strain of gigantic responsibility.

And a greater marvel is, that with absolute power and so many attacks on his life, he has ruled so moderately.

Six Russian officials were suspected of "counter-revolutionary" activities. When fire started in big Government buildings, pretending to put the fire out, they encouraged it. A laconic official announcement says three of them have been shot, three sent to prison for long terms.

Russia believes in thoroughness.

If you doubt that a tariff can protect labor, ask Henry Ford when he returns from France.

He used to "assemble" cars in France, sending the various parts finished, putting them together. Hereafter he will manufacture the entire car in France, inside the French high tariff wall.

Thus, when a Frenchman buys a Ford car he will buy nothing but French labor, with a small payment for Ford's brains.

Free traders might meditate on that.

Until recently a public school in Oklahoma City had 1,000 pupils absorbing knowledge.

Now the pupils are gone and in the front yard a "gusher" is spouting 65,000 barrels of oil a day. The well belongs to the city and will pay for schools able to educate many times 1,000 pupils.

This should be a happy country, since our only complaint is that we have too much of everything.

Fokker has built, secretly, an airplane with its motors in the wing. Intended for pursuit plane work, the construction will minimize air resistance.

And engineers, serious men, not dreamers, according to the Sportsman Pilot, plan a vehicle to fly high up in the atmosphere where no man could breathe, with air pressure reduced to almost nothing.

Two hundred thousand feet up there exists a different atmosphere from the heavy air down here, so different that the atmosphere itself could be used for fuel.

The flying crew would manufacture breathing material for their own lungs, and for the engine, neither of which could use the upper air. A speed of 3,000 miles an hour is actually suggested, which is called reasonable, with air resistance almost entirely lacking. One thousand miles an hour, the sun's apparent speed, and around the world in twenty-five hours would be fast enough.

France worries about the German elections, threatening the stability of Hindenburg's government, and the era of what may be called "German submissiveness."

Hitler, the new power in Germany, advocates abrogation of treaties, with disregard of the Versailles agreement, and he preaches rabid anti-Semitism. The hope of the conservatives in Germany and in France is that moderate German radicals will act with the Hindenburg party to prevent control by Hitler.

Somebody has bought a picture for $55, and experts say a genuine Rubens is hidden under the cheap outside painting, and is worth $25,000.

It may be a genuine Rubens, and yet not worth more than $55, or 55 cents. Pictures by Rubens in the Louvre, showing fat ladies in a royal procession, are worth less than 55 cents.

On the other hand, Rubens' picture of the crucifixion of St. Peter, head downwards, given by him to the little church opposite the house in Cologne in which his father and mother lived, has a value not to be computed in dollars.

Slight things cause important decisions. An aged Greek philosopher fell, leaving his class. He killed himself because he was humiliated.

A man with a duel ahead of him in the morning killed himself, reading the duel.

Thousands of young men kill themselves when refused by some young woman, although dozens of others are much like her.

In New York a man, unemployed and discouraged, woke up to find that his shoes had been stolen. He tried three times to kill himself.

He could not apply for jobs with feet bare.

ROTARY CLUB

On account of the attendance of members at the fall conference held at Poland Springs there was a small attendance at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club held at the Woodland Golf Club on Monday. Among the visitors were Rotarians from Oregon, Missouri and Georgia.

The speaker of the day was L. A. Bruce, Jr. the club secretary and Boy Scout executive who took the Boy Scout summer camp as his subject.

Mr. Bruce told of the helplessness of the boys from Newton and the work done towards making them punctual and able to take responsibility. The underlying fact of scouting was not to keep the boys in the open but to turn their natural gang spirit into constructive channels. His talk was illustrated with incidents which had come under his observation.

There is always the weather to be discussed when need is felt of a topic of conversation. You know the situation—a group of people who have never met before, who don't know much about each other and cautiously start off with comments on the kind of weather we're having, the kind we have had and the kind we are likely to have. It isn't so stimulating as it might be and yet is safe and unground and provides opportunity to size-up the dress, looks and manner of speech of those who are strangers to you.

Besides the weather there is provided these days, thanks to the advent of the automobile, the subject of traffic. A group such as I have described will get a good start on the matter of weather and then switch to traffic. There is a common bond of sympathy for practically everybody drives a car. Someone tells of an encounter with a traffic policeman, another tells how the city should do something about these "stop" signs instead of dragging busy people into court, etc. The outcome is not especially edifying but it kills time.

As residents of Newton we assume the right to criticize Boston and we speak of the capital of the State quite as if it were our home town. The new signal lights that have been installed in Boston are still creating varied impressions among Newton people, so I don't feel that I have any right at this time to thrust my own views before the readers of this column.

Let me tell you, however, about a young woman from Chicago, who visited here for the first time and who honored me by accepting an invitation to lunch. She spent much time declaring her love for the old city, its quaint charm and the historic spots here and there and made me feel that I should be prouder than I am of Boston.

"But," said she, "there is something that I cannot understand and don't see what you Boston people are thinking of."

"Indeed," I gasped. "I mean this system of traffic signals," she went on, with considerable asperity. "The red lights for danger are all right and the green lights for 'go ahead,' but when you turn on red and yellow and people rush from all directions and push each other around in the middle of the street—why, that's barbarous! As bad as you think we behave in Chicago we don't stage fights between pedestrians on public streets. That's what happens when the red and yellow lights are turned on in Boston and I can prove it by several bruises."

I am wondering which is the rougher—the system the young woman criticized or her words of criticism.

I don't care much for statistics but let's take the statistical side of this traffic signal business. Did you know that a survey had been in 10 cities of the State of the movements of pedestrians. Wait a minute, I'll interest you. That checkers were instructed to watch us, without telling us what they were doing. In that way they obtained information as to the actions of jaywalkers as well as of those who strive to do the right thing. Personally I am glad they did not record the names of any of us for I know that my conduct is far from perfect at a street crossing—the only place I perform publicly—and I shouldn't like to have it gone into the traffic history of my country.

The most significant fact revealed by this official survey, if you ask me, was the fact the pedestrians responded better to the traffic policemen than to the silent but changing lights. I don't think that is much to be wondered at, either. These lights are new while the presence of uniformed officers is not. We may respect the "cops" more than the lights, as the experts say, but isn't it force of habit or police of habit? From our infancy—speaking for the masculine gender—we have been trained to run when a policeman flourished his stick and to dash forward when he beckoned. That is one explanation, but the other is that signals are signals and we always have a sneaking idea that we can sort of beat the signal to it. We see the red light set against us but there appears to be no automobile in sight and therefore take a chance and dash or stroll, more likely the latter, across the street. Would we dare think of stepping into the roadway if a policeman has put his hand up? We would not! We would have stood stock still until he bade us come hither or thither.

The only thing that worries me is that some traffic policemen may get high-hat over the fact that it has been proved they are more feared or obeyed than are the mechanical contrivances. Of course they will read the news of the survey and probably say, "I told you so."

Nevertheless, whether it be a silent or live police signal it is well to observe and govern one's conduct thereby. We might as well make up our minds that we've got to keep our eyes open if we don't them closed for us permanently.

It never surprises me when somebody tells of the good work done by women in a political campaign. Ever since suffrage was attained by them—notice I did not say "given"—they have revealed many qualities that showed them fully as well fitted as political campaigners as the men. As a matter of fact they were at it many years before "votes for women" became a reality. At that time, however, their standing was not as firm. It was usually on the outer fringe of the crowd where they could hear men declare that woman's place was in the home. This was probably not what all of them wanted to listen to but bravely the suffragists continued their struggle until victory came and these same men who had criticized their efforts changed their tune.

Our women voters must laugh at the attitude of certain candidates. Of course, I am addressing the women who remember how severe the men used to be against the thought of women casting ballots. There need be no harsh feelings now on the part of the women as they are "recognized" and that is all they ask. Younger women, naturally, take the present exhibition of chivalry for granted since they have no bitter memories of the days gone by when the word "suffragette" was used as a term of scorn and reproach.

But now I am getting off the line on which I started. Here is what I intended to say. Every now and then somebody tells me how efficient this young woman or that matron proved in getting out the vote. Reference is made to female energy, sound judgments and other fine points. Why this should occasion comment I cannot quite say, but as long as it all is in praise I shall merely add my tribute to the ladies.

The latest incident was brought to my attention by a friend of a certain candidate. Said he, "My nominee received great support from the women."

"He was lucky," I agreed. "Wasn't he?" came the enthusiastic response.

"What did the women do that was so wonderful?" I asked, seeking further light.

"Why," replied "we had a bunch of swell lookers passing out his cards."

Here is a man's problem, and yet I think we ought to let the ladies in on it for they may have some suggestions or advice. Please don't tell me there are a few things that women do not understand and that because I am a bachelor I am not expected to know much about such matters anyway. I'll admit ignorance but I challenge any man who tries to convince me that women are not to be consulted even on questions which vex the male population alone.

Suppose you are in the vicinity of a cigar stand or you have dropped into a drug store and a friend comes in to replenish his supply of cigars or buy himself a glass of soda. Men, you know, have a way of treating each other at such times. I must say that I have never heard women, young or old, hail each other, with "What do you say, will you join me?" This must not be construed as criticism of women's generosity. Of course they show it in other ways—to each other I mean.

What I was getting at was the predicament in which one may find himself when a man friend is buying himself a smoke or a sundae and out of politeness asks me to share his joy by lighting up or drinking up or eating up at his expense.

The feeling comes to me at once that he is doing it merely to be polite. Desiring to be equally courteous I decline, with, "No, thank you. Much obliged just the same," and so on.

This would seem to close the incident and to have caused no perplexity. The trouble is that when I decline I am getting in bad with the man behind the counter. He naturally wants to see the sales increasing every day and to have me refuse the gift of a cigar or fizz water means he has lost a chance to boost the day's total on the cash register.

As one who appreciates the good opinion of the folks behind the counters I dislike to have them scowl at me for my conduct. What am I to do? Am I to accept every time I receive a cigar-counter or soda-fountain invitation and get a reputation as a grafter or risk my popularity with the store owner and his clerks? Any help that may be extended will be gladly received and especially valued if offered by one of the fair sex.

The best of people—Newton residents will know to whom this refers—are often annoyed by the children of the neighborhood. If you are fussy and complain to the police you are a crank and a "mean old thing" and if you say nothing you will find that there is no limit to things that thoughtless, unthinking youngsters can do. Some folks are distressed and when you hear their stories you understand the reason. Others do not permit themselves to be troubled, and so it goes, half-dozen of one and six of the other.

Only the other day at a home where I called the mistress of the household said, "The children in this neighborhood are the worst I ever saw." This caused her husband to protest, "O, no, they're not. You don't understand them." The wife insisted that she did because she had children of her own and although all were grown-up and married she was sure they had never misbehaved to the extent maintained by the rising generation.

The husband said he thought it was "great" to have so many good, lively, healthy children playing around. The wife retorted that he didn't have to spend the day trying to save the orchard, the garden and the grape arbor from complete destruction. I couldn't make up my mind who won the debate and was glad that I was not called upon to decide. Their attitude was not new, particularly that of the mother, for "kids" can play the mischief with a lawn and growing things thereon without intending to make serious trouble.

Many parents, upon the responsibility lies, resent any criticism of their offspring's behavior and when that situation exists there is little to be done. One doesn't want to keep calling up the police, as one woman has a habit of doing in my section of the city, when boys lift their voices and scamper here and there in a game of hide-and-seek.

Of course the children must cut

Girl Scout Headquarters will open again after having been closed for the summer, on Monday, September 29th at 297 Walnut street, Newtonville. Already the Girl Scout Activities have begun, some of the troops have had their first meetings and the staff of the "Treasure Hunt" has met this week to discuss and plan how to make the little monthly news magazine, which so many of the Newton Girl Scouts have subscribed to, more interesting and more of real value to the girls. Miss Allison Thorogood, Editor-in-Chief, heads a very able staff of girls representing most of the Senior Troops.

"Training Centre" conducted by the Director of the Metropolitan Division Girl Scouts, Miss Edith Sinnott, will be held in Newton starting about the middle of October. This will be a splendid opportunity for those wishing to join the organization as leaders to get training as well as for leaders who wish the more advanced work. It is hoped that a very large group of interested friends as well as Girl Scout officers will join this course and take advantage of Miss Sinnott's very fine leadership. Other Councils will be invited to join the group and Newton leaders will have the opportunity to learn how Girl Scouting is conducted in other communities. Those wishing to join the courses will please apply to Miss Freeman, 297 Walnut street, Newtonville for further particulars.

Troop 15, the Senior Troop of West Newton, Mrs. W. W. Bigelow, Captain, has changed its meeting place to the Community Room in the New Library in West Newton. This Troop has started a course in Home Hygiene and through the courtesy of the Newton Branch of the American Red Cross, Miss Norcross is conducting the course. Troop 5, Captain Hartel and Troop 15, Captain Freeman, the two Junior Troops of that village will start their meetings on Tuesday, September 30th.

Letters To The EditorTRAFFIC

To the Editor: Traffic conditions still keep authorities guessing; what was adequate ten years ago is not so today and will not be so ten years from now unless matters change as years roll by.

A new departure has taken place at Lake street by the removal of the so-called waiting rooms in the centre of Commonwealth avenue, thus removing a structure that has been there for over a generation.

Now comes the new conditions of unloading and loading the cars and the buses more or less intermixed with general traffic. One item I noticed was that the buses were on the wrong side of the street as now routed over the north side of the avenue. They might cut another door in the buses so that people could alight at the curb line in safety or they could have their line routed over the broad side and then across and arrive at the curb ready to go up the hill after starting.

Another problem is the matter of squares such as Newton Corner and Newton Centre with the cross way traffic going to the left of the tower instead of passing around the tower as was formerly arranged. It appears to be quite dangerous to both pedestrians and autos as there is no knowing when the crossing machine will strike one in the back. A rotary system of traffic might be better adopted where possible as then there would be no cross lines. It may develop later on in the study that it will be necessary to build centers for traffic direction. With the openness of such then drivers could see what is coming and plan to take the left turn going about the circular plot. Matters have moved so fast it is a question if the traffic tower is the solution at the present time. A large open square seems to be better going about the central plot guided by proper stop and go lights. The matter is still worthy of study for the good of the general public.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS START THEIR FALL SEASON

Last Tuesday evening 70 Christian Endeavorers of the Norumbega Christian Endeavor Union met at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, for their fall get-together and social. Rev. John Shade Franklin of the entertaining church conducted the devotional period, Rev. John H. Scammon of the Weston Baptist Church and counsellor of Norumbega Union giving a fine keynote message to the young people. Following the business session, a social was conducted and refreshments served.

Several members of the Lawrence Convention Committee presented the plans for the State C. E. Convention on October 10-11-12-13. There will be a Northfield reunion, sightseeing trips, banquets, a parade, class work and conferences and fine speakers, including Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Boston, Mr. Harry Holmes of Australia and Dr. William Hiram Foulkes of

New Jersey. Beside the Senior events, the Juniors and Intermediates plan their big day for the 13th. Mother Clark of Newton, wife of Francis E. Clark, the founder of Christian Endeavor, will speak on the Junior program which will be entirely in charge of these youngsters.

Robert Frye, treasurer of the North Congregational Church C. E. Society, will be the leader of the C. E. meeting at that church next Sunday evening. Mr. Frye will take for his topic, "How Would I Spend a Million Dollars on Missions." This meeting will be dedicated to Home and Foreign Missions.

The Loving Cup for best attendance at the Norumbega Union meeting last Tuesday was presented for the month to the Endeavorers of the Newton Upper Falls Baptist Church. Although this society was organized only last spring the Union officers see in it a fine addition to its group of working societies.

The Children will soon cry for lighter underwear. Try the Factory Store of Dalby on Morse Street for savings on samples and irregulars in Kiddies Union Suits.—Advertisement.

The Mather Class

The Mather Class takes great pleasure in announcing that the First Church is joining in all its future activities. Henceforth the Class will be conducted as a joint Forum of the Congregational and Baptist Church Schools, welcoming as before all others in the community who are interested in its aims and purposes. Through the courtesy of the Newton Public Library Trustees the Class will meet during the coming year in the attractive room at the rear of the Newton Centre Library Building.

Dr. Mather has planned an especially interesting series of addresses, under the general heading, "Christianizing the Social Order." The topic for the opening meeting on October 5, will be "Jesus Among the Prophets."

The Class will begin as usual at 9.45 each Sunday morning and will close in time for its members to attend their respective church services in good season. It extends a most cordial invitation to all those of college age and over to join in these meetings.

KIWANIS CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was held on Tuesday, Sept. 22, 1930, at the Newton Centre Women's Club, President Hernandez was in the chair and he announced the reception of a telegram from the Newton delegates to the New England Kiwanis Convention held at Worcester the first part of this week. The Newton delegates were James P. Gallagher the well known Newton Attorney, Dr. F. H. Paul a Newtonville physician, and Joseph Hickey, a construction engineer from Waban.

In the absence of Bill Skelton the singing was led by Hugh Boyd, with a little brushing up Mr. Boyd would make a good leader.

The speaker of the day Mr. L. A. Bruce, the boy scout executive in the city of Newton, was introduced by past president Walter Whalin.

Mr. Bruce began by commenting unfavorably on the kind of cigars that were smoked by Mr. Whalin, and he then proceeded to give a very enlightening talk illustrating by examples as he went along the inner workings of the scout movement. The talk was one of the finest heard at the club this year.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The Camden hills, with their legend of a sleeping Indian turned into a mountain; rabbits running through the woods; Penobscot Bay and the craft that ply in its waters—there is much of beauty and interest in the film offered for next Sunday at the Children's Museum for the 3:30 showing. "Life Along the Penobscot in Film and Story" is the topic of the week-end talk.

Saturday's motion picture, shown at 3:00 is of equal interest. The film deals with "Old Mexico of Today" giving glimpses of Indian families, Mexico's "Indian Venice," queer birds and animals, patios, cathedrals and so on.

IMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH

Miss Frances M. Holt and Miss Helen B. Holman are beginning their work as Directors of Religious Education at Immanuel Church, Newton. Miss Holt is the daughter of Dr. Arthur E. Holt, a former resident of Newton and now professor in the University of Chicago. Miss Holt is a graduate of Chicago University. Miss Holman is a graduate of Bates College and is doing graduate work in Newton Seminary.

The Church School and the Young People's Departments at Immanuel Church have been expanding rapidly during the past two years and both are planning a year of further development. The school begins with a thoroughly revised system of grading and a corresponding curriculum, and the equipment is being improved to meet these new requirements. Practically every teacher in the school has had special training for his or her work. Young People's activities cover a wide field from the Primary Club, which meets Monday afternoons, to the social and athletic programs of the Immanuel Associates and the Fireside Forum.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

Omaha, Nebraska, is a much younger town than cities in New England. It is not supposed by persons here to be as sophisticated as the cultured East. But, Omaha has done something that may well be emulated by cities hereabouts, including Newton. It has compelled all unnecessary noises to be stopped. It prevents newsboys from yelling. They sell papers there quietly now. It has ended needless blowing of locomotive whistles during night hours. It has put the taboo on radio loudspeakers, motorcycle cut-outs running wide open, uncalled for tooting of automobile horns and noises of all descriptions which were interfering with the peace and happiness of Omaha residents.

We have been asked by a number of persons to protest against the use of radio loudspeakers during late night hours. There are people in this city who live in thickly settled neighborhoods who operate their radio sets way into the night so that it is practically impossible for anyone residing in surrounding houses or apartments to obtain sleep.

This city for many years has had a standing regulation which stipulates, among other things, "that no musician shall perform in the streets or public places of the city before 9 o'clock a. m. or after 9 o'clock p. m. Some such ordinance or regulation is needed to curb inconsiderate owners of radio sets. If folks owning radios want to operate them late at night or quite early mornings, they should be compelled to tone the sets down so that they will be inaudible outside of the owners' house or apartment. Some of the trash that emanates from radio sets might well be toned down during all of the 24 hours.

Talking about noise. Did you hear the racket made by the aerial bombs at the fireworks display on the Charles River Basin in Boston last Saturday night? According to the press, this barrage of bombs was the biggest and noisiest ever produced in Boston or vicinity. Those responsible for it felt quite elated at the racket made. Years ago, when some of us were considerably younger, fireworks were—as the name implies—noisy contrivances to diffuse brightly colored displays of fire. But, for quite some years, fireworks, in large part, could better be named "noiseworks." Rockets and aerial bombs containing powerful explosives which make terrific noises, form the principal thrill producers in pyrotechnical displays. A large percentage of people get much enjoyment listening to the "big bangs." We too, got quite a kick from hearing these staged rackets until some years ago a serious illness caused us to be in a small hospital far from here one New Year's Eve. And when 12 o'clock came and bedlam was let loose, we realized the effect wholesale noise of this description has on sick people. That night one yahoos tied down the whistle on a factory in the town and kept it blowing for at least 20 minutes. And if the cussing we gave that book while we endured the noise he was making, became an actuality, he would have been immediately consigned for eternity to a place much hotter than the equator. One frequently goes in streets now signs which read—"Sickness. Make no noise." Yet cities and organizations pay for such terrific orgies of noise as that at Boston last Saturday night. How much enjoyment do you suppose this method of celebrating the Tercentenary afforded the poor people racked with fever and pain in the Massachusetts General Hospital and the many other private and public hospitals within a radius of a mile or two of the noise locations? Or the hundreds ill in their own homes? Someone is always taking the joy out of life. We don't want to join those funereally inclined. But, we believe the poor folks suffering from illness ought to receive some consideration.

The attention of the Newton Club-women is especially called to the first activity of the State Federation, which promises much of value.

CLUB INSTITUTES. Newton Club-women who have followed with keen interest the meetings of Club Institutes under the chairmanship of Mrs.
Thomas Walker, will be glad to learn that the first in the series of this department's conferences will be held on Thursday morning, October 2, at 10:30 o'clock, in the auditorium of the Pioneer, the new building of the Y. W.
C. A., in Back Bay, on Stuart street.
This splendid auditorium has a seating capacity of 600, and so greatly has the number grown that attend Club Institutes, it was necessary to look for other quarters than could be had at the Vendome, where the meetings have previously been held. Those who attend may secure luncheon at the restaurant or at the cafeteria of the Pioneer, which will be opened for the clubwomen.

RADIO. All State Federation broadprano; Doris Van Alstyne, second soprano; and Marjorie Plunkett, contralto, accompanied by Jessie Fleming Vose.

MARX BROTHERS AT PARAMOUNT

The Four Marx Brothers spent much of their time in jail while transferring their big stage comedy hit, "Animal Crackers" to the screen at the Paramount's New York Studio. This, their second all-talking feature for the screen comes to the Paramount theatre, Newton, Sunday for the first half of the week. The "jail" constituted their dressing room. It was designed to order by Paramount carpenters and represented the cell block of a prison, apparently of steel and concrete, and equipped with heavily barred windows and massive doors.
Across the front was painted "Animal Crackers Hoosgow" and the four cells the names "Chico," "Groucho," "Harpo," and "Zeppo." It was mounted on wheels and moved about the stages so that the brothers were always in position. On the same program will be "Runaway Brides" with Mary Astor and Lloyd Hughes.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday,
the feature will be Bebe Daniels in "Lawful Larceny" in a new role—that of a wife whose husband tumbles from the "straight and narrow" path. Kenneth Thompson plays opposite Miss Daniels in this picture which is said to be as intriguing as its title. Lowell Sherman, who directed the picture, enacts a featured part. It was adapted to the screen from the stage play by Samuel Shipman. Others in the cast are Olive Tell, Purnell Pratt, Lou Payne, Bert
Roach, Maude Turner Gordon, Helene Millard, and Charles Coleman. On the same program is Dolores Del Rio in "The Bad One," a picture typical for this little star.

Some very interesting pictures are coming in the Paramount Sound News including the World Series, Football pictures, and local pictures of the Tercentenary Parade. The Kiddies Matinee on Saturday is more popular than ever, with capacity houses every week.
